Lexington's End! A Story of Valor

Long Fight to Stay Afloat Is Told by Eyewitness.

[This is the sixth of Stanley Johnston's stories on the battle of the Coral sea. Subsequent stories will describe the heroic deeds of American flyers, surprise raids on Lae and Salamaua, New Guinea, adventures of airmen forced down on remote islands, and the voyage back to the United States.]

This is the story of the Lexington's last hours.

It is the story of a crew, smashed and blitzed from the air by an overwhelming enemy force, that rose to a second desperate fight when attacked from within by natural enemies that fed upon the fuels and stores aboard the great, valiant aircraft carrier.

Story of Courage.

It is an account of the dogged determination and unshakable courage with which the humblest and highest members of the ship's company strove together in a long, torturing and deadly hazardous effort. Its heart-breaking finish, in which the doomed Lexington slid flaming beneath the calm waters of the Coral sea, was one they had battled against for hours.

Many of the men who distinguished themselves so greatly during these final nine hours of the Lexington's existence as a ship had been navy men for only a few months. Many of them had joined after the Japanese assaults on Pearl Harbor. Many were on their first cruise.

Perform as Veterans.

When it was over the oldest, tried seadogs in the crew declared that these as yet unsalted tars had behaved like "old man o' warsmen"—the navy's highest tribute to navy men.

No one man could have seen all there was to see aboard the Lexington during these final hours. I saw what I could, and made straggling notes that later merely served to jog my memory. Much of what I am about to tell I learned from the lips of the ship's officers and men while we were on a long voyage back to the California port where we disembarked 25 days after these stirring happenings.

Fight to Save Carrier.

The fight to save the Lexington began as soon as the attack upon her had ceased that morning of last May 8. The attack was the Japanese counterpart of a blow that the Lexington's own force of dive bombers, torpedo bombers, and fighters had launched over the 180 miles that separated our forces from the Japs. What our own airmen did to the Japanese in this, the third and final engagement in the battle of the Coral sea, is material for our next instalment.

Today we are concerned with the Lexington. The great old ship—one of the twin carriers around which almost all modern carrier fighting technique was developed—was hard hit in the at-

AN AIRMAN FROM LOST U.S. CARRIER PENS AN EPITAPH

Ensign H. B. Shonk, one of the Lexington's scout bomber pilots who helped to fight the battle of the Coral sea, saw the great aircraft carrier plunge to her doom and penned this epitaph as he watched the sinking from the deck of an American cruiser which rescued him:

Beneath the skies her planes have flown
She lies majestic, proud, alone.
The seas hold her in their embrace,
A whitecap marks her resting place.
The mighty wind and roaring tide
Will mourn their friend who bravely died.
A gallant ship in victory,
Full worthy of her pedigree,
Even in death, how proud she fell,
How beautiful her blazing shell.
The thunder of her planes is stilled,
Her glorious destiny fulfilled.

Japs' Air-Sea Loss 10 Times Ours: Nimitz

[By Wireless to the New York Times and the Chicago Tribune.]

HONOLULU, T. H., June 17.—Speaking from the deck of a combat ship where he afterward awarded medals for bravery in air and sea actions against the Japanese, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, today lauded the fighting qualities of the men of the aircraft carrier flying groups in the battle of the Coral sea and at Midway.

"We can take satisfaction in the knowledge that in every meeting with the enemy since Dec. 7 his losses have greatly exceeded ours and that in the Coral sea and Midway actions his personnel losses were at least 10 times greater than ours and his plane losses almost in the same ratio," he said.

"Air power has taken the leading rôle in the fleet engagement of the war in the Pacific and will continue to do so as the war progresses.

Praises Teamwork of All.

"Altho the results obtained in the Midway action are properly attributed to the fine teamwork of all the services working together, I wish particularly to commend the officers and men of the carrier air group who formed the spearheads and shock forces of the attack not only at Midway, but in the Coral sea, and before that in the Marshall-Gilbert and Wake-Marcus operations." [The latter referred to American attacks on islands occupied by the Japanese.]

Adm. Nimitz promised that with new carrier groups being speedily organized it might soon be possible to give the men of the units now at sea in the Pacific a much needed rest. The men in the carriers, however, must "hold the line" yet a little while, he said.

Awards Nine Crosses.

"Our air groups have proved by their skill and courage the superiority of our forces," he said. "They have shown that in our ships, our planes, and in our personnel is the stuff that makes for victory."

The admiral also praised the work of the submarine commanders and men who, like other navy personnel, often must see the early honors go to others.

He awarded the navy cross to three submarine commanders, and the distinguished flying cross to six naval aviators. The awards to the submarine commanders were for actions as long ago as January; those to the flyers for heroic acts in the attack on the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, three and one-half months ago.

Among the flyers cited were Lieut. [J. G.] Wilmer E. Rawie, whose parents live at 5251 Eddy street, Chicago, and Lieut. James S. Gray of Wauwatosa, Wis. Rawie's citation said that he assisted in the bombardment and strafing of Maloe Island on Feb. 1 despite heavy enemy fighter and anti-aircraft opposition. In the ensuing action he downed a Japanese fighter plane.

PASTOR'S NOTES TO WIDOW READ

Darlington Sent His Love to Benefactor.

New York, June 17 [Special].—The progressive warmth of the Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington's alleged affection for the late Mrs. Ann H. Paton, an elderly and wealthy widow, was shown in White Plains court today in letters and post cards the widely known rector was asserted to have sent the woman who left him and his church a large part of her $1,300,000 estate.

The clergyman, who is rector of the fashionable Episcopal Church of the Heavenly Rest on 5th avenue at 90th street, sat impassively beside his wife as excerpts from the letters were read into the court record in the trial in which three of Mrs. Paton's relatives seek to break her will. They claim Dr. Darlington influenced the drawing of the will thru an "illicit love affair."

Letters Sealed Until Now.

Contending that Dr. Darlington was motivated solely by kindness for Mrs. Paton, who looked upon him with the affection she held for her dead son, an attorney for the executors said it was true that the clergyman and Mrs. Paton had kissed in greeting, that he had visited her in her summer home at Irvington-on-Hudson and spent the night.

The letters from Dr. Darlington, who now is 53 years old, to the widow, who was 78 years old wher she died on Jan. 7, 1941, were filed months ago by the contestants but were kept sealed until today.

"Lots of Love, Harry."

"With warmest regards," was the closing on the first letter written in 1926 in acknowledgment of a gift from Mrs. Paton to the church.

"Dear Anna," was the address on a post card from Florida, dated Feb. 11, 1939, which was signed, "Lots of love, affectionately, Harry."

A letter on the stationery of the Savage club, London, July 1, 1939, stated simply: "Dear Anna, off to Paris tonight. Lots of love, Harry."

"My dear, I send you oceans of love," the series concluded on April 3, 1940.

A Former Child Bride Steals Spotlight in New Murder Trial

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Morristown, Tenn., June 17.—A second child bride—called by some a child bride emeritus because she is now married for a second time and is 25 years old—today appeared as the state's star witness in the second murder trial in two days in this town of 8,500.

The first of the child brides was Mattie Pearl Manning, 14 years old, who testified in her own defense yesterday at her trial for the murder of her bridegroom, Daymon W. Manning, 35. A jury found her guilty and sentenced her to 20 years in prison. Her father and accomplice, Frank Morgan, 50, was given the same sentence.

Mattie Pearl's fan mail was falling off today when the second murder trial came along to enchant the town. Her mail had been heavy, altho most of the letters came without stamps, making it necessary for Sheriff Ben Creech to pay the postage due.

The trial today is that of J. A. [Buddy] Sherman for the murder of the late Sheriff Henry Clay Walker.

Mattie Pearl was a placid blonde who neither smiled nor frowned thruout her trial. But the ex-child bride, who testified today, was a sparkling brunette, Mrs. Cecil Chamberlin, who said she was a bride when she was 12 and a mother when she was 13.

She testified that her second husband called the sheriff to their home after a tiff, and that it nettled her so she rode to town with the sheriff and a prisoner he had brought along to help him.

They passed a parked car, in which they found Sherman. Suspecting that Sherman was hauling liquor, the sheriff got out to investigate.

Plays with Feather.

Mrs. Chamberlin tall, willowy and gay, played with a feather of deep blue that must have come from a hat, as she testified. She told the jurors that there was gunfire and that the sheriff came back, handed her his gun, and said: "He's killed me." He died soon afterward.

Walker, officially known as the high sheriff, was regarded as something of a reformer. He was so enthusiastic in his investigations that many had predicted he would be shot during the seven months he was in office. Sheriff Creech is filling out the unexpired term with optimistic calm Walker's widow, a somber but youthful woman in a white waist and blue skirt, was a state's witness. His son, Oscar Walker, 22, and eldest of eight children, was another witness.

The state rested its case late today.

"White Coffee" with Kick.

Sherman was a town figure, the owner of a beer tavern. Little else but beer is sold here except white port wine, which discreet citizens get in restaurants by ordering white coffee. It comes in coffee cups if ordered that way.

Sherman's attorneys asserted that he was too ill to come to court today. But Judge Shelburne Ferguson sent physicians to the hospital to investigate, after the state had hinted that Sherman might be "playing possum."

The judge ordered the trial to proceed after one of the physicians described Sherman's illness as one likely to recur any time his trial was set.

1,000 BOMBERS EACH NIGHT WOULD END WAR BY FALL, BRITON SAYS

LONDON, June 17 [Wide World].—Vice Air Marshal Arthur Travers Harris, who organized the thousand plane raids on Cologne and the Ruhr, is the only allied military leader to declare publicly that, given the right conditions, he could end the war by autumn.

Watching the big bombers leave on one major raid, he said:

"If I could send 20,000 bombers over Germany tonight, Germany would not be in the war tomorrow; if I could send 1,000 bombers every night it would end the war by autumn."

Harris is carrying out the policy he planned in the lean years between 1933 and 1937 when he was deputy director of plans. This war and all future wars will be won by air power, and the Germans will "scream for mercy" when the combined British and American air forces begin working on them, he says. Then he adds happily, "the time will come for a final kick in the pants for Japan."

HOUSE PASSES FLORIDA CANAL, PIPE LINES BILL

Dual Project Slated to Cost 93 Millions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—To alleviate the eastern oil shortage, the house today passed and sent to the senate a $93,000,000 bill authorizing construction of a barge canal and pipe line across Florida, a pipe line from Mississippi to Georgia, and enlargement of the gulf intracoastal waterway and its extension to the Mexican border.

The house action followed by a few hours the approval by Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes of the trans-Florida pipe line to carry oil from the Gulf of Mexico to Jacksonville, Fla.

Today's action was a reversal of the house stand on June 1 when it rejected the bill after opponents had warned that it was the opening wedge in a new drive for construction of the controversial Florida ship canal.

Previous Efforts Recalled.

During today's four hour debate, which was marked by bitter partisanship, there were many references to the administration's previous attempt to jam thru legislation for the canal in the guise of a war measure and the crushing defeat suffered by Democratic leaders on that occasion.

The measure passed on a voice vote today after the defeat of two attempts to eliminate the barge canal and acceptance of an amendment authorizing construction of the pipe line from Tinsley, Miss., to the area of Savannah, Ga., and Charleston, S. C.

By a roll call vote of 205 to 134 the house defeated a motion by Rep. Pat Cannon [D., Mo.] to recommit the bill to the rivers and harbors committee with instructions to delete authorization for the barge canal. A Republican effort to obtain a roll call vote on final passage failed when Speaker Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] ruled that an insufficient number had supported the demand for yeas and nays.

Plan to Use Salvaged Pipe.

The eight inch pipeline which would cross 220 miles of northern Florida was proposed by the American Liberty Pipe Line company of Dallas, Tex. It would be built of salvaged pipe and have an estimated 35,000 barrel daily capacity. Officials estimated that the government financed project could be completed 120 days after work is started.

The line would have its terminals at Port St. Joe on the Florida gulf coast and at Jacksonville on the east coast. Gasoline, fuel oil, and other petroleum products pumped thru the line would be transshipped by barge north and south from Jacksonville, thru the Atlantic intracoastal waterway, to supply the southeastern seaboard states of Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

The barge canal, 12 feet deep and 125 feet wide, would cross Florida over the same route formerly proposed for the deeper ship canal.

U. S. LIBERATOR BOMBERS AID IN CRIMEA DEFENSE

LONDON, June 18 [Thursday]—(AP). United States Liberator [Consolidated B-24] bombers, similar to those which recently made forced landings in Turkey, now are operating with the Russian air force in defense of Sevastopol, unofficial reports relayed thru Stockholm said today. According to these advices, the United States planes flew to the Crimea from secret bases in the middle east. The Liberators which landed in Turkey were reported to have participated in a bombing raid on Rumanian oil fields, carried out from bases in Egypt.

Canadian Forces Serving with U. S. Army in Alaska

VICTORIA, B. C., June 17 (AP).—Royal Canadian air force squadrons and Canadian anti-aircraft units have been operating for some days with the United States forces in Alaska, Lieut. Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the Canadian general staff, said today. Gen. Stuart, who arrived yesterday to take over command, said he had been authorized by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston to make the statement. It is the first time Canadian forces have taken part in any operations with the United States army.

SUMMARY OF WAR DEVELOPMENTS ON MAJOR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

Fortifications of Sevastopol and Balaclava are presenting an unbending defense to repeated German attacks and the Russian situation on the Kharkov front has improved, Moscow reported. Berlin claimed German troops had extended breaches in the Sevastopol lines and captured some additional fortifications.

Chinese admitted the loss of Shangjao and reported that Japanese columns moving toward each other on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway now are separated by a gap of only 50 miles.

German tank forces smashed southeast of Tobruk in an effort to isolate that British garrison, but British reports said the initial assault was broken up. Berlin said an attempt of British troops cut off west of Acroma to break thru was frustrated.

American army flyers scored 35 bomb hits on two Italian battleships in the week-end Mediterranean battle, British sources disclosed, adding that all United States planes returned to their bases safely. Berlin declared damaged British ships unloaded wounded at Gibraltar.

How the RAF Dropped Flag on Paris Arch

LONDON, June 17 (AP).—Flight Lieut. A. K. Gatward tonight said Paris "looked exactly as I imagined it" when he swooped down last Friday to drop the tricolor [French flag] on the Arc de Triomphe and sail daringly down the Champs Elysees to the bafflement of the Germans and the delight of the French.

In a broadcast describing the flight of his Beaufighter, he said he used the Eiffel tower for bearings to guide him to the Arc de Triomphe, where he dropped the flag, "weighted and folded so it would stream as soon as released."

"One of the things we wanted to look at particularly was the ministry of marine because it was crammed with Huns and we had something for them," continued the royal air force flyer.

"We came in as low as we dared and let fly with our four cannon at about 500 yards and I saw sparks fly off the building. A good deal went thru the windows. We sprayed the place from base to apex and dropped our second flag.

"We saw military cars stopped in the streets with Huns standing by them or dodging around trees in the avenue. We couldn't let fly at them because there were too many civilians about—of whom most were waving at us.

"One fat Hun shook his fist."

The air ministry said Gatward crossed a German airdrome only 20 feet in the air, ducked under power lines, and came home with a dead bird jammed in the radiator.

YANKS' BOMBS BLAST HOLES IN 2 BATTLESHIPS

Chicago Flyer Leads Squadron.

LONDON, June 17 (AP).—Newly graduated United States army airmen, led by a Hoosier veteran of the Chicago-New York airways, scored 35 bull's-eye bomb hits on two Italian battleships in the American and RAF aerial exploits which enabled convoys to run the Mediterranean gantlet to Tobruk and Malta this week, it was disclosed today.

Maj. A. F. Kalberer.

Speculation that United States warships might have been in the convoys was not confirmed. The Consolidated Liberators were the only American fighting forces participating. All the American planes got back to their bases, said their commander, Maj. A. F. Kalberer of Lafayette, Ind.

The German radio said in a Madrid dispatch tonight that 18 British warships have arrived at Gibraltar from the Mediterranean with dead and wounded men. The report, quoting a DNB dispatch, said the battleship Malaya and aircraft carriers Eagle and Argus, two destroyers and five escort vessels put casualties ashore. Eight more warships arrived, the report said, one cruiser being towed into port in a sinking condition. The Eagle also was damaged, the dispatch said.

Major Tells of Battle.

Interviewed today at an allied air base in the Libyan desert, Maj. Kalberer reported that the whole operation was as simple as "shooting fish in a barrel." It was all as smooth and simple as a commercial air flight, he added.

Kalberer should know, for in peacetime he flew more than 1,000,000 miles for United Air Lines on runs between Tulsa and Ponca City, Kansas City and Chicago, and Chicago and New York.

Kalberer said the Liberators, each with a British naval observer aboard, took off before dawn and sighted the Italian squadron at 9 a. m.

"We were waiting for our rendezvous with the British torpedo planes, but the fleet showed up before it was expected, so we went at it," he reported.

"We coasted down and came at them out of the sun. They apparently neither heard nor saw us. They were not expecting a high altitude attack.

A Marvelous Target.

"Our first flight went for the second battleship, leaving the first one for the two other flights. We had expected to drop bombs 50 feet apart, but we got such a marvelous target we let them all go, and then saw smoke pouring out from aft.

"The second flight tackled the first battleship and the third flight, seeing that one smoking, decided to go at the cruiser and a destroyer.

"We saw the cruiser afire and, as we were leaving, the British planes came in, giving it a torpedo, and later it was sunk by a submarine."

Kalberer disclosed that his force used oxygen, not because they were high enough to require it, but because "at that height it increases efficiency."

Praises His Crewmen.

The operation was so smooth that even the gasoline consumption was exactly as estimated in advance, he said.

He praised his men as "marvelous," saying, "I have been flying for years, and some of those boys are just out of training, but they are as good as I am. It's a revelation what those American training schools are doing."

On the way out, Kalberer said, a British convoy escort, which apparently had never seen the Consolidateds before, put an anti-aircraft shell into his plane.

The Americans also contributed to sinking two destroyers and damaging two cruisers and two destroyers, the British accounts showed.

In Action Two Weeks.

The Americans had been in full operating force only two weeks. During that time they have been confined close to their work and their desert barracks. They have not even

SCHMIDT LOSES HIS CITY JOB AS BUILDING CHIEF

Mayor Appoints Gerhardt to Succeed Him.

Paul Gerhardt Jr., city architect, was appointed city building commissioner yesterday by Mayor Kelly, replacing Richard E. Schmidt, who has been building commissioner for eight years. The change admittedly came as a surprise to Schmidt.

Paul Gerhardt Jr., top, and Richard Schmidt.

City hall reports were that Schmidt, long a prominent architect in his own right, had been let out because of his strictness in interpreting the building code in connection with war housing projects.

In recent weeks there have been complaints from architects and others that Schmidt was not free enough in issuing permits for small dwellings under a recent city ordinance easing the restrictions on low priced homes financed by the Federal Housing administration. Gael Sullivan, Mayor Kelly's protégé, heads the FHA and is reported to have been bitter at Schmidt's attitude. Both Schmidt and Sullivan have visited the mayor's office to discuss their differences.

Schmidt Explains Policy.

"I have never refused a permit for housing under the FHA war code," said Schmidt, "except when such constructions would depreciate adjacent residential property. That is in accordance with a city ordinance."

There was no hint of this, however, in the mayor's recommendation to the city council asking approval for his appointment of Gerhardt. The mayor said that Schmidt had indicated some time ago a desire to devote more time to his personal business. He added that with Gerhardt's appointment, the positions of city architect and building commissioner could be combined, and the city save more than $7,000 a year.

First Appointed in 1934.

Schmidt was first appointed in 1934. Mayoralty appointments are usually renewed each year. For the last few years, however, the formality of the reappointments had not been observed in Schmidt's case so that the mayor could have named his successor at any time. Schmidt is a brother of Dr. Louis E. Schmidt and the late Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, noted physicians.

Gerhardt has been city architect since 1928. He was born in Chicago in 1899, son of Paul Gerhardt, a prominent architect. In taking over Schmidt's post, he balanced a family score. In 1912 Schmidt replaced his father, the elder Gerhardt, as county architect.

SHERIFF O'BRIEN WITNESS IN SUIT TO CURB PICKETS

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien was a witness yesterday at a hearing ordered in connection with a suit in which the Maywood Farms Dairy seeks to enjoin the Milk Wagon Drivers union No. 753 from picketing the dairy plant. This hearing was held in the office of John A. Cervenka Jr., a master in chancery for the Circuit court, at 77 West Washington street.

Attorneys William A. Gemmill and William H. Sloan for the company started asking the sheriff questions in regard to his police force convoying trucks to the dairy last fall, after nonunion drivers for the firm reported they had been slugged. "I don't remember" and "I don't know," were the almost invariable answers of O'Brien.

"The sheriff remembers only that he doesn't know," said Gemmill.

There was some surprise in the room when the attorney asked the sheriff if he recalled a letter of thanks written by a company official and thanking him for the convoys. O'Brien said the letter was on his desk, under a blotter. It was his only contribution of information. The hearing will proceed today, with other witnesses.

ARVID B. TANNER, LAWYER, MISSING, POLICE INFORMED

Arvid B. Tanner, an attorney, 46 years old, recently living at 6310 Lenox avenue, has been missing since June 8, his wife reported yesterday to Jefferson Park police.

Arvid B. Tanner.

Mrs. Tanner, according to her attorney, Walter H. Velde, 208 South La Salle street, has been living in the southwest in recent months and returned here when Tanner's landlady informed her he had disappeared.

Tanner's law practice was chiefly in the field of interstate commerce, his friends said. He was known as a vitriolic letter writer and at one time was active in the cause of clean elections, having been a witness at the inquiry into the election killing of Octavius Granady in 1928. His left arm is off at the elbow. Mrs. Tanner formerly was president of the Ravinia Woman's club.

ELGIN SCHOOL HEAD QUITS AT BOARD REQUEST

The Elgin board of education announced yesterday it had requested and received the resignation of Merrill R. Stephan as principal of Elgin High school, effective next Aug. 31. Vincent Coleman, president of the board, said the action was taken in the interests of harmony after "a prolonged conflict of personalities between the administrator, Mr. Stephan, and the rank and file of the high school faculty." Stephan came to Elgin from Stockton, Ill.

BOY MEETS GIRL; BOY MEETS HORSE, SO BOY, GIRL AND HORSE ELOPE

Concord, Mass., June 17 (AP).—An elopement on horseback had this little New England town rocking on its heels tonight. A 16 year old girl and a milk dealer's farm hand who has described himself as a former cowboy, disappeared Monday with a steed the farm hand was paying for by labor.

The less romantic and more statistically minded townsfolk pored thru local history books and came up with—the first horse misappropriation in 100 years and probably the first elopement on horseback in the records.

HITLER FACING 4 BIG PROBLEMS, SAYS LOCHNER

Louis P. Lochner, former head of the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press, spoke last night in Mandel hall on the University of Chicago campus before an overflow crowd of more than 2,000 persons.

Lochner, one of the more than 500 Americans exchanged for German nationals recently, said that Hitler faces four problems: Transportation, man power on the home front, lack of raw materials, and lack of fighting men. This summer will be crucial, Lochner said, and every opportunity to open a second front should be taken.

He also said that there are two ways to defeat Hitler: Military might, and by keeping alive opposition groups in Germany, principally the Protestant and Catholic churches. This can be done, he said, by continued radio broadcasts.

YANKEE JUNGLE FIGHTERS SWIFT, DEADLY, SILENT

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN PANAMA, June 17.—The jungle was still as I crouched on the narrow animal trail. Then, suddenly, a matted vine straightened up and jabbed a submachine gun into my back. From the jungle stepped clumps of sawtooth grass carrying machine guns and hand grenades.

Here were the bushmasters in action, Panama's bushmasters — a bewildering assortment of Indians from the southwestern states, Dodger fans from Brooklyn, Mexicans from the border towns, strapping youngsters from middle western farms, all welded by months of hard training into a crack jungle combat unit.

If enemy forces should attempt a land thrust at the Panama canal, the bushmasters will meet them first.

Named After Deadly Snake.

At hidden outposts in the jungle the enemy will find them waiting with a bag full of lethal tricks. It will be these hand picked and schooled young men who, as silent and deadly as the terrible jungle snake for whom they are named, will ambush advance units, harry flanks with machine guns and grenades, honeycomb the jungle with explosive traps, and bog down the hostile force until the main land forces of the Canal Zone attack.

The leader of the bushmasters is as colorful as the unit which he organized and trained. Two years ago Col. J. Prugh Herndon was the dignified, sedate controler of the University of Arizona at Tucson. Today he is a hard bitten officer.

Col. Herndon selected the name "bushmasters" for his jungle troops, explaining:

"I want them to be as fast, as silent, and as deadly as the bushmaster—the most feared snake of the tropics. Like their namesake, they should be able to kill quickly and efficiently if the need arises."

Bushmasters Strike First.

It was while I was Col. Herndon's guest at a "practice session" in the jungle yesterday that I had my experience with the bushmasters. Col. Herndon told me to walk down the animal trail, told me that half a dozen of his men were hidden somewhere along it, and asked me to try to spot them before they "got" me.

Studying the underbrush, I started out. I might as well have walked with my eyes closed. The half dozen men could have "got" me 10 times before I could have found them.

This business of camouflage is one of the most important arts of the bushmasters. To begin with, they wear special mottled green coveralls and matching helmets. Then, in a thick mat over and around them, they weave vines, grass, and small tree branches, all laced with fishline. Crouched in the jungle, they are invisible from 20 feet.

Armament of Bushmasters.

Most of the bushmasters are armed with submachine guns and several hundred rounds of ammunition. Other men carry carbines or automatic rifles. If the need arises, the bushmasters have 60 mm. [2⅓ inch] mortars. These, with the dozen or so hand grenades carried by every man, give the jungle units great fire power.

Instead of the regular infantry rations, the bushmasters have special oiled silk sacks containing rice, dried fruits and vegetables, milk powder, peanuts, and chocolate. By using only lightweight dehydrated foods and chlorine they can carry enough supplies to stay in the jungle 60 days.

Among Col. Herndon's jungle units are several hundred Indians from the southwestern reservations who have taken to jungle warfare like ducks to water. They, with border hardened Mexicans, form the nucleus of the bushmasters.

INDICT CAFEMAN IN NAZI'S FLIGHT; CHARGE TREASON

Detroit, Mich., June 17 (AP).—An indictment for treason—the maximum penalty, death—was returned by a federal grand jury here today against Max Stephan, restaurant proprietor accused of aiding a German flyer who escaped from a Canadian concentration camp last April.

Stephan, who has been held under $25,000 bond since his arrest, will be arraigned Friday. Conviction would result in a minimum penalty of five years imprisonment.

Lieut. Peter Krug, who fled from the Bowmanville, Ont., camp April 16 and was recaptured in San Antonio, Tex., may be a witness against the man who, federal agents say, fed and clothed him here, obtained a hotel room for him and arranged for him to travel by bus to Chicago.

The treason charge against Stephan is the first to be brought in this country during the present war. Stephan is a naturalized American citizen who served as a sergeant in the German army during World War I.

HERE'S A FIT DISH FOR U. S. FIGHTING MEN: WILD BOAR

Troops Eat Venison Too in New Caledonia.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE UNITED STATES FORCES IN NEW CALEDONIA, June 4 [Delayed].—Thick venison steaks, wild boar, oysters, and a wide variety of other game and fish frequently appear on the menus of the United States army messes here.

Deer are so plentiful that they become pests, and many of the larger farms employ deer slayers. Deer hides are an important item of export for New Caledonia, averaging about 150,000 a year. The first deer is said to have been introduced by the wife of one of the early French governors. She brought a pair from Sumatra, and these have since multiplied by the tens of thousands, according to legend.

Soldiers and officers frequently organize deer hunting parties. In addition to being good sport it provides a welcome change in diet. Recently four men bagged 20 deer in one afternoon.

Flying Bats a Luxury.

Wild boars, pigs, and goats are often brought back by hunters as well as flying fox [bats]. The natives consider them a great delicacy.

Barracuda are bought from Kanaka fisherman who also provide oysters, large crawfish, and soft shelled crabs. The crabs, which grow as big as saucers, have large claws similar to those on a lobster.

Returning from a trip to the northern part of the island Lieut. Walter Johnson of Minneapolis sampled local oysters and found them sweet but somewhat smaller than blue points. To get them a fuzzy-wuzzy [native] paddled a flat bottomed boat along a river mouth and with a long saber knife hacked off pieces of mangrove roots to which the oysters were growing. The native chopped them off the root with the knife, pried them open, and presented them to us, also offering us bread and white wine.

Necessarily much food comes from cans but it is possible to obtain some fresh vegetables from the natives. The Japs, who grew most of the vegetables on the island, are interned. The last 92 were locked up two months ago when the American troops arrived. The French had permitted them to remain free on the ground that they were needed to produce vegetables.

Iowa Man in Charge of Bakery.

Fresh bread is provided daily by several bakeries situated thruout the island. I visited one in charge of Lieut. Donald S. Houser of Cedar Rapids, Ia. An insurance investigator by profession, he became interested in the army thru the ROTC at Coe college. He has been on active duty since last June. His men were baking raisin bread when I was there.

Some messes have rough board or log tables with seats, but many have chest high tables and the men eat standing up.

One thing the troops would like to have is more reading matter.

There's not much to do nights up here in the bush," explained Pvt. Harry Stein, 1100 N. Oakland boulevard, Chicago. "We'd sure appreciate some magazines, even if they're old ones."

In many small advance camps about the only thing to do after dark is go to bed, and it is then that magazines, papers, or books are best appreciated.

Many camps turn out a little mimeographed paper carrying radio news which keeps the troops up on the latest developments. One paper is called the Blue Raider Flash.

Natives Greet Americans.

The Kanakas have given the American troops an enthusiastic reception. Unlike the Malayan natives, who regarded white troops with cold indifference, the fuzzy-wuzzies never fail to wave, salute, or tip their hats to Americans. Many call out greetings in French and all are anxious to work for the United States army.

The natives are good workers, army officers say, and in this they also differ from the natives of many other places in the South seas. Many are used to improve roads or act as guides. They are intensely proud of any job connected with the army, which enhances their local prestige. Most of the Kanakas are splendid physical specimens. Their black kinky hair, which stands straight up, is usually bleached to various shades of red.

Part of the Kanakas' enthusiasm for Americans comes from the free medical and dental care they receive and the fact that they are well treated. They get a big kick out of having thousands of new people and strange vehicles and machines on the island.

Albert W. Litchfield, a motor car dealer, drove from Libertyville to the Museum of Science and Industry in something over eight hours yesterday, to present to the museum the one cylinder Brush truck, 1906 vintage, in which he made the trip. Cameron Peck, curator of transportation at the museum and a director of the Bowman Dairy company, drove from the loop to the museum to accept the gift in his 1902 Corbin electric. Mr. Peck uses the car in the loop to save gasoline and tires, the tires on the Corbin being of a very narrow tread.

WITNESS TELLS OF FATAL SHOT THRU WINDOW

Rockford, Ill., June 17 (AP).—William Mitchell Jr., 26 years old, testified in Circuit court today that he was strumming old fashioned love songs on a guitar and Mrs. Horace L. Turner was reading a love story when a shotgun blast thru the window killed her last March 8.

Mitchell was a state witness at the trial of Turner, 51, charged with murdering his estranged wife, 33, while she sat on a davenport with Mitchell in his home.

Mitchell's son, William Edward, 8, testified that he and his sister, Nancy, 6, were playing marbles on the front room floor at the time of the shooting.

In his opening statement Defense Attorney B. J. Knight said he intended to show that Mrs. Turner was not reading a magazine but was "in loving embrace" with Mitchell when the shooting occurred.

NEWS FROM LIBYA NOT GOOD, CURTIN WARNS AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 17 (AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin warned his people today that the news from Libya "is not good" and that the situation in Russia holds dangers for the allied cause.

"Australia is irrevocably linked with the wars in Libya and Russia," he said, and added that the fall of Australia, a possibility always to be remembered, would open the way for a Japanese attack on Hawaii and the North American coast.

The prime minister spoke over the radio in an appeal for $9,000,000 a day for the next and final days of the second war loan drive.

"The news from Libya is not good. Rommel [German general] has made gains at great cost, but nevertheless gains which are clearly reverses for our forces. It is clear that the struggle in this theater has reached the critical stage."

A German victory in Russia, if it meant the fall of Russia, would be "a crushing blow to our cause," Curtin said.

BRITAIN TO DRAFT CITIZENS OF ITS ALLIED NATIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Allied nationals whose governments are exiled in this country will soon be liable for conscription by the British forces unless they have already joined their own national services or have been granted exemption. A bill enabling the British government to extend military conscription to allied nationals was submitted to parliament today and given its first reading in the house of commons.

Nationalities affected are Belgians, Czechs, Dutch, Greek, Norwegians, Poles, and Jugo-Slavs, of whom it is estimated there are fewer than 10,000 in this country, one-third are engaged in important war work. When the new legislation passes the remaining stages of parliament it will be possible for the minister of labor to call up allied nationals.

American subjects in Britain are liable for service with the American forces in this country.

WELLES FAVORS 'COOLING OFF' ERA AFTER VICTORY

Baltimore, Md., June 17 (AP).—Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, tonight advocated a cooling off period after the war before final peace terms are made.

In an address prepared for a united nations rally Welles recalled the "tragic experiences" which humanity underwent after the last war, declared coöperation no less essential in maintaining peace than in winning the war, and added:

"The final terms of the peace should wait until the immediate tasks of the transition period—after the defeat of the axis powers—have been completed by the united nations, and until final judgments can be coolly and rationally rendered."

Asserting that organization for preserving a sound peace should go hand in hand with the war, Welles pointed to the master lend-lease agreements thus far reached with Great Britain, China, Russia, and Belgium, pledging freer international trade after the war, as a possible basis of economic recuperation of the world.

British News Agents Warn Against Merger of Press

LONDON, June 17.—The government today was warned against a suggestion to merge daily newspapers in Britain. Retail news agents, booksellers, and stationers at their annual conference in Scarborough backed the view of journalists that proposals for publishing a single national newspaper on a plea of newsprint shortage should be strongly opposed. The conference held the British public would rise against the suggestion.

Drop 100 Bombs on Lae; Set Fires at Salamaua.

San Francisco, Cal., June 17 (AP).—Tuesday's allied air raids on Lae and Salamaua were "the heaviest pounding the Japanese bases have received since the Coral sea battle," a war correspondent of the Australian Broadcasting company declared in a broadcast heard here today.

"Hundreds of bombs were dropped on Lae alone," he said. "At Salamaua fires were covering the whole target area as our bombers made off.

"The offensive against Lae and Salamaua began Monday night when a flight of our bombers attacked both airdromes. Early Tuesday morning another big squadron took up the attack and this was followed by other bombers. In the first morning attack fires were started in the target area and several buildings were left burning.

Strike from Low Level.

"The bombers which concentrated on Salamaua had no fighter opposition and they were able to carry out attacks from a low level.

"Another force concentrated on Lae and badly damaged the runway.

"Six Zeros [Japanese planes] attacked near the target area and one was shot down in flames. On the way home our bombers were escorted by their own fighters and in the series of dog fights which followed one Zero was shot down into the sea and a second on land.

Port Moresby Under Attack.

"While Lae and Salamaua were being attacked the Japs were making their first attack on Port Moresby in more than a fortnight. Eighteen Zeros attempted to attack the airdrome, but they were driven off by our fighters and anti-aircraft fire. Four Jap fighters were shot down in dog fights which were fought out some distance from Port Moresby. Four of our fighters are missing from this engagement."

Shoot Down Two Jap Planes.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 18 [Thursday]—(AP).—Eighteen Japanese bombers attacked the Port Moresby harbor area in New Guinea yesterday but caused little damage, the allied communique said today. The Japanese bombers were escorted by a group of nine Zero type fighters.

Allied interceptor planes met the attacking Japanese and shot down one bomber and one fighter, the communique said. Casualties in the raid were "slight," it was reported, and no allied planes were lost.

The communique said that in the air fighting over Port Moresby reported in yesterday's communique, seven enemy aircraft were destroyed, and not four as previously reported.

Welfare to Be Substituted for Relief in City Agency

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that hereafter the Chicago Relief administration will be known as the Chicago Welfare administration. The new title has been approved by the city council. The mayor said the term "welfare" is more descriptive of the work of the department than "relief."

U. S. FLYERS HIT 2 ITALIAN SHIPS WITH 35 BOMBS

Chicago Air Line Pilot Leads the Squadron.

had Cairo leave since their arrival. Some are veterans of Java and India, some bright-faced boyish flyers just out of training schools.

Commanding the full detachment is Col. H. A. Halverson of Boone, Ia., who remained in the background and let Kalberer tell the story.

With 20 bomb hits on one battleship and 15 on the other, plus a torpedo wound in one, experts said the two would be laid up at least four or five months for repairs.

Convoys Let Thru.

It was officially stated that both convoys got thru with needed supplies, but the cost was conceded to be "considerable" because of air attacks. No tabulation of losses was given, but it was believed the British lost no warship larger than a destroyer and that four merchant ships were sunk or damaged.

The combined German-Italian claims in the four-day fight added up to 53 ships sunk or damaged—a figure that the British admiralty dismissed as "fantastic."

BRITISH PLANES BATTERED

AN ALLIED AIRDROME IN THE LIBYAN DESERT, June 17 (AP).—Veteran RAF pilots today told how they flew thru the heaviest anti-aircraft barrage they had ever experienced to score direct hits on an Italian battleship, a cruiser, and a destroyer already crippled by United States bombers in the four day battle of the Mediterranean.

So heavy was the fire that only two of the British planes returned undamaged. One pilot said it was like "a wall of fire" which started while they were still five miles away from the Italian warships and grew more intense as they drove in only a hundred feet above the sea.

Their reception was in sharp contrast with that of the big United States bombers, which had come in at a high altitude and dropped bombs without losing a plane.

Some of the British planes already were badly damaged before they reached their targets but they did not turn back until they had launched their torpedoes.

Oil Squirts in His Face.

One of these was piloted by Squadron Leader Gibbs, who previously had won a distinguished flying cross. The hydraulic gear of his plane was punctured by a shell splinter, and he flew in to throw his torpedo with oil squirting in his face.

Another machine had one engine cut out after a shell exploded directly underneath it, but completed its attack and returned to its base.

One pilot gave this account of the attack:

"An Italian battleship was our target. We swooped toward her broadside on. The first thing I noticed was how slowly she was moving; as if she had been hit earlier.

"Then we went thru a blinding wall of fire. The enemy ships threw up everything they had. I could see big red flashes from the battleship's guns. Their barrage became fiercer until it looked like the whole ship was spurting flame.

Dive to 100 Feet.

"We dived to within 100 feet above the sea, fired a torpedo and immediately banked away. My observer confirmed that we hit her and that she listed to port. Before that I saw an explosion on the near side of an enemy cruiser, then a huge column of water spouted up and rolled over her, indicating both our flights had given her a dose of torpedoes."

He added that a destroyer ahead of the battleship swung around as if to protect her, but it appeared the destroyer had already been hit.

"We went right over her, but she was not firing any more," he said.

He said another torpedo hit an encircling cruiser.

"Turned Back," Says Rome.

ROME, June 17 [from Italian broadcasts] (AP).—The high command said today that the presence of a strong Italian naval formation in waters near Crete forced a 50 ship British convoy to turn back to Alexandria under axis aerial assault.

The Italians reported that their ships rescued several hundred British officers and men "belonging to enemy warships and merchant ships which had been set on fire or sunk" in attacks on another convoy.

The convoy from Alexandria "turned back from its course as soon as it discovered a strong Italian naval squadron in Cretan waters," a communique said. The British ships were said to have been attacked by axis planes before turning back, and the Italians said German planes inflicted further damage as the ships sped back to Alexandria.

Summing up the convoy losses, the high command said:

"The German air force sank four cruisers and destroyers and numerous merchant ships. Many other enemy ships were hit and damaged. One cruiser was sunk by a German submarine. Our air force sank a destroyer. Five enemy cruisers and four enemy [merchant] ships were seriously damaged."

Flew Chicago-N. Y. Route.

Lafayette, Ind., June 17.—Maj. Alfred Kalberer, 35 year old commander in the American bombing raids on the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean sea, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kalberer here. He flew the New York-Chicago run for United Airlines as an army reserve pilot from 1931 to 1938.

He then went to Holland, where he became a K. L. M. [Dutch Air line] pilot, with a route from Amsterdam to Bandoeng, Java; Sydney, Australia, and Calcutta, India.

In Java he was able to get his wife, formerly Helen N. Lee of Kansas City, out of Holland, and they stayed in Java fourteen months, returning to the United States last September. He went to Washington and received a major's commission, being stationed at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio. Later he was sent to Pensacola, Fla.

When his parents last heard from him only three weeks ago, Maj. Kalberer notified them he was leaving Ft. Myers, Fla., for an unknown destination.

TELLS HOW TARS TRIED TO BE LAST OFF LEXINGTON

New York, June 17 [Special].—Ensign Seymour Epstein, 27 year old engineering officer of the aircraft carrier Lexington, today told how "every one wanted to be the last man to leave" when the vessel went down in the Coral sea battle.

"It was a sort of Alphonse and Gaston act," he said. "You know—'You first,' 'No, you.'"

Epstein, who was born on Flag day in 1915, returned home in time to celebrate his birthday—on Flag day.

ANCHORS OF NEW TOBRUK DEFENSE LINE REPEL NAZIS

Halt Superior Forces at Sidi Rezegh, Acroma.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 17 (AP).—Nazi desert forces now superior in tank and anti-tank strength smashed southeast of Tobruk today in an attempt to isolate that British seaport garrison from land supplies, but their initial assault broke against the resistance of the British 8th army and its royal air force support.

With RAF fighter-bombers destroying 10 of 30 German tanks thrusting toward Sidi Rezegh, 25 miles southeast of Tobruk, the British said the attack had been broken up.

Repulse Attack at Acroma.

The British forces at Acroma, 20 miles southwest of Tobruk, repulsed another axis attack, and today the imperial forces still were holding all the important fixed positions in a semicircle west, south, and southeast of Tobruk. Their line was anchored on the west at Acroma, dipped southward thru El Adem, and veered east to Sidi Rezegh, which is only 50 miles from the Egyptian border.

Reënforced axis forces were massed about El Adem, 18 miles south of Tobruk, however.

British tank strength, particularly the 28 ton United States "General Grants" which were the bulwark of their armored force, admittedly was badly depleted and the reserve tanks now in action were no match for the German African corps.

Hope Based on New Supplies.

There was, however, hope that the supplies just landed at Tobruk by a battle battered convoy from the east would include the weapons needed for counterattack before the axis columns can press their advantage to the fullest.

All British forces from west of Acroma now have been withdrawn.

[Axis communiques, insisting their forces had trapped most of the imperial garrison at El Gazala, west of Acroma, said British prisoners totaled more than 6,000 and that 224 tanks, 35 guns, and 500 trucks had been captured. The axis also claimed capture of some British positions at Acroma and El Adem.]

2 Killed and 3 Injured in Blast at Coal Shaft

Birmingham, Ala., June 17 (AP).—Two men were killed and three injured tonight in an explosion at a new coal shaft on property of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, near here. The company's public relations office identified the dead as Robert Finley and Carl Willis and the injured as Virgil Toll, Maul: Waldrop and Aubren Bence, all of the Birmingham area. The explosion apparently resulted when workers struck an unfired shot of dynamite, company spokesmen said.

4 BILLION VOTED FOR BRITISH WAR; TOTAL 40 BILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—The financial aspects of the war were brought home to the house of commons today when Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, presented a motion for another supplementary credit vote of 4 billion dollars, making a total of 40 billion 200 million dollars voted by parliament for war purposes thus far. The fighting and supply services, Wood announced, now are costing the country about 39 million dollars daily, about 2 million dollars less than the daily figure of three months ago.

17 OF 21 YANKS AT BIR HACHEIM ESCAPE SAFELY

CAIRO, Egypt, June 17 (AP).—An American ambulance driver who lived thru the sinking of the Egyptian ship Zamzam in April, 1941, was killed and three others of a 21 man unit were believed captured when the British and "Free French" abandoned the Libyan desert outpost of Bir Hacheim a week ago tonight. George C. Tichenor, 26 years old, of Maplewood, N. J., was killed by a shot thru the head. Tichenor was attached to the American field service ambulance unit at Bir Hacheim.

Lieut. Alan Stuyvesant of New York, commander of the group, is believed to be a prisoner. Also missing and listed as probably captured were Stanley Kulak of Salem, Mass., and Alexander McElwain of Boston. A. M. P. Stratton of Brunswick, Me., was brought out by his companions with wounds in one arm and one leg. He is now in a hospital and out of danger. St. Clair Smith and Lorenzo Semple III., both of New York, who were missing for a time, have arrived safely at their base.

THE LAST HOURS OF LEXINGTON! A STORY OF VALOR

Heartbreaking End Told by Eyewitness.

Five torpedoes had torn huge holes —20 to 30 feet in diameter—in her port [left] side along the water line and below it. One heavy bomb, probably a Japanese 1,000 pounder, had hit the ship's rail on the forward flight deck and on the port forward 5 inch gun position. Another lighter bomb had ripped holes in her smokestack and killed with its splinters several men of an anti-aircraft machine gun crew stationed there.

In addition to these direct hits by torpedoes and bombs, the Lexington also had been damaged to some extent by scores of near misses by Japanese dive bombers. The heavy bombs, exploding in the water at distances of 100 feet to 10 feet from the carrier's sides, had rocked her and possibly had sprung certain side plates.

She had taken, in the swift air battle, a six degree list to the port side as water poured thru the torpedo holes.

Finally the heavy bomb which struck the rail of the forward flight deck had penetrated into the living quarters below. There a quantity of five inch shells, which were stacked so as to be close at hand for rapid firing, had been set off. The combination of explosions had started a fire and had been responsible for heavy casualties among the marines who formed the gun crews.

Damaged Ship Maintains Speed.

These quarters also happened to be those of Rear Adm. Aubrey Fitch whose guest I was officially. My room, my clothing, notes, and typewriter, not to mention my safe in which I had $100 in currency and a wristwatch, suffered severely. Adm. Fitch's papers and belongings also were shattered and strewn about. The fire that followed the explosions burned fiercely until damage crews extinguished them with chemicals, leaving the wreckage and tattered bits of furnishings covered with a chemical foam.

The torpedoes and bombs had damaged three fire rooms of the Lexington's engine system. This damage, however, was not sufficient to stop her. Indeed her speed never dropped below 25 knots until hours after the attack. She stayed with the other carrier—her name is withheld for reasons of national security—and with the cruisers and destroyers. We were all bound for the Japanese, the intention of Adm. Fitch and Rear Adm. Frank Fletcher being to close in and finish them off.

Almost before the last Japanese dive bomber had flown away Commander H. R. [Pop] Healy had telephoned to the bridge to tell Capt. Fred Sherman, the Lexington's skipper [and since promoted to rear admiral]: "We've got the torpedo damage temporarily shored up, the fires out and soon will have the ship back on an even keel. But I would suggest, sir, that if you have to take any more torpedoes you take 'em on the starboard [right] side."

The crew was still at "battle stations." Below the wounded were being collected in various sick bays and having their injuries dressed.

Battle Records Burned.

I had made an arrangement with Commander Mort Seligman, the Lexington's executive officer, to make a series of disc recordings of the air action against the ship. Thru the firing, the bomb bursts and all, I had talked into a microphone getting the exact times for various incidents, describing the Japanese, even getting on the discs the sounds of Japanese dive bomber engines, our anti-aircraft guns firing, bomb explosions, and the sound of the battle.

Naturally my first thought was for these records. I ran below to Commander Seligman's cabin where the recording machine was situated. The marine orderly who had operated the machine thruout the fight, played back our records. The two discs were perfect, recording, I believe, for the first time in history the sounds of battle. But alas, I was never to take them from the room. They were destroyed by fire before I ever got them off the Lexington.

Aboard the Lexington the routine of a carrier in dangerous waters was going on. Commander Healy was overseeing the pumping of fuel oils from port storage tanks into empty tanks on the starboard side, and the list was taken off the ship and its flight deck. As soon as this was done our fighting planes, which had been in the air for durations ranging from one to three hours each, began coming back on board.

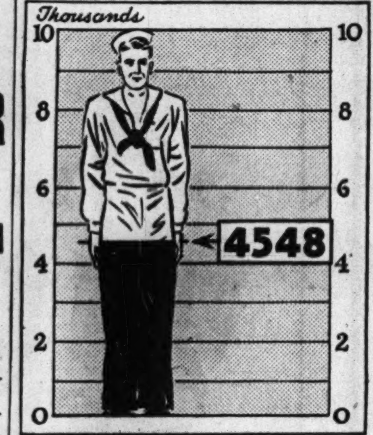
Plane Squashes on Deck.

The first one in was a scout bomber that had been on anti-torpedo plane patrol. The machine had been damaged in battle and was flying erratically. When it circled, turned "into the slot" for its final approach it was high and flying too fast but Lieut. Aquilla Dibrell, the landing officer, waved it in anyway.

The plane squashed onto the deck with its left wing low. The wing tip hit the deck, the plane bounced, struck again, and spun over the side into the water. The Lexington's navigation officer, who saw the accident, signaled a destroyer that was trailing us by a mile or more to the rescue.

Both members of the crew of that plane were picked up, unharmed by the accident. The pilot, Lieut. McDonald, had been wounded in combat, his right arm having been broken by a Japanese bullet. This accounted for his poor approach and landing technique. It was notable that during the many weeks I was aboard the Lexington and the thousands of landings I saw McDonald's was the only one in which a plane was lost.

Navy Recruiting



Progress of June naval recruiting in Chicago to date (black) compared with goal (full figure) of recruiting drive which will extend to July 4.

The navy's campaign for 10,000 recruits in the Chicago area for the period from June 1 to July 4 reached 4,548 by noon yesterday, Lieut. David N. Goldenson, recruiting officer, reported. Of this number, 445 applications were accepted in the 24 hour period ending at noon.

Lieut. Goldenson was visited by an old friend, Capt. Christy Mathewson Jr., son of the late baseball pitcher and now an army pilot. Capt. Mathewson greeted the recruits.

The navy announced that Lieut. Carl G. Zeidler, former mayor of Milwaukee, is now at sea in command of a gun crew on an American freighter. Lieut. Zeidler was the first of several officers to volunteer last week for immediate sea duty.

"You Should See My Room."

Now many planes of all types began returning from the attack on the Jap fleet. So normal was the Lexington's appearance that many of them did not know she had been in a fight until they were on the deck and saw the bomb splinter scratches. The damage to the flight deck was confined to the railing.

"O John, you should see my room," called Lieut. Comm. Jimmy Brett, leader of the Lexington's torpedo plane squadron, after landing and going below. On the night before he had shown me a manuscript of a book he had been writing on color photography and he referred to it again.

"That damned bomb destroyed all my papers, 18 months work," he cried. "I've got to write it all over again."

Pass Sandwiches to Crew.

Because we still were in fighting trim no lunch was served. Instead sandwiches, apples, and coffee were handed around by the mess stewards. The crew stopped to munch a bit before continuing with the work of repairing damage. Morale among the crew and the airmen was high. They knew their ship had been hard hit, but she appeared able to take it.

The torpedo holes had been "forgotten" by the expedient of closing off the required number of watertight compartments in the hull. This had not noticeably affected the vessel's buoyancy. But this rosy picture was not to endure much longer.

At 12:45 p. m. there was a heavy, dull explosion inside the hull. I was standing on the flight deck and my knees buckled as the ship shook. Going below with damage parties I found that the blast had come from deep within, and had twisted heavy, steel, watertight doors from their hinges.

Fires Burn Fiercely.

We discovered that the explosion had been caused by the igniting of volatile vapor from aviation gasoline that had seeped thru fractured bulkheads from the huge storage tanks where fuel for the Lexington's air fleet was stored. Presumably these bulkheads were damaged by the torpedo and bomb explosions, allowing the escape of the 100 octane fuel.

Fires at a number of points in the opened holds were burning fiercely. These were being fed fresh air thru bent and twisted scuttles that had given way along with the watertight compartment doors. A scuttle is a thick steel hatch which closes off entrances between decks. Ordinarily it serves to make watertight the openings between decks in exactly the same way that watertight doors seal compartments in the same deck.

Because the hold was opened the fires could not be isolated and smothered. All the ship's chemical equipment was rushed into the job, but it was not enough. Water was impossible to get because the blast had smashed water mains and the auxiliary pumps, and had cut off light and power to the hold. Consequently the flames spread swiftly.

Call Destroyer Alongside.

Hoses from other parts of the ship where auxiliary pumps were situated were linked up. A destroyer was called alongside and its hose lines were run aboard. But there were far too few auxiliary hose lines on the Lexington and the destroyer didn't help because its pumps could not lift water high and far enough.

About 1 p. m. we found that the first blast had killed Pop Healy, who had been working below. It also had thrown Comm. Arthur J. White, the ship's surgeon, thru one of his hospital doors, breaking his collarbone and one ankle.

Despite these injuries he dragged himself around for five hours tending other casualties—of the Japanese attack and of the explosions which followed. He quit only after the order to abandon ship had been given and he had seen the last wounded man evacuated from the hospital and laid out on the flight deck.

Steering Apparatus Fails.

The second explosion came about 25 minutes after the first. It was the beginning of a series that ultimately came at intervals of a few seconds. That, however, was hours later. Each explosion damaged the fuel and aviation gasoline storage tanks further and the escape of these combustible fluids grew more rapidly as the day faded.

After the third and fourth explosions the navigator reported that the steering apparatus for the Lexington, which had functioned perfectly in the battle and up to that time, had failed. This failure was due to the loss of electric power for the bridge control. Men were stationed at the "trick wheel"—an auxiliary wheel situated deep inside the ship where it was operated by hand. But the greatest difficulty for the navigators was the loss of electrical communications systems to pass their orders to the wheelsmen.

When the fires destroyed these systems a line of men was formed along the deck, down from the bridge, and thence down into the ship's bowels where the "trick wheel" was being operated. Orders were transmitted by word of mouth from man to man down this line and rudder directions were entirely dependent upon this relay system, which was slow.

Stay at Their Posts.

With the failure of the electrical power systems came an interruption of the great blowers—the ship's ventilating system. Heat quickly rose in the engine and fire rooms to between 145 and 162 degrees Fahrenheit. Nevertheless, the engineer's gang stayed at their posts and kept their equipment going to give the 25 knot speed demanded.

"We felt most of the explosions a lot more strongly toward the rear than you did at the front," one of the fire tenders told me afterward. "The heat and blasts affected us to the point where we had difficulty in keeping our minds clear. We were dizzy and had violent headaches from the heat."

During this time the damage control gangs and fire fighters were engaged in a desperate fight to save the ship. This fight was becoming hopeless. The flames rapidly increased their grip and extended their area. More than 25 per cent of the below decks section was now a blazing inferno.

Bulkheads Red with Heat.

Bulkheads adjoining the burning sections turned red with heat and thick layers of paint curled off and began burning—to transfer the fire into new areas.

Then the fire engulfed the machine shop. Twenty bombs—each weighing 1,000 pounds of which three-quarters was TNT—were stored there, for loading into our heavy dive bombers. Farther aft in the fire area was a stock of 48 torpedo warheads—about 550 pounds each, or a total of 26,400 pounds of the best explosive the navy knows how to make.

Commander Seligman personally was leading his fire fighting squads. Smoke below became so dense that beams from electric flashlights would not penetrate it. Only the familiarity of the men with the internal plan of the ship enabled them to move around at all.

Many Bounced Off Walls.

Some of these fire fighters were killed or burned by almost every explosion. Many of the injuries came as the blasts bounced men off the steel walls. Bones were fractured, heads broken, and with it all there were critical burns.

As injured or smoke blinded men from these gangs were brought up to the flight deck for treatment, other men stepped forward, donned the smoke helmets taken from the casualties, and went below in their places.

BRITISH HAIL U. S. DECISION TO BUILD AIRCRAFT CARRIERS

LONDON, June 17.—Announcement of the United States' decision to spend $8,000,000,000 to build aircraft carriers was hailed in naval circles here as one of the most realistic developments of this war. Whether or not the British will follow suit remains a military secret.

In the western Pacific the British lost the Repulse and the Prince of Wales because they did not have carriers to protect them; in the Midway and Aleutian battles, the Americans inflicted heavy damage on the Japanese without coming in close contact with warships.

Several times Commander Seligman was blown thru open doors and out of scuttle holes. One of his men told me later: "The 'Exec' was continually being blown thru doors and out of holes like a cork out of a bottle."

It is not possible to estimate the total number of men lost fighting the fire but medical records for the Lexington show that at least half the casualties were those caused by explosions and burns.

Crew Refuses to Give Up.

One of the most violent explosions of all came at 2:45 p. m. It happened just forward of the bridge and caused much damage. It was apparent to all that the end was near and I found later I had written in my notes the time of the explosion and the one word: "end." But I was wrong. The crew and officers did not even give up then.

The Lexington was still making headway strongly tho her steering was becoming awkward. This was due solely to the loss of time in transmitting orders. It was impossible to keep the helm steady. At this time Adm. Fletcher signaled the other ships to disregard the movements of the Lexington.

Next the gyro compass failed because of a final loss of electric power. The bridge asked the chart room: "Distance to nearest land?" Then the captain asked: "Distance to nearest point of Australia?" Finally came the order to plot the course to a designated point in Australia. It was evident that the captain was considering a departure from the rest of the fleet.

At 4 p. m. Capt. Sherman ordered the engines stopped and fire rooms abandoned. Lieut. Comm. Mike Coffin, who received the order, stayed at his post passing on the word and assuring himself that every man got out. The Lexington's speed fell off rapidly until she was drifting helplessly sideways with smoke pouring from the main deck to starboard blanketing everything on that side.

Fight Fire Another Hour.

The fight against the fire continued for another hour, at which time it was evident to all aboard her that the carrier could not be saved.

To remain aboard the ship any longer was courting disaster. An officer braved the heat and flames below to test the temperatures of the bombs and warheads. When he put his hand on their cases his palm was scorched. This meant, of course, that the temperatures of the explosives inside were beyond the heat level at which scientists decreed they would detonate.

Singed, his clothing half burned off, Commander Seligman reported to Capt. Sherman the existing conditions below decks and the imminence of a devastating explosion of the ship's munitions. This explosion was delayed for two more hours. When that blast came Capt. Sherman slid down a rope to a rescue boat, the last man to leave his ship.

But I am getting ahead of my story. The time had arrived to make the momentous decision of abandoning the famous old ship, a powerful weapon of war which represented an enormous investment in cash and security for the nation. It always is hard for a captain to leave his ship, especially so in wartime when she is needed. But before Capt. Sherman spoke Adm. Fitch suggested that abandonment begin.

I heard the exchange of words, which was far from the usual conception of such a dramatic moment.

Adm. Fitch leaned over the high railing around his little bridge on "the island" and spoke to Capt. Sherman, who was pacing the navigating bridge 10 feet below him. The admiral pitched his voice in a conversational tone, saying:

"Well, Fred, I guess it's time to get the men off."

It was 5:15 p. m., the end of the battle for the Lexington.

Her battered, exhausted, scorched, and singed crew gathered on the after end of the flight deck. Forward all was ablaze and the flight deck was too hot to put foot upon it.

Adm. Fletcher sent several destroyers alongside, and we transferred our wounded, 160 men, to the vessels. Hundreds of the other crew members also stepped aboard the destroyers.

Slide Into Coral Sea.

Still other hundreds let long hemp ropes down the sides of the Lexington, slid down them, and into the limpid waters of the Coral sea. Many life rafts soon were floating around the Lexington's stern. Big navy whaleboats from cruisers and destroyers were plying back and forth. A few men struck out to swim the quarter mile to the nearest cruisers.

Several members of flight crews removed the little yellow life rafts from fighter planes on the flight deck—planes that never would fly again. These men used the rafts to ferry themselves across to the warships standing by. It should be mentioned that 25 per cent of the Lexington's fighting planes—those especially picked for lack of damage—were flown off her burning deck long before the fire was beyond all control and landed on her companion carrier. The number of planes thus saved was limited by the capacity of the other carrier's hangars.

I joined a group of pilots who remembered that the ship's store of ice cream would melt soon with the refrigerator's electric current cut off. Rather than lose it they got several two-gallon cans and we sat around under the wings of planes parked on the deck and ate the ice cream from paper drinking cups.

No Hurry, No Scrambling.

This was typical of the leisurely way in which the ship was abandoned. There was no hurry, no scrambling. This discipline was part of the reason roll calls later revealed that 92 per cent of her personnel were safely transferred from her. Only 8 per cent of the original complement were missing. Most of these were victims of the air fighting, the bombing or torpedoing of the Lexington, or finally, of the fire fighting and internal explosions.

I did a last turn on the deck with Lieut. Comm. Edward H. Eldredge, an air officer, after most of the crew had left. We decided to take the next favorable chance ourselves. My preparations consisted of transferring all notes to a breast pocket of my shirt, where I hoped they would stay dry. Then I picked a rope with a big knot at its end, where I might sit until picked up, and cautiously slid down. Eldredge was a bit careless in securing his grip and he did the trip to the water in one scorching flash that left him with blistered palms and a friction burn on one leg.

Haul Exhausted Men Aboard.

In two minutes I was picked up in a whaleboat with other men. We towed several life rafts as well, and got a number of men to a cruiser. I stayed aboard the cutter with the coxswain and we commenced to gather in men who were swimming and showing signs of exhaustion.

Hauling exhausted men from the water over a three foot high gunwale while a small craft is rolling is no simple task. After pulling in about 30 one's arms weaken. In all we got 60 aboard. They filled the boat because so many lay on the bottom trying to cough the sea water out of their lungs. Undoubtedly the foresight of the coxswain in electing to pick up swimming men saved several lives.

While we were thus engaged there came a heavy explosion aboard the Lexington that sent the amidship portion of the flight deck hurtling into the air. Flames burst thru. Immediately afterward came a blinding flash, a tremendous shock, and a billowing cloud of black smoke soaring skyward as the 1,000 pound bombs exploded. Bits of the steel deck and side plates showered the sea for hundreds of yards around, endangering all in the water and in the boats.

See That Every Man Got Off.

I later learned that Commander Seligman had just slid down a rope into the sea and Capt. Sherman was still on a rope when this explosion came. They had stayed to the last to see that every man got away.

Only a few minutes later the after tip of the flight deck was blasted away. Planes were tossed into the water when the torpedo warheads let go. Capt. Sherman and Commander Seligman were swimming to a cutter when this happened. Luckily they were not harmed by the débris that fell all around them and they were rescued.

It was almost dark when our boat reached the mother ship and unloaded. The whole length of the Lexington was ablaze as I climbed aboard the rescue cruiser. It was a fierce, white fire evidently consuming the 80,000 gallons of aviation fuel and million gallons of fuel oil from tanks now wide open.

Blast after blast rent the ship but she floated high and upright. A few small vessels poking among the débris around her for possible swimmers were ordered to leave her side.

A destroyer stood by to administer the finishing coup. This consisted of a salvo of four more heavy torpedoes delivered at close range. After their blasts had opened new holes the Lexington slowly filled with water and gradually, still upright, slid with a prolonged hiss beneath the water.

"She was a lady to the end," one of her officers exclaimed as the glow of her flames died away.

LONDON REPORTS NEW NAZI TERROR WAVE IN EUROPE

1,000 Seized in Warsaw; Jugo-Slavs Shot.

LONDON, June 17 (AP).—A growing wave of terror, with repressive measures of the Nazi conquerors increasing in savagery and ingenuity, was reported from many parts of occupied Europe tonight.

Reports reaching London gave this picture of the latest Nazi moves to make good their "new order" in Europe:

POLAND—More than 1,000 persons were arrested in Warsaw yesterday, the Polish government in exile announced, and were carried away, presumably, to join 5,000 others sent to Germany as slave laborers a few weeks ago.

Executions in Kharkov.

RUSSIA—Russians escaping from German held Kharkov, Ukrainian city, told of mass executions among suffering civilians who daily saw bodies of those who had died of starvation being carted to the city's outskirts.

JUGO-SLAVIA—Reports said 250 hostages were shot in a 10 day period during April in the German occupied part of Slovenia, in northern Jugo-Slavia.

Threaten Greek Hostages.

GREECE—German authorities published a warning that 30 hostages would be shot unless sabotage ceases, a Moscow dispatch said. Several hostages already have been reported slain.

NORWAY—Four hundred loyal Norwegian teachers who refused to bow to the Quisling régime now are toiling on wharves at Kirkenes, northern Norway, beside Russian prisoners of war. One hundred and sixty others were assigned to similar tasks at Elvenes.

BELGIUM—An unspecified number of peasants who refused to hand over their wheat were held as hostages in Liege province until sufficient wheat is delivered to meet requisitioning orders.

LATVIA, ESTONIA, AND LITHUANIA—All men of 21 to 29 have been called up for a year of labor service in Germany.

CANADIANS HIT BY 20 PCT. GAS CUT IN 3 PROVINCES

OTTAWA, Ont., June 17 (AP).—The government announced today a 20 per cent reduction of the gasoline ration in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, and British Columbia, but held out hopes of an increase shortly for the maritime provinces which recently suffered a drastic cut.

Munitions Minister C. D. Howe told the house of commons that effective tomorrow the ration unit for Quebec, Ontario, and British Columbia would be trimmed from five gallons to four. It remains at five gallons for Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. In the maritimes—Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island—it was reduced from five to two last month but Howe said it was hoped to raise it to three gallons.

Oil heating equipment in commercial and industrial buildings, apartment houses, hotels, institutions, and stores will not be allowed to use fuel oil after July 31, the minister said.

Commando Troops Can't Even Tell Girl Friends

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 17.—Strict disciplinary action will be taken against any one guilty of loose talk that may reveal commando secrets, it was reported today. An officer or soldier who notifies his girl friend that he has to cancel a date with her because there is "something on" will be regarded as guilty of a breach of military discipline, it was said. A commando officer was court martialed and cashiered yesterday for communicating information.

Heavy Fighting Rages in China

Japs Capture Another Station on Road.

CHUNGKING, China, June 17 (AP).—The Chinese tonight acknowledged the loss of Shangjao, an important station on the 450 mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, but declared heavy fighting was in progress in Kiangsi province, where two Japanese columns lack only about 50 miles of capturing the entire railroad.

The Chinese high command said Shangjao, 135 miles east of Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, and about 50 miles from the Chekiang-Kiangsi border, was abandoned Monday after an all-day battle in which the invaders suffered 8,000 casualties.

Changshan Recaptured.

Shangjao was occupied by the Japanese column which swept westward into Kiangsi province after beating down Chinese resistance in Chekiang.

[The Japanese said their column had moved on beyond Shangjao. The army which it is attempting to join marched eastward from Nanchang and is at Kweiki, 50 miles west of Shangjao, Domei news agency said.]

Attacking in the wake of the captors of Shangjao, the Chinese said the city of Changshan, on the Chekiang-Kiangsi border, was recaptured by the Chinese.

Strike at Jap Flanks.

The Chinese reports told of fighting south of Shangjao, southwest of Kweiki, and in central Kiangsi province as Chinese forces struck at the extended Japanese flanks.

The high command said one Japanese force of about 1,000 men was wiped out Sunday near Tengpu, but Japanese reënforcements were sent up and fighting continued.

In central China, meanwhile, the Chinese said they had recaptured the Yangtze river port of Hosueh, in Hupeh province, 24 hours after the Japanese took the city. The Japanese sought the port as a shipping center.

Japs Claim Capture of Dutch Guerrilla General

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 17.—The Japanese-controled Batavia radio announces the capture of Maj. Gen. A. Pesman, commanding one of the units of the Netherlands East Indies army defending part of western Java. Gen. Pesman, who commanded the plateau around Bandoeng before that city surrendered, has been made prisoner after three months of organized resistance. His capture does not mean that resistance in west Java has ended, as other generals commanding other units are still at large.

ARGENTINE STEAMER SAVES 2 U. S. FLYERS FORCED DOWN AT SEA

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, June 17 (AP).—The Argentine steamer Rio Segundo back-tracked for five days—1,000 miles—to land two United States navy men rescued by the ship from a plane forced down in the Atlantic ocean, the 10th naval district headquarters announced tonight.

The men were Ensign J. J. Tidmarsh of Milwaukee, the pilot, and Raymond G. Green, Freeport, N. Y., who were on a volunteer night flight when they were forced to land.

They spent the night tossing on stormy waves and radioing their position hourly. They had no assurance their messages were heard, but the next morning the Rio Segundo, bound for Buenos Aires, appeared. The flyers and their plane were taken aboard.

REVEAL HOW RAF BLASTED GERMAN U-BOAT CENTER

LONDON, June 17 (AP).—Germany's submarine construction center in Emden, the famous Nordsee Werke shipbuilding yards, was badly smashed by the royal air force in the heavy bombing of June 6, the air ministry announced today.

Photographic reconnaissance, it said, showed that one large shop was gutted; that another large shop was severely damaged by fire, and that nine smaller buildings and two large warehouses were demolished. The general picture was one of "large areas of destruction."

The RAF took another crack at the industrial Ruhr and Rhineland last night during a break in bad weather which had kept the bombers earthbound for a week. Eight bombers were reported missing from the night's operations, which included dropping of mines in enemy waters.

French Youth Condemned for Killing of Gendarme

VICHY, France, June 17 (AP).—Newspapers reported today that a 19 year old French youth named Grunberg has been condemned to death by a Paris court for killing a French policeman guarding a German army garage.

GERMANS HALTED AT BALACLAVA IN CRIMEA ASSAULT

6 Attacks on Sevastopol Highway Repulsed.

MOSCOW, June 17 (AP).—The fortifications of Sevastopol and historic, battered Balaclava presented an unbending defense tonight to the repeated attacks of Germany's greatest offensive against the last Russian ports to stand guard on the western Black sea.

Front line dispatches described six Nazi assaults against an important highway on the upper approaches to the Sevastopol naval base and five others against the southern defenses, and said the fury of the German attacks exceeded that of last November and December.

Kharkov Battle Favors Reds.

However, the Russians said they still held the highway and remained in possession of Balaclava, the fishing port seven and one-half miles south of Sevastopol where the British Light Brigade made its storied charge in 1854.

In the Ukraine, the second battle of Kharkov appeared to have turned in the Russian favor. The Germans were reported lagging in the attack and falling back from several new lines in the face of Red army counterattacks. German Field Marshal Fedor von Bock's forces appeared weakened by severe losses.

Sevastopol Fort Taken: Berlin.

BERLIN, June 17 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German and Rumanian siege armies around Sevastopol have "largely extended" their breaches in the Russian defense system and thrust deep new wedges into the fortified lines, but are meeting "bitter resistance and difficulties of terrain," the German high command asserted today.

Fort Siberia, an important defense bastion, was said to have been stormed this morning, and other strongly defended heights and fortifications were reported captured.

A communique said soviet forces were attacking along the Volkhov river and in the battle zone south of Lake Ilmen, but declared that these thrusts were unsuccessful.

A 3,000 ton merchant ship was reported sunk by bombs in the harbor of Jokoga on Russia's Arctic coast.

GERMANY 'SORRY' U-BOAT ATTACKED ARGENTINE SHIP

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 17 (AP).—Germany has informed Argentina that a German submarine torpedoed the Argentina tanker Victoria, damaged two months ago off the coast of the United States, but added that the attack was an error, it was announced today.

The German admission was in reply to an Argentine note of protest.

The 12,500 ton Victoria was hit April 17 off Cape Hatteras and abandoned by her crew but later was reboarded and brought to port. The foreign office announced that Berlin expressed "profound regret" over the attack and expressed readiness to indemnify Argentina for all damage.

"England as I Saw It" will be the subject of a talk to be given before the Kiwanis club in Hotel Sherman today by Col. G. Walter Peacock, chief secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada, Newfoundland, Bermuda, and Alaska. He was in England during much of the aerial attacks.

NEWS ANALYST TERMS KNOX'S PREDICTION OF JAP FOLDUP STUPID

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox's contention that if Hitler is whipped Japan will just fold up was termed stupid yesterday by Clifton Utley, radio commentator and news analyst.

The indictment was made at a luncheon meeting of the officers and divisional chairmen of United China Relief at the Chicago club. Utley and Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation and national chairman of the relief society, were the principal speakers.

Hoffman, in his speech, said that one way to keep Chinese morale high successfully is to complete the current relief drive for seven million dollars by July 7, the fifth anniversary of the Chino-Japanese war.

He announced that Chicago's quota, originally set at $700,000, has been reduced to $420,000, of which approximately $300,000 has already been contributed.

CANADA RAISES DRAFT AGE TO 35 FOR SINGLE MEN

OTTAWA, Ont., June 17 (AP).—Canada raised from 30 to 35 today the age for single men and childless widowers subject to compulsory military training under the national act for service in the dominion and its territorial waters.

The proclamation was announced in the house of commons by Joseph T. Thorson, minister of war services. The next step is expected to be the drafrting of married men, starting with those who were 21 and married in July, 1940.

An amendment to remove the restriction against using conscripted men outside of Canada now is being debated in parliament. Thorson said that introduction of conscription for overseas service at present would be harmful to the war effort. He said care should be taken to maintain a proper balance between the armed forces and other essential war services. There are three primary objectives in Canada's total war effort, he said: The production of materials of war, production of food, and the raising and equipping of the armed forces.

AXIS SUB SINKS TWO MORE SHIPS IN CARIBBEAN

Panama, Honduras Boats Blasted; 41 Killed.

The sinking of two more merchant ships, one Panamanian, the other Honduran, in the Caribbean sea by an axis submarine was announced yesterday by the navy, bringing to 245 the number of ships sunk in American waters since the attack on Pearl Harbor. In these attacks, 1,464 persons have been reported killed, 1,604 missing and believed dead, and 7,963 rescued.

41 KILLED IN 2 ATTACKS

An East Coast Port, June 17 (AP).—A naval craft has reached port with 54 survivors from two merchant vessels—one Honduran and one Panamanian—sunk in the Caribbean, both apparently victims of the same axis submarine.

Forty-one seamen, including two members of the navy gun crew of one of them, were killed in the attacks.

The first victim, a medium sized ship flying the flag of Panama, was sunk May 31, with a known loss of 17 men. Nineteen others clung to three rafts for nearly two weeks before being found by a navy patrol plane, which directed the rescuers to them. Hope was held out for seven more on a fourth raft not immediately located.

See Clover Leaf Device.

The survivors from the second ship, 35 in number, drifted on rafts for six days after 24 of the crew were lost in the torpedoing June 6. The dead members of the gun crew were both from this ship, which flew the Honduran flag.

Survivors from each ship said that the raider had a device like a clover leaf on the conning tower.

In each instance the merchantman sank almost immediately after being struck by a single torpedo. Neither vessel had time to break away lifeboats and all men below decks were lost, the survivors reported. Both skippers went down with their ships.

14 LAND IN CANADA

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, June 17 (AP).—Fourteen survivors from an unidentified allied merchantman landed here today. They refused to discuss the details of the torpedoing of their ship, but it was learned that one of the crew died aboard a rescue craft.

SHIP DODGES 6 TORPEDOES

New Orleans, La., June 17 (AP).—A frustrated submarine commander fruitlessly fired six torpedoes at a medium sized cargo vessel in the central Gulf of Mexico early May 12, but Capt. Peter Joseph Sigona and his crew of 37 kept the vessel from being hit.

The story was announced by 8th naval district headquarters.

During the running attack the submarine unloosed five torpedoes in one salvo, the ship escaping all except one which struck a glancing blow and proceeded without exploding.

NAZI-TURK AMITY PACT LAUDED BY TURKISH ENVOY

BERLIN, June 17 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Turkish and German amity is a traditional friendship based on historical and geopolitical considerations, Huesrev Gerede, Turkish ambassador to Berlin, declared tonight on the eve of the first anniversary of the Turkish-German 10 year friendship pact.

The pact, signed last June 18 in Ankara, bound Turkey and Germany to respect each other's territorial integrity and to take no direct or indirect measures aimed at the other.

Says U. S. Landings Planned.

BERNE, Switzerland, June 17.—Commenting on the emergency landings on Turkish soil of American bombers, a spokesman of the German foreign office today declared that the violation of Turkish sovereignty was not accidental, but that it must be considered and treated as an integral part of the strategy and military plans of the allied powers.

A dispatch from Ankara said that Turkish quarters believe it represented an attempt on the part of the United States to confront Turkey with an accomplished fact which would serve as a precedent in the future for further violations of Turkish territory by American planes.

REPORTS FISHING BOATS CONTACT U-BOATS OFF U. S.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 17 (AP).—Rear Adm. Robert R. Waesche, commandant of the coast guard, disclosed today that some pleasure and fishing craft had made contact with enemy submarines.

Replying to a protest by the Atlantic City Tuna club against the 12 mile ocean limit for sport and commercial boats, Adm. Waesche said in Washington:

"It has been our policy to play ball as far as possible with pleasure and fishing craft without jeopardizing the national interest, but we must make sure that no contact is made with enemy submarines."

FRANCE RUMBLES WITH DISCONTENT, PETAIN ADMITS

VICHY, France, June 17 (AP).—Marshal Petain, France's aged chief of state, acknowledged on this second anniversary of his suit for the armistice with Germany that "discontent is growing . . . anger is rumbling" in France.

He appealed to Frenchmen to be patient and hopeful in the face of "all-too-real deficiencies of the state." Of these, he said he was aware, as he was of the unrest for which he blamed in part individual citizens.

But he held out no promises of measures to allay conditions causing discontent; nor did he comment on the interantional situation or French politics.

"Chase doubt out of your spirits, dear friends, and, if you can, banish bitter criticism from it, too," he pleaded. "Think of the chief who loves you and who for your sakes still stands up under the storm."

PRESIDENT SIGNS BILL EXTENDING RULE OVER SHIPS

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed an omnibus measure today extending all wartime emergency maritime powers for the duration of the war and six months thereafter.

Congressional committees were told that the broad authority over merchant ships is vital to the wartime program for ship construction and control of ocean shipping. The acts are administered by the maritime commission and the administrator of war shipping.

Among the numerous powers extended were authority to enforce priorities on all ocean shipping and port facilities; to charter, purchase or requisition any idle foreign shipping in ports of this country; to negotiate for charter or construction of ships without competitive bidding; to determine subsidies, hours of labor and overtime wages on ships; and to dispose of charter vessels under terms of lend-lease or other acts.

The original measure included authority to extend government insurance on ships and cargoes, but this was passed previously by congress as a separate measure in order to speed action.

PROTEST ARMY'S SNUB TO CIVILIAN PILOT SCHOOLS

Key Offficers Blamed for Lag in Training.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Failure of the army to make substantial use of civilian pilot training facilities is arousing indignation in Washington and thruout the country, American Aviation Daily, spokesman for the airplane industry, charged today.

Indignation is heightened by the fact that the army is spending 312 million dollars on building several dozen elaborate new training facilities while existing commercial airports, training planes, and instructors are almost idle. Congressmen are receiving complaints from air minded constituents who are demanding that the army planners explain why new facilities must be built while existing ones are available.

Recruits Kept Waiting.

In the meantime, it was said, pilots are not being turned out as rapidly as they could be if civilian facilities were employed. The army is recruiting thousands of pilots. Instead of being given immediate training, it was said, the recruits must be furloughed and wait for months until they are assigned even to preliminary flight training. Some recruits have been waiting since January.

The army on March 12 announced plans for training 45,000 precombat pilots during the year with civilian pilot training facilities. Within the last 30 days the figure has been revised downward to 13,350 despite previous understandings with the Civil Aeronautics administration.

The American Aviation Daily blamed "a few key army officers" for the failure to use the civilian pilot facilities, stating that this is the opinion in congressional circles.

CAA Offers Facilities.

The Civil Aeronautics administration has offered its full facilities to military authorities and has urged full use of the facilities by army and navy. Only recently has the navy shown any interest in use of such facilities.

According to data secured by members of congress, the CAA estimates that present civilian facilities can turn out 180,000 pilots a year. Present training is about 27,000 pilots a year or only 15 per cent of capacity.

Present military and naval facilities are estimated capable of producing 65,000 to 70,000 combat pilots a year. Aircraft production quotas call for almost that many planes this year and double the number in 1943 so that pilot training facilities must move rapidly if enough pilots are to be provided.

Ignore Commercial Airports.

The pilot training facilities the army is building cost from 3 to 5 million dollars each and make no use of existing commercial airports and hangars. They will not begin turning out pilots until late this year or early next year.

The CAA has a network of 538 operators offering various types of training. A survey by the Aviation Daily disclosed that 2,650 planes of various civil types are being used for civilian pilot instruction and 12,900 similar planes are available but are not being used because of the narrowmindedness of key army officers.

The navy has arranged for civilian pilot training of 20,000 pilots. This with the army's 13,350 primary trainees will use less than one-fourth the CPT program's total facilities, the Aviation Daily said.

King Peter to Visit F. D. R.; George Leaves

N. Y. Fetes Greek

New York, June 17 [Special].—King George II. of Greece today received New York City's official welcome and a tribute to the stanch stand of his little country against the axis.

The monarch, wearing his khaki uniform as a general of the Hellenic armies, lunched with Mayor Fiorello La Guardia at Gracie mansion, the first royal guest at the city mayor's new official residence.

Previously, 25 motorcycles had escorted the king's party from the Waldorf-Astoria to the city hall, where the monarch was greeted by some 200 notables.

Late in the afternoon Columbia university ceremoniously conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws on the king at a special convocation. Tonight, King George was the dinner guest of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia, in Dr. Butler's home.

CAA RELEASES RULES FOR PILOT LICENSE ANNUAL INDORSEMENT

Persons holding private and commercial flying licenses under the Civil Aeronautics authority are now required only to pass a physical examination each year in order to retain their ratings, the CAA announced here yesterday. Previously, the holder of a private license had to prove 15 hours of solo flying time every year to retain his license, and the holder of a commercial license needed 10 hours each six months.

Joseph F. Read, chief general inspector for the CAA in the 3d region, said there are approximately 34,000 licensed civilian pilots in the region, which covers Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, North Dakota, and Kentucky.

A civilian pilot who is licensed to solo but has not flown in six months is required to make five takeoffs and five landings with a licensed pilot of private grade or higher before taking up a plane alone. If the civilian holds a private license, which permits carrying passengers, but has not flown in the preceding three months, he also must do five takeoffs and landings with a licensed private pilot or pilot of higher grade. The same rule applies to commercial license holders.

F. D. R. GIVES WAR COUNCIL PICTURE OF U. S. SUCCESSES

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt today gave the Pacific war council what members described as an "encouraging" picture of American successes against the Japanese, including a review of operations in the Aleutian Islands.

Those who attended the meeting declined to reveal what Mr. Roosevelt had to say about the struggle among the barren islands stretching out from Alaska, and the navy and war departments likewise were silent.

Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, told reporters that Mr. Roosevelt had reviewed "what had been happening up at the Aleutian Islands," and said that "what the United States forces have done to the Jap naval forces is encouraging."

Walter Nash, New Zealand minister, agreed that there appeared to be grounds for encouragement in the Pacific situation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—His Majesty Peter II., king of Jugo-Slavia, will visit the United States shortly as the guest of this government, on the invitation of the President, the state department announced tonight. His majesty will pass his first evening in Washington at the White House, where a dinner will be given in his honor.

Dinners will also be tendered the king by the secretary of state and the minister of Jugo-Slavia. After the king's stay in Washington he will visit war industries, and then proceed to New York City.

Engaged to Princess.

LONDON, June 17 (AP).—The British Press association said today that an official announcement of the engagement of King Peter of Jugo-Slavia and Princess Alexandra of Greece will not be long delayed, according to quarters in close touch with both royal families.

The exiled Jugo-Slav king is 18. The princess, daughter of the late King Alexander and niece of King George II. of Greece, is 21. The press association said the couple became attracted to each other at Cambridge, where the king is a student and the princess a nurse.

GIVE UP INDIAN RULE, BRITAIN IS URGED BY NEHRU

[By Wireless to The New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, June 17. — Agreement with Mohandas K. Ghandi was expressed today by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru when he said at a press conference that the British should be asked "to withdraw from India." The leader of the All-India Congress party, however, qualified this statement by saying it did not mean the British as individuals should go, but meant a transfer of political power to India.

Altho he did not expect the present British government to do this in the near future, he said that "we shall carry on in our own way," adding:

"The defense of India primarily is an Indian concern; a free India would ally herself with those who would help her in such defense. Japan and the group of powers with which Japan is associated are reactionary and represent a social philosophy which is exceedingly wrong and dangerous."

Windsors Embrace

New York, June 17 [Special].—With a hearty "Hello, darling!" to his duchess, the duke of Windsor stepped from a navy plane at New York Municipal airport in midafternoon today. He had come from Washington, where he had conferred with President Roosevelt.

As the couple embraced, a crowd of some 100 spectators broke into cheers. The duke and duchess mingled with them, then left for the suite which the duchess has been occupying at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

The ex-British monarch, now governor-general of the Bahamas, was accompanied by Sidney Farrington, Bahamas official.

Soon after checking in at the Waldorf the duke left to keep a business appointment. The duchess, in company with Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, visited the Stage Door canteen, where members of the armed forces are entertained. On duty as senior hostess was Actress Helen Hayes, who was meeting the duchess for the first time. The duchess signed her autograph several times, but when one soldier asked for a dance she replied: "I'm terribly sorry."

U. S. TURNING OUT MOST EFFICIENT FLYERS IN WORLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Army, navy, and marine pilots will be the most efficient and daring fighters in the air under the revised mass training programs now under way in the services, military officials said today.

Warplane pilot training in this country is now the most intensive, rigorous, and comprehensive program of physical and mental development ever attempted anywhere, according to the war and navy departments. The program is designed to surpass in months what the Nazi air force accomplished in years.

Toughening up of navy flying cadets includes pick and shovel labor, 40 mile marches between dawn and dusk, hand to hand combat instruction, and other rigorous conditioners. Some 2,500 cadets will get this training every month, along with routine academic, tactical, and military courses.

Four Universities Used.

The navy has taken over the facilities of four universities as ground schools. They are the Universities of Georgia, Iowa, and North Carolina and St. Mary's at Monrovia, Cal. Each will accommodate about 625 candidates each month.

Following the conditioning and air courses, the cadets will receive instruction in naval history and customs, military drill, and seamanship, and training in communications, ordnance, and like specialties. Only 30 minutes of leisure is given the cadet each day between the hours of 6 a. m. and 9 p. m., in addition to time provided for meals and study.

The pilot will be expected to be able to fight on land and sea as well as in the air.

Learn to Dish It Out.

Army and marine conditioning training is similar to that of the navy and is designed to develop men who can dish it out or take it.

An important phase of the army's air corps training program is to weld groups of 5 to 10 young men into combat teams to man bombers and larger fighter planes.

The first of the combat team centers were established at MacDill Field, Fla., and Barkdale Field, La. The centers receive newly commissioned pilots, navigators, bombardiers and such enlisted personnel as flight engineers, radio men and aerial gunners.

ITALY DISCUSSES HOW TO PURGE FASCIST PARTY OF 'BALLAST'

New York, June 17 (AP).—The German radio reported today that lively discussions were under way in Italy on the question of purging the Fascist party of members who are mere "ballast."

It said the matter was first broached by the Italian minister of education and had been taken up by the leading Fascist monthly magazine Gerarchia, which said the party was "full of people who joined it without inner conviction" and that mass admission had "proved only too often a burden."

Gerarchia was quoted as suggesting that "ballast" members be excluded and that only the best individuals of the youth organization be admitted.

ASSAILS POWERS OF BUROCRATS AS WORST U. S. PERIL

Rep. Landis Asserts 'Way of Life' in Danger.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—This nation's greatest internal weakness lies in the tremendous power which burocrats wield over the American people—an issue which must be settled at the polls in November—Rep. Gerald W. Landis [R., Ind.], told the house today.

Rep. G. W. Landis.

"Under our present administration, America faces a new world order," he said. "The burocrats in Washington insist on lowering the American standard of living. We must face the facts and lay plans on how best to meet the issue. No elected official or appointed burocrat has the right to abolish that for which millions of Americans are fighting.

Most Important Election.

"This year we are entering the most important congressional campaign in our time. Congress is the keystone of representative government. It is the last remaining citadel in America against the dictatorship of politicians posing as welfare workers at home and world savers abroad.

"There is a danger demanding immediate action. Naziism, fascism, communism, and Japanese imperialism are enemies of our ideals and institutions. We know there are numerous Japanese, German, Italian, and communist agents in this country under orders from abroad.

"Operating behind false fronts of high sounding patriotic names, they frequently do all they can to create disunity and to spread confusion by the distribution of false information and vicious slander.

"We have coddled subversive groups too long in this country. Millions of pages of totalitarian and communistic propaganda are being circulated in the United States. This propaganda will develop religious, racial, and class hatred between groups of our citizens. This is a direct attack upon the American form of government.

Demands Patriotic Leadership.

"If we are to preserve our liberty and continue to go forward, we must have the right kind of leadership to meet the challenge from across the seas. Real Americans must be placed on guard. America has no place for an individual who places any other flag, constitution or way of life above our own.

"There are radical writers and propagandists thruout our nation who are trying to destroy the things for which our flag stands. It is our duty to unite to curb these subversive individuals."

Government Rations Beverage Bottle Tops to Conserve Metal

Brewers among those limited to less cap metal than was used last year

Washington—Due to the demands of war industry, even the humble bottle top is on the rationed list! From June 1st on, as provided in the latest order of the Industry Division of the War Production Board, brewers will have to get along with fewer caps than last year.

The new order comes from the same Government division that sent the country's ale and beer cans "off to war" some weeks ago.

With the can gone, and no more tin for bottle tops, the brewers have been capping their bottles with black plate, a light sheet steel. It's this metal that's now been rationed by WPB.

But the beer bottle is in little danger of becoming a wartime casualty, authorities say. The brewers are making a little metal go a long way, by using an even lighter plate for their "caps," and by sending more of their product to market in quart bottles.

Reminding us that there are thirty-two ounces in the quart bottle, as compared with the twelve ounces in the standard bottle, industry leaders point out that the consumer who buys the quart helps make one top do the work of three.

Carl W. Badenhausen, head of P. Ballantine & Sons, adds a comforting note . . . "There's not as much bad news in this rationing order as you might think. War or no war, the quart is a more economical bottle for the consumer.

"For some time past, millions have been buying it by preference, because it saves them money. It's more convenient to carry than three small bottles, and it makes entertaining easy and economical. The quart bottle is a five-glass bottle, and in many cities our quart bottle outsells the standard smaller size."

Report New RFC Agency Will Buy Hoard.

Scrap rubber collection moved forward yesterday in the third day of the 16 day government drive as gasoline filling stations reported average accumulations of 300 pounds and officials mobilized thousands of new volunteers to aid in the program.

Altho the rubber was accumulating steadily, the Chicago loan agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation had not yet received instructions on how to buy the scrap from collection points.

Expect New Agency to Buy.

Frank M. Murchison, manager of the loan agency, said he understood a new subsidiary, the Rubber Recovery corporation, had been formed as an offspring of the RFC but that he had received no bulletin directing him to authorize any purchases.

Meanwhile, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana said its west side bulk plant had accumulated 65 tons collected from filling stations.

James C. Hoskins, president of the Hoskins Coal and Dock corporation, had a mound of rubber collected in his coal yard. The scrap had been gathered by his trucks after delivering coal to large loop office buildings and hotels.

Edward Butz, an attendant at a station at 1333 West North avenue, reported he has received about two tons, most of it coming from an old rubber heap in the 1100 block on North avenue, where men, women, and children were still digging into the débris last night. The "rubber mine" was discovered Monday, and several hundred tons of rubber are reported to have been removed in carts, wagons, trucks, and other conveyances.

Store Is a Rubber Tree.

A strange contribution to the rubber drive came from Morry Finkelstein, owner of a tire store at 1410 West Randolph street. With the aid of firemen of hook and ladder company No. 39 under Capt. Eugene Freemon, he harvested 35 tires weighing about 600 pounds from the face of the three story building where his store is located.

The tires had been nailed to the building as a display. Finkelstein needed a long ladder to remove them. The firemen obliged. He sent the American Red Cross a $6 check for the rubber, the price he will get for it as scrap.

Chicago dealers have sold about 2,500 tons of rubber scrap to the Rubber Reserve corporation, an RFC subsidiary, Frank Phillips, chairman of the petroleum industries committee for District 2, embracing 15 midwestern states, reported. This rubber did not include collections from the current salvage drive.

U. S. TAKES DARE, SEIZES 200 TONS OF SCRAP HOARD

Clinton, Ia., June 17 (AP).—The federal government today took over the A. O. Schaffer A to Z Wrecking yard here and requisitioned an estimated 200 tons of iron, steel and rubber scrap.

Eugene L. Dunne, Chicago field representative of the automobile graveyard section of the Office for Emergency Management, said Schaffer had refused to sell the scrap and had "dared" the government to requisition it.

Dunne and James J. Gillespie, United States marshal at Des Moines, took over the yard, covering about three city blocks. Included in the seized scrap were about 190 automobiles, some completely assembled, and about 50 tons of loose scrap. Dunne said Schaffer claimed he had intended to sell the automobiles as used cars.

The OEM in a press release said this was the second federal requisition in the middle west. One hundred tons of scrap metal were seized at Valparaiso, Ind., March 13.

MAYOR AND WIFE BOTH IN HOSPITAL WITH BAD COLDS

Both Mayor Kelly and Mrs. Kelly are confined to the Passavant hospital because of severe colds. Mrs. Kelly was ordered to the hospital Sunday by her physician, who feared that she might again contract pneumonia, from which she suffered last winter. The mayor entered the hospital Monday, after reviewing the United Nations' day parade all day Sunday. Yesterday he left long enough to preside at the city council meeting and then returned "for observation." He said he expected to remain three or four days.

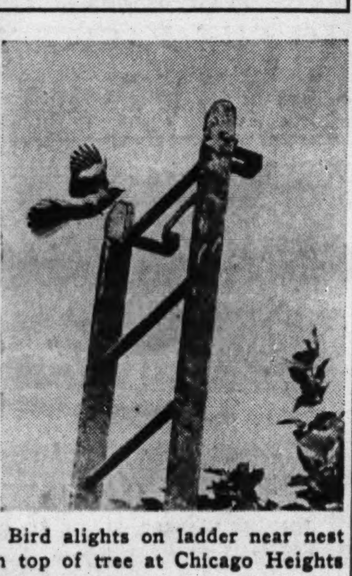
Mocking Bird?



Bird alights on ladder near nest in top of tree at Chicago Heights Country club.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

The nest found in the treetop with four tiny birds inside. They are believed to be mocking birds.

Members of the Chicago Heights Country club, 11th street and Scott avenue, Chicago Heights, have been hosts for the last six years to two pairs of what are believed to be adult mocking birds and—eventually—their families. Elson H. Whitacre, 1427 Schiller avenue, Chicago Heights, a club member, yesterday found one of the nests in the middle of a wild crabapple tree and in it four tiny birds. The mocking bird rarely is found in the Chicago area.

SUGAR RATIONING PUT ON MONTHLY BASIS OF 2 LBS.

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—The Office of Price administration announced tonight that the value of sugar ration stamps Nos. 5 and 6 has been increased to two pounds each—but that each stamp will cover a period of a month instead of two weeks, continuing the weekly ration to each consumer at half a pound.

OPA explained that stamp No. 4, now valid for the purchase of a pound of sugar, will expire at midnight June 27. The next stamp, good for two pounds, may be used at any time thereafter until midnight July 25, whereupon stamp No. 6 will become valid until Aug. 22.

Sometime before Aug. 22 OPA will announce the period to be covered by other stamps in the ration books.

Ration stamps numbered from 1 to 4 each permitted purchase of one pound of sugar and covered a two week period. OPA offered no official explanation for the extension to a month, but it was evident that the move will reduce the number of stamps which grocers will have to handle.

Effective Saturday, institutional and industrial users may obtain sugar allowances for a two month period, instead of the one month now permitted.

ASK PROSECUTOR TO PROBE CICERO SCHOOLS' BUYING

A delegation of 29 women and one man, representing Parent-Teacher groups in Cicero, called upon the state's attorney's office yesterday and asked an investigation of alleged irregularities in the purchase of Cicero school equipment.

They said they had information that the Cicero school board had purchased several hundred school desks at a price considerably higher than the one originally agreed upon.

Assistant State's Attorney C. Vernon Thompson, who heard the complaint, requested the committee to submit any documentary proof it might have by Saturday, and this the group promised to do.

NATIONAL DRIVE TO SALVAGE FAT BEGINS IN JULY

Illinois Collects 50,000 Pounds Weekly.

A drive to salvage fats and oils from the nation's kitchens was announced in Washington yesterday coincidental with the announcement that Illinois, which has had such a campaign under way for months, is now collecting about 50,000 pounds weekly.

The nation-wide drive will begin next month. Fats are used to make glycerine, an important factor in explosives manufacture.

Ben Regan, executive secretary of the Illinois salvage branch of the War Production board, said yesterday that the fats and oil drive in Chicago was started by Mayor Kelly, with the aid of Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of Wilson & Co., packers, and chairman of the household fats conservation committee of the Chicago commission on national defense.

Scouts Aid in Collections.

The project later spread thruout the state and became incorporated in the WPB salvage program. In Chicago Boy Scouts have been aiding the program by making Saturday morning collections from house to house.

Charles W. Kaiser, secretary of the Retail Meat Dealers' Association of Chicago, said yesterday that the great majority of that group's 1,000 members are coöperating in the campaign and that all Chicago housewives should be able to find meat markets near their homes which will take the fats.

Kaiser said also that the Chicago Butchers Calfskin association, of which he is secretary, has been picking up the salvaged fats from dealers and turning it over to renderers.

Asks Report on Refusals.

Darling & Co., 4201 South Ashland avenue, is perhaps the largest firm taking the fats and oil over from the butchers, and George Parker, an official of that firm, said he would like to learn of any shops refusing to accept fats saved by housewives, or of any person unable to dispose of the fats.

TRIBUNE reporters canvassed 15 Chicago butcher shops and about 20 in the suburbs, and found that all are coöperating in the campaign. One big Oak Park dealer, with two shops, said they have collected about 1,200 pounds of oils and fat since the drive began. Collections at the other shops vary from 10 to 100 pounds weekly.

The dealers say that they expect the amounts turned in to increase as more housewives learn of the drive, altho most of the shops have signs telling of it posted prominently.

RUBBER DEALERS' STOCKS TO BOOST SCRAP CAMPAIGN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—The War Production board's bureau of industrial conservation announced today that returns from President Roosevelt's rubber collection campaign will be swelled by scrap dealers thruout the country selling their complete inventories to the government during the two weeks period.

The announcement said the bureau has requested dealers holding large tonnages to sell their inventories at this time. Officials said that prompt responses show that dealers are not hoarding.

On President Roosevelt's idea that American motorists strip the rubber floor mats from their automobiles, WPB experts said these mats are made of reclaimed rubber, and that while they could be reprocessed for some uses, the quality would not be satisfactory for retreading tires.

Father of 3 Requests 1-A Draft Rating, and Gets It

Anton Yaris, 36 years old, married, and the father of three small sons, was too young to serve in the World war, but he doesn't want to miss this one. Yaris who lives at 1843 North Fairfield avenue, yesterday asked his draft board, local 126, to reclassify him as 1-A. His wife, Eleanor, 28, who is working in a defense industry, signed a dependency waiver. The board then decided he would be reclassified and inducted if he passed the physical examinations.

CANADA WILL START SUGAR RATIONING BY COUPON ON JULY 1

OTTAWA, Ont., June 17 (AP).—Sugar rationing by coupon instead of under the present voluntary system will take effect in Canada on July 1, Donald Gordon, wartime prices and trade board chairman, said tonight in a radio talk outlining plans for the new scheme. The present individual allowance of one-half pound of sugar each week for each individual will be continued. Gordon said the board has not decided to ration any other commodities. The first sugar coupon books will be for a 10 week period.

NEW ORDINANCE ON JUNK BUYING TO BE AMENDED

The city council yesterday returned to the license committee a proposed ordinance which would require junkyard owners to record names and addresses of those from whom they purchase metal. The ordinance also would require the dealers to hold such metal three days before offering it for resale. The metal would be subject to police inspection at any time.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] as spokesman for the license committee which recommended the ordinance said it would protect the public from having metal stolen and sold to junk dealers.

Ald. A. H. Cohen [4th] and Ald. Fred Fischman [24th] protested that the ordinance discriminated against one particular type of business. Mayor Kelly said he believed it should be rewritten to apply to all types of business which buy materials from the public. The ordinance was returned to the committee to be amended.

$150,000 OFFER TO SETTLE TAX SUIT DEFERRED

The county board yesterday deferred action on an offer by the Midland Building corporation, 168 West Adams street, to pay $150,000 to clean up $704,901 in past due taxes and penalties thru a voluntary tax foreclosure sale. The bid is 21 per cent of the amount due.

County Commissioner Maurice F. Kavanagh moved that the bid be rejected and that the county foreclose and take over the building, but action on the motion was deferred until Monday.

Barre Blumenthal, attorney for the building, told the board that in the last 11 years the total net income on the property has amounted to $239,295, and that $170,000 has been applied on taxes.

ARMY'S CLOCKS PLACED ON REAL 24 HOUR BASIS

New System Drops A. M., P. M. Designations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—The war department today announced the adoption of the 24 hour clock time system, suitable for world wide warfare, already in use in the navy for all official dispatches, orders, and reports. The new time system will go into effect at midnight, June 30.

Time is expressed under the 24 hour clock system in a group of four digits, running from 0000 to 2400, representing the 24 hours from midnight to midnight.

The first two figures of the four digit serial indicate the hours after midnight and the remaining two figures indicate the minutes past the hour. For example, 0625 stands for 6:25 a. m., 12 noon would be expressed 1200, and 2 p. m. would be expressed 1400.

Dates Given Two Ways.

The date may be expressed in combination with the hour in one of two ways. For the current month the day may be indicated by preceding the four figure time group with a two figure date group, as 080600—the eighth day of the month, time, 6:00 a. m.

The time, day, month, and year may be expressed as 2230 June 25, 1942, the time, in this case being 10:30 p. m.

Z Stands for Greenwich.

Greenwich civil time will be used in the heading and text of all messages and orders from the war department.

Greenwich time also will be used between headquarters not having a common local time. All Greenwich civil time readings will be designated by the letter Z at the end of the time group reading.

MACLEISH TELLS JUST WHEN IT'S O. K. TO CRITICIZE

Assails The Tribune for Exercising Right.

Criticizing the government is a free man's right, Archibald MacLeish, one time poet and latterly a New Deal propagandist as head of the Office of Facts and Figures, said here last night. He qualified the kind of criticism he likes to hear. As in others of his recent speeches, he again made THE TRIBUNE and its editor the target of his abuse.

MacLeish talked at the midyear convention dinner of the National Retail Dry Goods association in the Palmer House. He told these business people that the "inalienable American right" to "cuss the government" would be the last right that most people would willingly surrender. Then he criticized THE TRIBUNE for exercising it.

Charges Decencies Violated.

MacLeish asserted that THE TRIBUNE and its editor are "pumping out a vast and costly propaganda aimed to persuade the people to hate and fear their government and their President," and "are violating the basic decencies of a free man's world."

He scoffed at any who would take the stand that "the McCormick family is doing nothing more than exercise the sacred right to 'criticize.'" The people, he continued, know all about criticism.

"And they know," MacLeish added, "where the one [criticism] ends and the other [propaganda against the government] begins. Criticism in a free man's country is made on certain assumptions, one of which is the assumption that the government belongs to the people and is at all times subject to the people's correction and criticism — correction and criticism such as a man gives, and should give, those who represent him and undertake to act on his behalf.

Proper and Improper Criticism.

"Criticism of the government made upon that basis is proper criticism no matter how abusive. But abuse of a representative government made not upon that assumption but upon the assumption that the government is one thing and the people another—that the President is one thing and the people who elected the President another — abuse of a representative government made with the implication that the government is something outside the people, or opposed to the people, something the people should fear and hate—abuse of that kind is not 'criticism' and no amount of editorial self-justification can make it sound as tho it were. It is a harmful propaganda."

Congress and the men he identified as "the alleged burocracy"—figures such as Donald Nelson, Rear Adm. Emory S. Land and Leon Henderson, the price czar—came in for praise by MacLeish, in what some of his listeners thought was an effort to butter up to the national legislators who have been unusually critical of the burocrats lately.

Description of "Burocrat."

On the "burocrats," MacLeish demanded: "Is a man a burocrat who starts his conferences at half past 6 in the morning and ends them well after midnight at a salary an assistant treasurer would sniff at and nothing ahead but more of the same for a long time coming?"

Finally there was a description of Washington itself, not as "a foreign, burocratic Washington, hostile to the people of this country," but as "a city filled with American citizens . . . gone to work at low pay in the worst climate on the continent with no more hope or expectation of recognition or reward than a stevedore has on the night shift."

Called a Fellow Traveler.

Mr. MacLeish's appointment to the $10,000 post as librarian of congress was bitterly opposed by professional librarians who said he knew little or nothing about the job. But the radical intellectuals found the appointment cause for rejoicing.

His leftist affiliations were brought sharply to the fore in 1937 when he was elected vice president of the League of American Writers, an outgrowth of the League of Revolutionary Writers and a front organization for communists. When Earl Browder was the guest speaker at the league's convention that year, MacLeish introduced him.

In 1939 Rep. J. Parnell Thomas [Rep., N. J.], a member of the Dies committee, called MacLeish a "ranking fellow traveler." Last March a leading light in MacLeish's Office of Facts and Figures, Malcolm Cowley, was forced to resign after the Dies committee revealed he had 72 different connections with the Communist party.

Sues for Divorce

JANICE DEELY.

San Antonio, Tex., June 17 (AP).—Janice Jarrett Deely, once known as the most photographed model in the world, has filed suit for divorce from John T. Deeley, utility company engineer whom she married March 9, 1939. Her petition charged cruelty. In 1937 she broke an engagement to wed Melvin Purvis, former FBI agent who gained fame in the slaying of John Dillinger.

EX-CHILD BRIDE EDGES MATTIE FROM SPOTLIGHT

illness was made by the defense attorneys, former State Sen. Oscar L. McMahan, W. J. Barron, and Ray H. Jenkins. They had him wheeled in on a cot, bundled to his ears on a blistering June day in an orchid and white blanket.

He's "Reasonable Creature."

Sherman pushed the blanket back and beamed when he was described as "a reasonable creature." This was no reference to his shooting habits. A "reasonable creature" is what defendants are called in Tennessee murder indictments, according to C. Frank Davis, county attorney.

Five hundred men had been summoned for jury duty. "Now be quiet," the judge admonished them philosophically when he prepared to give them the oath, "otherwise you won't know what you're swearing to."

"Anyone formed an opinion?" he asked the 500.

"I have," came the reply from 400 voices.

"I don't know which one of you that was," the judge said, while the crowd roared.

Wouldn't Give Fair Trial.

"Can you and would you give this man a fair trial?" the prosecutor, Walter Gray, asked one prospective juror.

"No sir, I wouldn't," the man answered.

"I thought you told me you could," said the judge.

"I could but I wouldn't," the man explained.

A. T. Drinnon, an attorney known hereabouts as a powerful avenger, played the same rôle today that he played yesterday in Mattie Pearl's trial. He was a special assistant of the prosecutor, hired by the victim's kinsmen. His work yesterday was paid for by Mattie Pearl's father-in-law.

WILLKIE DOUBTS HE EVER AGAIN WILL SEEK OFFICE

New York, June 17 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential candidate in 1940, tonight declared: "I doubt if I ever will aspire to public office again." He made the declaration in an address at a dinner in honor of United States Sen. Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.], an all-Democratic affair.

"There are some things in which I am so greatly interested that I don't want to see their advocacy tinged with self-interest," Willkie declared. His voice was noticeably hoarse.

He made the observation that he was "getting old and fat" and added that because of the causes in which he is interested he will never miss an opportunity to declare himself "in favor of their preservation."

DAVIS ASSAILS NAZIS IN FIRST PRESS RELEASE

Takes Over Newest U. S. Publicity Agency.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Elmer Davis, radio broadcaster, went to work today as chief of the new Office of War Information, created by President Roosevelt on Saturday night, as boss of wartime governmental news and boss of the heretofore independent poet, Archibald MacLeish of the Office of Facts and Figures, and Lowell Mellett of the Office of Government Reports.

In his first press release at his new job, Davis O. K.ed two single spaced typewritten pages denouncing Hitler as "the greatest slave master in history, cracking the whip of terror over millions of foreign workers dragged into the reich either by force, by threats, or by extravagant promises."

He Meets Camera Men.

Davis was not available to reporters' phone calls this afternoon. He received camera men earlier in the day in his new office in a new $600,000 information building that critics have dubbed "Mellett's madhouse." It was John Herrick, chief of the OFF press section, who said that the lengthy denunciation of Hitler was the first "hand-out" to receive the personal O. K. of the new government publicity office.

The No. 1 Davis release said the information therein was revealed in broadcasts monitored by the Federal Communications commission and European newspapers.

"The total foreign workers in Germany may be as high as five million," the release continued, in part. "Radio Berlin has admitted the presence of 3,000,000 foreign workers, and a Swedish newspaper says the Nazis do not class as 'foreign workers' the Russian and French war prisoners and laborers from Alsace-Lorraine, Luxembourg, Bohemia, Moravia, and Poland.

"Nazi agents have been forced to scour the occupied countries for labor because Germany has been drained of all able bodied men for war service and because the efficiency of labor has dropped because of war conditions. . . .

List Recruiting Methods.

"Hitler has used various methods in recruiting labor for Germany.

"1. The Germans, as in Norway, order forced mobilizations of workers and load them into freight cars bound for Germany.

"2. The occupation chiefs threaten to reduce food rations unless workers 'voluntarily' go to Germany.

"3. Occupation forces order a flat per cent of workers laid off, so they can be shipped to Germany. The Swedish radio reported that the Nazis ordered 30 per cent of the Norwegian workers laid off.

"4. Nazi diplomats have concluded agreements with friendly nations to deliver workers.

"5. The Nazi labor agents promise the workers higher wages, better food, and special privileges. The Nazis, however, do not mention that all foreign workers in the reich must pay a 'workers' tax,' which ranges from 25 to 30 per cent of the wages, nor the barracks in which the workers live under the watchful eye of the Gestapo, nor the long hours of work, nor the order that factory workers must devote their free time to farm labor."

BUND LEADER'S SUICIDE LINKED TO JURY PROBE

New York, June 17 (AP).—United States District Attorney Mathias Correa announced today that a federal grand jury was conducting an extensive investigation of German-American Bund members in the New York area which other sources said might lead to wholesale denaturalization proceedings.

The announcement followed closely upon the suicide in Indiana Monday night of George Froboese Jr. of Milwaukee, reputed national leader of the bund, who was on his way to testify before the New York jury.

Froboese was said by Coroner Robert Nathan of DeKalb county, Ind., to have ended his life by placing his head on a rail at the Waterloo, Ind., station when the train on which he was a passenger made a short stop. The supena calling him to New York was found on his body as were records of the bund.

A Legal Rarity

[Murray Korman Photo.]

FRANCES FAE FROSCH.

A seldom used provision of the Illinois divorce laws was invoked yesterday when Mrs. Frances Fae Frosch, member of a musical comedy cast now playing in the loop, filed suit for divorce in the Superior court against her husband, Abraham.

Both the Frosches are legal residents of New York. The Illinois divorce laws generally require a one year residence before a suit may be filed. One little known provision, however, permits the filing of a suit by a nonresident where an act of cruelty occurs in the state, according to Mrs. Frosch's lawyer, Sam Starr.

Mrs. Frosch charges two acts of cruelty in Chicago. She asserts that she telephoned her husband in New York on June 8 that she had had dinner in Chicago with another man. He flew to Chicago next day, she alleges, burst without warning into her room in the Hotel Sherman, and struck her. He beat her again on June 12, she declared.

Mother Saves 2 Children Overcome by Gas Fumes

Mrs. Olive Moore, 1530 Evergreen avenue, yesterday saved the lives of her son, Kenneth, 2 years old, and daughter, Terry, 8 months, by breathing into their mouths after they had been overcome by gas from a stove in their apartment.

$1 A YEAR MEN TO GET RAPPED IN NEW REPORT

Nelson Refused Request for Suppression.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, was rebuffed today when he appealed to the Truman senate committee investigating the war effort to suppress a report severely indicting dollar-a-year men in the WPB. After considering Nelson's protests at a closed hearing, the committee approved the report unanimously and it will be filed in the senate at noon tomorrow by Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.].

Members of the committee disclosed that the report substantially supports charges made by Robert R. Guthrie, a former WPB official. When he resigned in March, Guthrie accused dollar a year men in the WPB of serving their private interests in resisting the conversion of industries from civilian to war production.

Reed Strongly Criticized.

It is understood that the Truman committee report singles out Philip D. Reed, chief of the WPB's bureau of industry branches, for its strongest criticism. Reed, a dollar a year man, is chairman of the board of the General Electric company, which pays him $120,000 a year in salary and bonuses and which has received war contracts aggregating $450,000,000.

Congressional advocates of a wider distribution of war contracts for the dual purpose of achieving maximum production and preserving the nation's small business have long contended that the WPB is dominated by industrialists who cannot divorce their private interests from the public welfare.

Ironically, the Truman committee's investigation of Guthrie's charges was undertaken solely because of a formal request from Nelson when Guthrie resigned.

A subcommittee of the house military affairs committee, headed by Rep. Charles I. Faddis [D., Pa.] made an investigation of the Guthrie charges on its own initiative. When it became known a few days ago that the Truman committee would file a report substantially upholding the Guthrie charges, the Faddis subcommittee hurriedly prepared a statement which it released yesterday absolving the WPB dollar a year men.

Asserts Industrialists Reluctant.

This morning Nelson called on Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.] in an effort to block publication of the report. Connally took Nelson to see Chairman Truman and Sen. Harold H. Burton [R., O.]. Nelson told them that their report should be suppressed since the house committee had exonerated his aids. He argued that criticism of WPB officials by members and committees of congress is harmful to the war effort because it makes industrialists reluctant to come to Washington to serve the government.

After Nelson had gone Truman called a meeting of the full committee and the report was approved unanimously.

PROBE CHARGES CITY TRUCK USED ON PRIVATE JOB

Lloyd Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity, yesterday ordered an investigation of reports that a city garbage truck was used to haul refuse from a building owned by Ulreh Vogt Jr. at 1100 West Adams street.

Johnson said the report was originally received last Friday and that R. J. Kennedy, superintendent of the 27th ward street department yard, reported to him the truck collected "street dirt" from in front of the Vogt building. Johnson said that a more thoro investigation is being made.

FINES PROVIDED FOR ALL FAILING TO CUT RAGWEED

The city council yesterday passed a so-called hay fever ordinance requiring property owners to cut ragweed on their grounds on penalty of fines. Under the provisions of the ordinance, the weeds must be cut at least twice a year, the cutting periods being designated as between July 1 and July 15 and Aug. 1 and Aug. 15. Fines for failure to do so range from $5 to $200.

"Waste" is a fighting word today

If you're willing to take 3½ minutes to read what we have to say about "waste," we believe you'll be willing to volunteer for duty in the War on Waste . . . help to conserve the supply of coffee available for the "home front" and the "battle front."

In normal times the individual waste of a cup of coffee did not seem so important. It was so much less, proportionately, than the daily waste of other foods. But things are different now. Consider this—

According to latest figures, over 32 million families in the United States serve coffee at some time every day—a big percentage more than once a day. Now if only half of these families "pour out" just one cup of coffee a day, that's 16 million cups—nearly 400,000 pounds of coffee—DOWN THE SINK . . . WASTED . . . every day!

Of course there is plenty of coffee in the world today—green coffee. And there is plenty of green coffee in the United States today—for right now. But coffee is not grown in this country—it's only blended and roasted here. Coffee has to be imported—mostly from South and Central America. That takes ships. And the importance of ships in winning a war across two oceans means that not many can be spared for transportation of coffee.

So far, there is no rationing of coffee. That may have to come—but perhaps it need not be if you're willing to help.

The various Departments and Agencies of our Federal Government are taking every step which, in the light of progressing circumstances, appears protective and proper to guarantee continued and adequate supply for every person in our country. With 140 million people to serve, they have a big job to administer.

And today, every coffee importer, every coffee roaster, and every groceryman is working hand in hand with the War Production Board in a program of Coffee Conservation. The plan limits production for civilian use, but only to a point that represents little sacrifice for the average person if everyone will do his and her part in avoiding waste.

Here's how you can help:

You needn't deprive yourself of the coffee that you are accustomed to drink daily.

You needn't forego an occasional extra cup when the strain of wartime business or civilian effort calls for a lift to your morale.

You needn't try to satisfy yourself with a cup of weak coffee when you are used to, and prefer, full body and fine flavor.

BUT you should make every effort not to waste coffee when you make it. Measure both coffee and water carefully. We recommend a heaping tablespoon to the cup. A more accurate measure—and less wasteful—is two level measuring tablespoons to the cup. Many people prefer more or less—but that is the amount we have always said it takes to make really good coffee. And we still say that one cup of good coffee is more satisfying than two cups that only go "part way."

You should make just the amount you need for every meal—or any occasion. Remember what a wasted-cup-a-day per family means.

You should be conscientious, in buying coffee from your grocer, not to acquire larger reserve supplies than is your normal custom. A "run on coffee" would be the surest way of bringing about an "apparent shortage" that would call for further regulations.

As roasters and packers of fine coffee during the past 64 years, we too have our wartime duties to perform in order that the American tradition of coffee drinking may be kept secure.

It is our aim, first of all, to maintain customary standards of quality throughout these critical times.

We will meet with courage the necessity of packaging changes as often and as rapidly as the rising need for war materials may oblige us to face such problems.

Within the letter and spirit of every wartime regulation, we will supply our customers on an equitable basis so that Hills Bros. Coffee will continue to be available in every store where people wish to buy it.

In all these things we guarantee to do our best. We dare not promise more.

BORRELLI GUILTY IN SECOND GOON SLUGGING TRIAL

Must Serve Added Year in County Jail.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

Bruce [Bud] Borrelli, son of Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli, was sentenced yesterday to one year in the county jail and fined $1,000 by Judge Julius H. Miner in the Criminal court for the goon slugging Jan. 6 of John Gottlieb, president of the Pioneer Motor Service company. This gives him a total penalty of two years in the jail and the fine, which he must work out at $1.50 per day unless it is paid in cash.

Borrelli previously was sentenced by the same judge for slugging employés of the Keeshin Motor Service, Inc., where he was then an employé in addition to being personal bailiff to his father. Three of the Keeshin employés were slugged last November after a rump strike which ended 30 minutes after it was called.

Promise Full Appeals.

Borrelli, however, is far from jail. His attorney, William Scott Stewart, announced he would fight the conviction thru all the courts and it might take a year or more until final judgment is entered.

John L. Keeshin, wealthy head of the motor service who was jointly indicted with Borrelli in both cases, walked from the courtroom a free man when the state entered a nolle pros [a dismissal] against him in the Gottlieb case. Previously, he was acquitted by a jury on the charge of conspiracy to have his own employés slugged when Borrelli scuttled the state's case by recanting testimony he had previously given before the grand jury.

Judge Writes Decision.

The sentence for Borrelli came at the afternoon's court session after Judge Miner retired to his chambers for several hours to prepare an opinion. Excerpts follow:

"The assault upon John Gottlieb, a respected business man, by Bruce Borrelli and his accomplices was brutal and merciless.

"Such inhuman conduct and lawlessness cause all decent and law abiding citizens to tremble with fear and places our community in grave jeopardy. It is the solemn duty of the court to help extirpate this terrorism and violence. The court finds the defendant Bruce Borrelli guilty of statutory conspiracy as charged in the indictment."

The Keeshin case and that against James McNally and Peter LaBarbara and Lawrence Roche was then called for trial. McNally could not be found.

Crowley then told the judge that Borrelli was a necessary witness against Keeshin and in view of his present attitude "the state now reluctantly moves tc nolle as to Keeshin."

Keeshin Goes Free.

The judge immediately accepted the state's motion. Crowley, however, added that the state would revive the case if prosecutors obtained the necessary proof.

For the first time in the bitterly fought case humor was injected in the proceedings when the missing McNally showed up.

Prosecutor Crowley said the state would be willing to accept a guilty plea.

McNally, who had been summoned from the corner tavern, winked coquettishly at the judge. When Attorneys George Crane and Emmett Moynihan started to talk to him it was obvious that he was in no condition to discuss negotiations.

The judge then said he would continue the matter until today when the lawyers might get together and "the defendant sobered up."

"Stegen, judge, stegen," said McNally, continuing to wink. The judge, who obviously understood him, began to laugh and walked from the bench. It was later learned that McNally was saying "Hush, judge, hush," in Yiddish.

It was later reported that the cases of the three remaining defendants would be disposed of today with $100 fines at the request of Gottlieb.

Bilbo Calls Off Hearings on Army Zone Dry Bill

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo [D., Miss.] today called off public hearings on the bill of the late Sen. Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], authorizing the war and navy secretaries to create zones adjacent to army camps and navy posts within which no liquor could be sold. Bilbo said that in the next two or three months many senators would be away from the capital but that later he would "continue the fight for passage of the Sheppard bill."

SWALLOWS ACID AND DIES.

Harry Gross, 58 years old, 7133 South Wood street, died in County hospital yesterday of burns after swallowing acid by mistake three days ago. He is survived by his widow, Josephine, and four sons.

Shows Lamb Champ

Lawrence McLachlan, 14 years old, of Earlville, La Salle county, won most of the prizes at the Chicago junior market lamb show yesterday at the stockyards.

Lawrence won second place in the class of single entries, first place for his pen of three lambs, first place for his pen of five, and second place in the pen of 10 lambs class. First prize in the single class entries went to Louise Bailey, 15, of Lowell, Ind.

Forty-nine exhibitors from 16 Illinois counties and one Indiana county showed a total of 254 lambs. At the auction 53 head sold for an average of $14.59 each. The weight was 80.5 pounds. Total receipts were $773.31.

FRANK PARKER DENIED WRIT TO AVOID SENTENCE

Denial of a writ of habeas corpus by Chief Justice Robert J. Dunne in Criminal court yesterday put Frank Parker, prohibition era airplane bootlegger, a step closer to serving a year in the county jail for conspiracy to counterfeit express money orders. Parker recently completed a two year federal sentence for counterfeiting.

Parker and George [Bugs] Moran were convicted on the conspiracy charge in Criminal court in 1939. Both appealed the convictions to the United States Supreme court and lost. Meantime Parker was convicted in the federal court. His contention now is that the state and federal prison terms ran concurrently.

After denying the writ to Parker yesterday, Judge Dunne granted a stay until September to permit an appeal to the State Supreme court. Bond of $5,000 was continued. Moran's bond has been forfeited and he will be locked up when found. He is reported to be recuperating from a fractured leg in a hideout.

PRESIDENT ASKS FIGHT ON VICE IN WAR PLANT AREAS

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt called on the nation today to engage in a concerted drive for "total physical and moral fitness," with particular emphasis on elimination of red light districts in war industry areas.

In a letter to Paul V. McNutt, director of the Office of Defense Health and Welfare, the President declared that such districts contributed a major part of the venereal disease infection found in army camps and naval stations.

Asserting the interdepartmental committee on venereal disease has made splendid progress, the President said the campaign must be extended to industrial areas, with the full coöperation of federal, state and local governments, business and industry, the medical profession, schools, and churches.

McNutt sent copies of the letter to some 8,500 key executives in war production plants.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BILL INCREASING ARMY, NAVY PAY

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—Men in the armed forces were assured of minimum pay of $50 a month when President Roosevelt signed into law today legislation recently passed by congress.

Retroactive to June 1, the measure raises the pay of buck privates and apprentice seamen to $50, and likewise grants increases to grades up to and including army second lieutenants and naval ensigns.

For most men it means an increase of at least $20 a month. Army privates now get $21 to start, $30 after four months, and $40 after a year.

The bill also will boost rental allowances for officers. Under existing law, enlisted men abroad or on sea duty receive an extra 20 per cent and officers 10 per cent of their monthly pay.

26 POLICY KINGS ALL SET FREE AS WITNESSES BALK

Lawyer Gets Six Months for Contempt.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

All of the 26 policy gambling operators indicted as members of a $10,000,000 a year conspiracy were freed of the charge yesterday.

Attorney Clifford Tavernier, colored, was sentenced to six months in jail and was fined $1,000 when he defied Judge John Sbarbaro in the Criminal court and refused to testify against the policy kings on trial.

Robert Marcus, bondsman for the policy racketeers and affiliated with William Skidmore, the alleged collector of $10,000 in weekly graft payments from the policy gambling syndicate, was charged with perjury.

Prosecution for contempt was ordered in the case of Ezra Leake, former policy gambler who testified against the 26 in the grand jury room but refused to do so before Judge Sbarbaro.

"Shocking Spectacle," Says Judge.

The judge, in sentencing Tavernier and freeing the policy big shots, cited the "shocking spectacle of witness after witness in case after case before this court and other courts obstructing the administration of justice by taking refuge behind the privilege of a witness against self-incrimination."

Judge Sbarbaro recommended that the legislature take action to remedy this abuse, which, he said, has become prevalent in Cook county criminal trials. Tavernier was the fourth witness in the trial to say to Judge Sbarbaro:

"I refuse to answer on the ground I might incriminate myself."

The court had been warned of what was to come. Tavernier, who has been a practicing attorney for 31 years and who admitted he represented all policy gambling employés brought into the Racket court, had served notice last Friday that he wasn't in the same frame of mind as he had been last January when he talked freely before the grand jury.

Key Witness for State.

Tavernier's testimony, particularly about a meeting of the gambling kings and queens held in his home early last January when a decision was reached that all would suspend operations, was mainly responsible for the indictment, according to First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

With the testimony of Marcus, who is white, and of Leake, a colored ex-convict, Tavernier's story tended to link the policy racketeers in a conspiracy, Crowley told the court. Another important witness, at the time, was George Lambert, Crowley added.

The January grand jury indicted 23 Negroes, three of them women, and three white men on a charge of conspiracy to injure the public morals by the operation of their gambling games. Twelve of the men elected to go to trial before Judge Sbarbaro without a jury, and their trial started Monday.

First Witness Balks.

Yesterday Kenneth Eaton, colored, 5603 Lafayette avenue, was the first witness to balk. He had testified before the grand jury that he was employed as a gambling employé by Edward White, one of the defendants. On the witness stand before Judge Sbarbaro he refused to repeat that statement and Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford asked that he be ordered "to talk or go to jail."

Judge Sbarbaro called Crawford into chambers. He told him to get to the heart of the conspiracy at once, meaning: Call Tavernier. Crawford consulted Crowley and it was decided to pave the way for Tavernier's testimony by hearing Marcus first.

Marcus apparently had told the grand jury he was called many times by the defendants to bail out their employés who had been arrested. Before Judge Sbarbaro he said he had never been called by any of the men on trial but that he acted in concert with Attorney Tavernier.

Marcus was taken into custody by the state's attorney's policemen when he left the witness stand.

Will Face Perjury Charge.

After a writ of habeas corpus had been obtained in Marcus's behalf, Crowley said he was willing to let Marcus be freed on bail pending the placing of a perjury charge.

Then by agreement the case was dismissed as to the 12 defendants present. Judge Sbarbaro asked that the case against the 14 others be disposed of at once. Crowley said he was willing. Without the testimony of Leake, Marcus, and Tavernier, he couldn't prove a conspiracy against them, either, he said. So the indictment against the 14 was dismissed.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military services, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

E. R. O. writes: "In your column last week you listed the type of ground officers in the army air corps and the requirements. I meet the requirements for a photography officer. I am in doubt about a few other points and would appreciate answers to the following questions: 1. What are the age requirements for ground officers? 2. Are these commissions open to married men? 3. As a commissioned officer what rank is given? 4. How long do photography officers train and what is the salary in training? 5. What is the salary as a commissioned officer? 6. What are the duties of a photography officer? 7. Where can one enlist in the Chicago area?"

ANSWER: 1. Applicants must be 18 to 26 years of age, inclusive. 2. Married men are eligible. 3. Upon successful completion of the training, cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants. 4. The training period last 12 weeks, during which time the cadet receives $75 a month plus $1 a day subsistence. 5. As a commissioned officer, the pay is $183 a month unless the officer is quartered at an army post, in which case rental allowance is not paid. 6. The photography officer takes charge of the operation of mobile and fixed photographic laboratories. 7. Application for enlistment may be made at the Aviation Cadet Examining board in the United States Courthouse. Incidentally, the foregoing information, except for the duties of a photography officer and the length of training, may be applied to any of the ground officer commissions.

M. S. writes: "I heard recently that a man cannot be commissioned an officer in the marine corps if his parents are aliens of an enemy country. Is this so?"

ANSWER: As long as the applicant for a commission has been a citizen of the United States for at least 10 years preceding his appointment, it does not matter whether his parents are citizens.

C. W. writes: "I will be drafted soon and I prefer to enlist now rather than wait to be drafted. However, we have this question confronting us: If I enlist, will my wife be eligible for the allowance provided for dependents, or is this allotment only for the dependents of those who are drafted?"

ANSWER: Your wife would be eligible for the benefits under the dependency bill whether you enlist or are drafted.

R. C. S. writes: "My brother maintains a home and supports his mother, who is 67. He was put in class 3-A. Mother will shortly inherit a sum of money. Will my brother then be subject to reclassification?"

ANSWER: A registrant's dependent, or dependents, cannot be made to draw upon their assets, as distinguished from an income. If the bequest was sufficiently large so as to produce a large amount of interest, the dependent could be considered able to subsist on the interest, or income. Your brother will not be reclassified because of the bequest made to his mother, unless, as previously stated, a sufficiently large income is received from the bequest.

39 PCT. OF CHICAGO QUOTA PLEDGED IN CAMPAIGN FOR USO

Holman D. Pettibone, chairman of the United Service Organizations' campaign for funds in Chicago, announced yesterday that Montgomery Ward & Co. had donated $11,000 that raised the present pledge total to $683,692. This is 39 per cent of the Chicago quota of $1,749,432.

Large accretions to the fund, it is expected, will be reported by 1,000 workers of the business division who will attend a luncheon today in the Palmer House. James A. Cunningham, division chairman, and Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton are to speak. Cunningham said it was possible the total to be reported may reach $1,000,000.

The Chicago Service Men's center at 176 West Washington street reported an excellent response to an appeal made Tuesday for cakes, cookies, candy, and cigarets. Several hotels volunteered to receive donations of such supplies. On Tuesdays pickups will be made at the Edgewater Beach, Ambassador East, Belden-Stratford, Lake Shore Drive, Seneca, Sovereign, De Witt, and Sherman; on Wednesdays at the Graemere and Oak Park Arms, and on Thursdays at the Chicago Beach, Windermere East, and Piccadilly.

PAINTER, 48, GETS 3 YEARS ON SEX CHARGES BY GIRLS

Roy Whipple, 4809 North Bell avenue, a painter 48 years old, yesterday was sentenced to the county jail for three years by Judge Francis Borrelli on charges of having contributed to the delinquency of three girls, 4, 6, and 7 years old. Whipple was arrested on a similar charge in 1938 and later discharged.

Whipple, who was arrested by Summerdale police Monday, told Judge Borrelli he was under the influence of marijuana cigarets at the time he molested the girls and did not know what he was doing.

COUNTIES URGED TO CUT EXPENSES AS WAR MEASURE

Springfield, Ill., June 17 (AP).—County taxing officials were asked today to reduce expenditures in order to strengthen the war effort. Thomas E. Fiske, executive secretary of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, told the annual meeting of county boards of review with the state tax commission that "it is just as important to prevent waste and inefficiency in our governments as to prevent sabotage in our industrial plants."

"There must be retrenchment in peacetime activities of all governments if we are to give our full strength to the war effort," he added. "Don't think that small savings don't count up. If every one of the 15,202 governmental units in Illinois were to save only $100, it would amount to $1,520,200, enough to pay more than 30,000 army privates for a month."

Richard J. Lyons, member of the state tax commission, said that a new manual will be made available to tax assessors to aid in bringing about greater uniformity in appraisal of real estate for taxation in 1943.

ASK NEW PROBE OF FLYNN PAVING BRICK SCANDAL

New York, June 17 [Special].—Rumors of a government job in Washington for Daniel A. Daly, foreman of the Bronx county grand jury which exonerated National Democratic Committee Chairman Flynn of wrongdoing in the use of city labor and material in paving a courtyard of his country estate, brought a demand today from the citizens' committee to reopen the Flynn case.

Sidney S. Baron, secretary of the committee, wrote the United States civil service commission asking an investigation of the reported appointment of Daly, commenting that "alert people are beginning to wonder if the road to Washington is paved with Belgian paving blocks."

Daly said he has had his application in for some time at several government bureaus, but has not been notified that he has been named to a job. He said he has been planning to close his business, Credit Associates, Inc., because its usefulness has been destroyed by wartime conditions.

Read what a man with 50 years of experience in the manufacture and distribution of paper has to say on this subject.

On the other hand, indiscriminate skimping of this and that can be carried to an unnecessary and often ridiculous extreme.

For 1942 the government estimated its war time requirements of paper would be approximately 8,000,000 tons. Normal production of paper and pulp mills is approximately 16,000,000 tons, hence the first impression was that there might be a scarcity.

However, with the 1942 production increased to 20,000,000 tons by the use of new plants and speed up in old mills, and with a huge stock pile of waste paper resulting from the drive to collect this material for reworking, it is now clear that ample stocks are available for all government and civilian needs.

Today warehouses are bulging with paper of every type, and storage space is overflowing with accumulated waste paper.

In view of this fact there is no good reason why we should forego the uses of paper to which we have become accustomed. In particular, there is no good reason today to dispense with the use of paper for protecting the merchandise we buy.

Proper wrapping of purchases is a sensible service, assuring that goods reach the home in the same condition as offered in the store.

It is obvious, for example, that we want our meats sanitarily wrapped, and it is noteworthy that almost without exception meat dealers have been scrupulous about continuing this service.

Sanitation and convenience are reasons enough for adequate wrapping of all foods. The re-use of wrappings and containers of many foods is in violation of our pure food laws and should not be countenanced if we wish to avoid the risk of disease and contamination.

In the case of apparel, the necessary wrappings to assure arrival of the goods in a fresh, orderly condition is not too much to expect under present conditions.

Indeed any skimping of wrappings that risks soiling, damage, spoilage, unsanitation or inconvenience is a false economy that need not be tolerated by the customer.

Most merchants realize the important part that proper wrapping of their merchandise plays in building up good will, and continue to provide wrappings that conform to the best standards. Some few may have used the reputed "paper shortage" as an excuse to skimp on, or eliminate wrappings—but the facts prove there is no good basis for this practice.

Any retailer who has difficulty in obtaining wrapping papers or packaging materials of any kind is invited to make use of our Information Service which will gladly put him in touch with a reliable source of supply where adequate materials may be obtained without delay.

While the facts show there is no shortage of paper at this time, the practice of saving all waste paper is one that the public should continue to observe. The re-working of this paper makes it unnecessary for the paper mills to depend so heavily upon the use of new pulps—and this, in turn, results in the conservation of virgin timber, as well as transportation, mechanical power and man power. So when you save paper for this purpose, you are doing your part in a valuable conservation service that will help assure an ample supply of paper for our nation's future requirements.

FIX PUNISHMENT TODAY FOR 13 IN SCHOOL MUTINY

Prison Head to Meet with Sheriff, Prosecutor.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Punishment the courts will be asked to impose upon 13 mutinous inmates of the Illinois State Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, will be decided upon today at a conference attended by State's Attorney Charles G. Seidel of Kane county, Sheriff Marcus W. Damisch, and Russell W. Ballard, managing officer of the school.

The outbreak occurred a week ago today while 26 inmates were being returned to the institution after a swimming party allowed them for good behavior. The mutineers slugged a recreation officer with a lead bar, overpowered a house officer, and escaped in a large school bus.

All Recaptured; Three Shot.

All the 13 were recaptured after three had been shot by deputy sheriffs. The three are recovering in an Aurora hospital. The others are in jail at Geneva. Ballard said yesterday he will insist that all 13 be sent to the penitentiary. Under the law he may reopen cases of incorrigibles who have been sent to the school by the Circuit or Criminal courts and may have them transferred to prison.

It was understood yesterday that charges of assault to murder, larceny of an automobile, and of accessory and conspiracy will be filed. The prison transfer policy is one phase of a reform system Ballard has been putting into effect since taking charge at the school last Nov. 1.

"I have determined to stop the scandals and outbreaks that have made the school notorious in recent years," he said. "Harsher measures will be taken against those who require them. Twelve already have gone to Joliet since I have been here."

Sheridan Branch to Be Opened.

One of the immediate measures will be the opening July 1 of the school's prison branch near Sheridan, La Salle county. Forty-five incorrigibles will be sent to start occupying its 60 steel doored cells, which are commanded by gun turrets. Other inmates will follow. Most of them will be selected from among the school's older and more hardened offenders. The ones considered even too tough for Sheridan will go to prison.

For the boys who remain at the main school, Ballard has launched several projects. Their 140 acre war garden is double the acreage of this time last year and is dominated by a sign: "We Also Serve." To avoid buying canned goods and to conserve food for war needs, the school will can 80,000 gallons of food this year.

Militia for Older Inmates.

For the older inmates, 17 and up, who will be released within six months—and whose records are good—Ballard has started a militia unit.

Fifty uniforms have been supplied to the school by Adj. Gen. Leo M. Boyle and instruction is by two officers of the school: Ben Harris, retired sergeant major who put in 30 years in the cavalry, and A. J. McLain, who spent four years in the regular army. Each of the 50 militiamen spends half a day, six days a week, at drill with wooden guns. Other army training that would be valuable in the armed forces—after he has been released—also is supplied.

W-G-N WILL AIR AMERICAN EAGLE CLUB PROGRAMS

Starting Sunday, W-G-N will rebroadcast sessions of the American Eagle club from Great Britain. The Eagle club program long has been a feature Saturday evenings on the short waves over facilities of the British Broadcasting corporation. The program, featuring brief personal messages by flyers of the American Eagle club to their families and friends at home, is aired on 9.58 megacycles and 11.58 megacycles at 7 p. m. Saturdays. The W-G-N rebroadcast is to be given at 10:30 a. m. Sundays.

The American Eagle club meets each week to contribute to a special variety program arranged by the BBC. The show features music by Geraldo's orchestra and other London dance bands. Jerry Wilmont serves as master of ceremonies.

W-G-N presents another program at 10:45 a. m. Mondays thru Fridays and at 11:45 on Saturdays in which American soldiers and other service men in Australia send greetings to their families.

QUARTERMASTER CORPS WILL GET SALUTE ON W-G-N

The army quartermaster corps will be saluted on the broadcast of Americans at the Ramparts over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual Broadcasting system from 8:30 to 9 o'clock tonight.

The program will trace the growth of the corps from its beginning shortly before the Battle of Bunker Hill, to its great rôle in the present war.

The drama will be climaxed with scenes from the quartermaster corps in action on Bataan peninsula. Morrison Wood produces the program. Pierre Andre is the announcer.

HOGANS ON HAND AS W-G-N BEGINS A COMEDY SERIAL

W-G-N's main studio might have been mistaken for a segment of the Emerald Isle last night when more than 500 Irish folk, all answering to the name of Hogan, attended the premiére broadcast of "Chateau Hogan," a new comedy serial to be aired at 9:30 p. m. each Wednesday night. The show is broadcast over the Mutual network.

Ben Hogan, the golfer, was there, as was Ald. Michael Hogan [13th]. The oldest present was William H. Hogan, 83 years old, of 56 Superior street, Oak Park. The youngest Hogans in the audience were two 7 year olds, Eileen of 4531 Washington boulevard, and Billy of 8059 South Elizabeth street.

The serial plot concerns the venture of Happy and Mitzi Hogan, proprietors of a theatrical hotel which lacks only paying guests. Last night they were talked into offering a suite to a Hollywood producer in the hope he would lure in some stars. Thru a mixup in identity, the Hogans wound up with only their regular customers, Bob Trendler and the members of the W-G-N dance orchestra.

Minnesotan, 93, Reported Lost on Visit to Chicago

Police yesterday were asked to find Mads Mathisen, 93 years old, of Mountain Lake, Minn., who arrived unexpectedly in Chicago Tuesday to visit his grandniece, Mrs. Walter Larsen, 4255 Melrose avenue. Mathisen, who is almost deaf and leans heavily upon a cane, wandered out of the North Western station while the Travelers' Aid was making arrangements for him to get to his niece's home.

PUZZLE OF WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, SOLVED

Platform Is Drafted, to Be Voted on Today.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—The Republican state convention tomorrow will be tuned to the keynote that America's first and most important job is to win the war decisively and as quickly as possible, with unconditional surrender of our enemies.

As to peace after war, the platform adopted tonight by the resolutions committee says the world is changing so rapidly that no man or group is wise enough to know the proper program at some unknown future time. The planks prepared by an advisory committee of 11.

Prospects are that the convention will adopt the platform without change.

Willkie Loses Popularity.

Wendell Willkie, 1940 nominee for the presidency, appears to have fallen in popularity in his home state, one of the 10 he carried.

The platform does not mention him by name, altho he is a home state man. Willkie sent no messages, but from all tokens, he is not being accepted as titular leader of the Hoosier G. O. P.

Speakers will make onslaughts upon efforts of New Dealers, Democrats and Republicans, to purge congress of members who were anti-interventionist before Pearl Harbor. Indiana Republicans in both houses were against intervention before war was declared, but they voted for measures for national preparedness and defense. Their record is commended in the platform. It also says "we would be unpatriotic if we failed to criticize mistakes of the New Deal which have hindered the prosecution of this war."

Fight for Secretary of State.

Chief interest of the delegates centers on the nomination for secretary of state, which ordinarily would be a minor matter.

In this battle Homer E. Capehart, who threw the great barbecue in 1938 that brought Hoosier Republicans together, and who recently upset the old political picture by being elected as 7th district chairman, is supporting James M. Knapp of Hagerstown, speaker of the house. Siding with Capehart are Lieut. Gov. Charles M. Dawson and others.

A group led by State Chairman Ralph Gates, Burrell E. Wright, former treasurer of the state committee, and R. Lowell McDaniel, director of the auto license department, is backing Rue J. Alexander of Pine Village, auditor in the automobile license division, for the nomination.

The convention opens at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. United States Sen. Raymond E. Willis will be the keynote speaker. James M. Tucker, secretary of state, will be permanent chairman.

TWO NEW STATE SUPREME COURT JUSTICES SWORN

Springfield, Ill., June 17 (AP).—Two new justices—William J. Fulton of Sycamore and Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg—took their places on the Illinois Supreme court today with simple ceremony.

Chief Justice Loren E. Murphy of Monmouth administered the oath to the two men who were elected June 1. Justice Clyde E. Stone of Peoria, whose 24 years on the bench make him dean of the court, took cognizance of the fact that the recent election gave the Republicans a majority of five to two on the bench for the first time since 1933, and added in a short speech:

"It doesn't make any difference whether members of this court are Republicans or Democrats. That is the thing that will maintain public confidence in our courts."

Three other justices, who were reelected, also took the oath for nine year terms. Justice June C. Smith of Centralia was sworn in by Chief Justice Murphy in the crowded courtroom just before Fulton and Thompson. Justices Walter T. Gunn of Danville and Francis S. Wilson of Chicago took the oath previously in private and did not appear for the ceremony.

THE QUESTION.

Have you learned any new skill since the beginning of the war?

WHERE ASKED.

Mailers building, 5 South Wabash avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

A. L. Riley, watchmaker, 5832 South La Salle street—Before the war my interest in ammunition and guns was only a hobby, but I have developed it to the point where I could call myself a gunsmith. I have become quite skilful at reloading cartridges to conserve critical materials.

Isabel Carrick, 2203 Lunt avenue—A few years ago I didn't have the slightest desire to learn to knit, but now I ply the needles like a professional. One sweater for many hours of labor didn't seem like much compensation then. Now there's a real reason behind the idea.

Ted Swachta, shipping clerk, 1243 Cleaver street—I don't think a man is good "navy material" unless he knows how to swim. I want to join the navy, so I spend all my spare time in the water learning to swim. With an inducement like that, I've been a good student.

Sheldon Hoffman, student, 3620 Lexington street—When I saw a news reel showing photographic technicians at work as a ground crew for the army's aerial photographers, I became interested and active. I've learned to operate a camera and developed proficiency in darkroom work.

Jennie Costello, messenger girl, 1517 Lowe avenue, Chicago Heights—The new wave of economy made me aware of things I could do to aid the war effort. I decided to save money by doing home baking, so I started out on pies. Now I can make an edible crust that's a big improvement on the ones I used to make.

Stephanie Talmont, nurse, 4035 South Richmond street—I tried to think of everything I could do to save extra money for war bonds and as a result I developed a new skill. I learned to shampoo and wave my own hair. It took a lot of practice, but now I have extra money to save.

F. D. R. ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF JOHN J. DEMPSEY

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt accepted today the resignation of John J. Dempsey, undersecretary of the interior, who has decided to seek election as governor of New Mexico.

At the same time Stephen Early, Presidential secretary, said he knew nothing about the reported resignation of Francis B. Sayre, Philippines high commissioner. Sayre declined to confirm or deny the reports he was stepping out, saying "any information must come from the White House."

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

THE LIQUIDATION OF A REVOLUTION?

If the treaty signed by Russia and Great Britain means what it says, the Stalin government has formally recorded the liquidation of the Marx-Lenin revolution. The 20 year agreement in which Russia renounces ideas of territorial expansion and pledges itself not to interfere in the domestic affairs of other nations is a definite and determinative renunciation of the world proletarian revolution.

In a way it may be regarded as only a confirmation of the soviets' previous decision, formulated by Stalin, to make socialism work within Russia regardless of the economic structure of other countries. That decision did not seem to be carried out when the Russians interfered in Spain, nor when they took over the Baltic countries, Poland, and Bessarabia, and set up communism in the occupied territory.

If the treaty with the British has been signed in good faith, a point that only time can reveal, the revolutionary character of Russian socialism has died. If that should prove to be a true reading of the treaty, it is one of history's great monuments. But if that is a true interpretation, it would seem that the abolition of the comintern, revolutionary adjunct of the soviet government, would follow. The comintern was controled by the soviet dictatorship, but it was always possible for the commissars to divorce themselves from revolutionary activities in other lands by saying that the comintern was an international body and its acts were not the acts of the Russian government.

Russia will have years of domestic problems growing out of the war and out of the great destruction of its industries and the spoiling of its land by the invading Nazis. Its people have responded to the call for the defense of the fatherland with a heroic spirit, and after the war they may be powerful in their own right. The Russian officialdom has taken kindly to the pleasures of bourgeois society as in other lands, and the comrades have their country houses and their pleasures of the flesh, much in the mode of Washington and London.

It may be that Tovarich and his leaders are tired of world revolution. It may be that they would like to have fine houses, plenty to eat and drink, the enjoyment of their opera, ballets, and plays, get rid of the informer, and have a carefree life. They have a great aptitude for that. The creature comforts are nowhere more appreciated than they are by the Russians of all degrees. It may be that the only revolutionaries left who have the desire to carry Marx to all corners of the world with the sword, destroying the classes and establishing the dictatorship of the proletariat, are the dissident left wing Trotskyites whose leaders were all executed with the exception of Trotsky himself, who was killed by an assassin.

The American Communists are good Stalinists, and the implication that the London treaty may bring an end to revolutionary activities in other lands does not seem to have permeated their consciousness yet. Rep. Marcantonio is as vocal as ever and the smear campaign engineered by Reds against certain congressmen continues. A sign from the comintern would clarify matters. So far, the actions of the American Communists indicate that none has been given.

If the Lenin revolution is over a historical epoch has come to its conclusion, but there can be only speculation as to the good faith of a treaty which has a term of 20 years to run.

INCOMES ABOVE $25,000.

In his anti-inflation message to congress on April 27, President Roosevelt proposed that a ceiling of $25,000 be placed on individual incomes, after taxes, any excess going to the government. On Monday Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Randolph Paul, his tax expert, made the suggestion concrete. They asked for a superlevy of 100 per cent on the income over $25,000 of single persons and for a similar superlevy on the income over $50,000 of married couples. A deduction before imposition of the supertax of 15 per cent of income would be granted for paying existing debts.

Mr. Paul told the house ways and means committee that the supertax would affect 11,000 persons and bring in revenue of 184 million dollars. The yield of the supertax would thus be just chicken feed to the government which expects to spend 60 billion dollars in the fiscal year which is to begin in two weeks. The tax would not even add 184 millions to the total amount which the government would receive, because a large part of it would be invested in war bonds anyhow.

Nor would such a tax be of any assistance in preventing inflation. If all of the 184 million to be collected would otherwise be spent, sponging it up would not keep prices down. The national income this year will amount to about 120 billion dollars. A few hundred million dollars one way or the other will not affect the course of prices.

It is, moreover, not a move in the direction of making taxes more equitable. The regular taxes already imposed upon those in the upper brackets run as high as 86.5 per cent, whereas even the highest tax proposed upon incomes of married men earning $3,000 per year is 10 per cent. Raising the 86.5 to 90 or even 99 per cent won't make the little man's 10 per cent easier to bear.

The tax of 100 per cent of income above $25,000 or $50,000 will impose serious hardships upon persons who have fixed obligations to meet in excess of this amount. These persons will be forced to meet such consequences as their creditors may impose upon them. For some it will mean forced liquidation of assets, for others bankruptcy. Where is the benefit here?

With such a tax what little remains of the capital market would disappear. Wealthy men would no longer be able to take risks in financing new businesses. Men of ability would be encouraged to work less with resultant losses of efficiency in parts of the economy. Such a tax would make it impossible for men to accumulate means with which to finance the new industries upon which prosperity will depend when peace comes. It would remove all incentive to take business risks of our best qualified risk takers.

The proposed tax is without any economic justification. Only the Washington sadists have said anything for the measure. They say that no one should be permitted to have a substantial income while "others are compelled to cut their standard of living." Any official who talks like that is trying to sabotage the American economic system.

THE HOUSING BLOCKADE.

You can't just build a house nowadays. It has to qualify first as a defense house and then before you can build it you have to get a priority certificate. The number of such priorities is restricted and the Chicago office of the Federal Housing administration, which issues these priorities for this area, has started an investigation to discover what is being done with them. So far it has found that of 923 home units covered under priority orders issued to 30 building and contracting companies, 778 have not been used to date.

This is exactly what can be expected when artificial restrictions are placed on any activity. The license to engage in that activity suddenly acquires a value and becomes the object of connivery and sharp practice. What happened in Chicago was that many persons without the finances to build houses, often without land on which to build them, or even without having had plans drawn, rushed in and applied for and obtained priorities in the expectation that those licenses would develop a market value.

Complaints are made that the holders of the priorities are offering to peddle them to others who really want to build but who cannot do so without the necessary license. This is illegal. Another type of sharp practice may, however, evade the penalties of the law. There have been instances where the holder of an unused priority goes to a contractor who has a customer for a house, but no priority, and offers him a small sum for the right to serve his customer.

All these conditions could easily have been foreseen. That they were not, and that greater care was not exercised in granting the priorities so long as their number is limited, is a reflection on the FHA. Once the priorities were issued, the FHA had no machinery for policing their use and has had to turn the job over to the compliance branch of the War Production board.

This near scandal growing out of the traffic in priorities is a small factor, however, in the housing situation in Chicago. Even if all of the priorities had been allocated to builders with honest intentions of using them, the number allotted to the Chicago area was insufficient. Within the next 12 months an estimated 60,000 war workers, the majority with families, will migrate to Chicago to work in the huge new airplane, aluminum, and munitions plants now going up about the city. There is some housing available for these new residents but not enough.

Most of the plants are of a permanent nature, their machinery of a type which after the war will be easily converted to peacetime production. The job of housing their workers is not, therefore, properly one for public housing authorities building temporary dwellings. Any defense houses built for the workers in these new plants should be of solid and permanent type, since the probabilities are that the dwellings will be occupied long after the war. That is a job for private builders, but private builders are hamstrung by the small allocation of priorities to the Chicago defense area. The War Production board recently allocated 3,000 units to this area. By way of comparison, Detroit was given an allocation of 30,000 homes.

There is a need for the homes. The materials, according to the FHA, are readily accessible. The city still has a considerable reserve of skilled building mechanics to do the work and will have many more within the next few months as current war plant construction is finished. All that is needed is for the War Production board and the FHA to give private enterprise in this city a sufficient number of licenses to do what it would do without any urging or direction from Washington in normal times.

THE PLANNED SOCIETY FLOPS AGAIN.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard recently issued a proclamation asking Americans "to eat two pieces of cheese on their apple pie instead of one." Just a year ago the secretary was telling the people, "Eat less cheese so that more may be sent to Britain."

At the same time that he was urging the American people to forgo cheese Mr. Wickard and the department of agriculture were giving the cheese makers of the nation every encouragement to expand their production. They were told that it was their patriotic duty to increase production to unprecedented levels so that the British could be sent approximately 250 million pounds of cheese a year under the lend-lease program. As in every other instance in which American industry has been urged by the government to increase production, the cheese makers came thru.

Now we have too much cheese. Domestic consumption, thanks to Mr. Wickard's campaign, has dropped. Warehouses are overflowing with the largest stock of the commodity the country has ever had. Shipping difficulties have cut the amounts sent to Britain. The lend-lease authorities have purchased 360 million pounds, but up to May 1 had sent only a little more than half of it abroad.

The cheese makers, like the evaporated milk manufacturers, are faced with business disaster because they followed the advice and dictation of Washington burocrats. The planned society flops again. The little minds of Washington have an infinite capacity for seizing authority and giving orders, but they can't make the machinery work.

COSTLY BLUE PENCILING.

The Office of Censorship is asking an appropriation of 27½ million dollars for its functions during the coming year. Rep. Thad Wasielewski of Wisconsin comments on this, "I read recently that the Associated Press, the world's largest news gatherer, spent $11,424,218 last year to gather news. Here we are asked to appropriate $27,500,000 for merely checking over the news that has been gathered. Certainly it should not require two and a half times as much money to check news as it does to gather it."

Rep. Wasielewski said a [one word censored here].

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THE STUFF WE TALK ABOUT.

This stuff called rubber, the scarcity of which is causing the American people to bounce around in excitement, seems to lack a historian. When did it start, and how did it get that way? Let's look into the matter.

* * *

Columbus came to the new world in search of gold, and found an Indian on some Caribbean shore playing with a rubber ball. He didn't know that here was Golconda within his reach. "A curious illustration of the childlike mind of the aborigines," said Christopher, and made a note of it as an anecdote that might amuse Queen Isabella.

* * *

Yes, rubber is a purely American contribution to the necessities of civilization. The trees that the Japs have grabbed in Malaya and Java, in scandalous numbers, are a species whose original home is Brazil. . . . No wonder we are feeling sore and grabbing teething rings away from babies.

* * *

Europe failed to discover a use for rubber for almost 300 years. Then an English scientist, philosopher, and free-thinking preacher named Joseph Priestley pointed out that it could be used for erasing pencil marks. Its English name came from this, its first practical and commercial use, which is still an everyday matter among us. . . . The French adopted an Indian word, with altered spelling, and called it "caoutchouc."

* * *

This same Priestley, persecuted in England for his religious and political views, came to the United States and spent the last ten years of his life among us. He is one of the immortals of chemistry, and in Northumberland, Pa., where he is buried, there is a Priestley memorial museum, dedicated by the chemists of America about 15 years ago.

* * *

The oldest pieces of rubber in the world, which may antedate Charlemagne, were dredged, not many years ago, from the sacrificial pool at the ancient Mayan temple of Chichen-itza in Yucatan. . . . Yet the stuff is the youngest giant of modernism.

HE WHO LAUGHS LAST.

They laughed when my benny I carried,
That bright sunny morning in June,
When all the world's woes appeared buried,
And Nature's display was in tune.

The robin was chirping a ditty
High up in a sycamore tree,
And one could hear (e'en in the city)
The musical hum of the bee.

But just as that June day was ended,
Bleak, threatening clouds did appear,
And torrents of cold rain descended
To dispel the calm atmosphere.

They laughed when that morning they saw me,
My benny tucked close on my arm,
But gritted their teeth and could gnaw me
As I traveled home snug and warm.

In Praise of a Neglected Heroine.

("A little white hen laid a six-inch egg and died."—News item.)

I think something should be done about this—a congressional medal of honor, at least. The world went gaga over quintuplets, but when a hen lays a six-inch egg, all she gets for her all-out effort is a stick of type. I tell you, things ain't right. With no more recognition than that, the first thing we know the CIO will be in the hen coops organizing, and then where will we be? We'll have our hens on a 40-hour week, and heaven only knows what they'll be asking in overtime for six-inch eggs.

I can't get over it. The more I think of that six-inch egg the more I think, "What an assembly line!" So I'd like to suggest a campaign looking toward suitable recognition of that little white hen and her devotion which led to the supreme sacrifice. Any hen that can lay it on the line as she did—well, how about a pension for her family, a monument overlooking Lake Michigan, or a full page painting in The Trib by Jim Sessions?

Something to Argue About.

Bet you a lot of people wonder why dogs are called "pooches." When a Polish babushka lets the dog out for an airing and he strays a little too far, she calls to him, "Pooch tu, pooch tu, tay," which, translated into English means, "Come here, come back here." "Pooch" means "come" in Polish.

History Repeats Itself.

World scoop No. 1 for The Tribune in wartime 44 years ago: John T. McCutcheon had the luck to be on an American warship off Hongkong at the start of the Spanish war and flashed the story of Dewey's victory in Manila bay.

World scoop No. 2 for The Tribune was scored in this war in a similar way by Stanley Johnston, who had the luck to be on the aircraft carrier Lexington.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

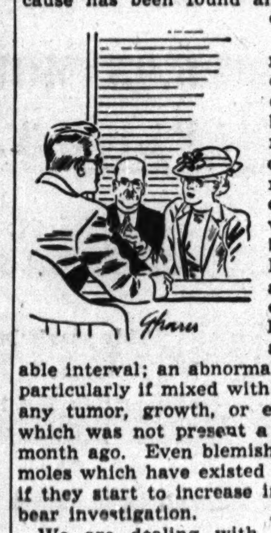
[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

VIGILANCE—OUR RALLYING CRY IN CANCER.

An ARMY of valiant soldiers is engaged in the fight against cancer. The battle will not end until victory is assured. There will be no peace settlement until the cause has been found and the cure established.



In the meantime, every one can do his bit. Alertness is required. This means that each individual can be on the lookout for a sore that does not heal within a reasonable interval; an abnormal discharge, particularly if mixed with blood; and any tumor, growth, or enlargement which was not present a week or a month ago. Even blemishes, such as moles which have existed for years—if they start to increase in size—will bear investigation.

We are dealing with an ancient disease. But the greatest progress has come within the last two or three decades. In season and out, physicians and informed laymen have been preaching the importance of early diagnosis. This dread affliction has a beginning. If it can be spotted at the outset, recovery is not only possible but probable. Tens of thousands are living today because they recognized the signs and heeded the warning.

A positive answer cannot be given to the question—am I susceptible? We do know, however, that the tissues of certain persons provide fertile soil. In other words, the activating agent may not be repelled in one as readily as in another. We can say categorically, however, that the ailment is not inherited. There is no direct transmission from mother to daughter or from father to son. But we must remember that we are all children of our parents. Some are blessed with strong constitutions, others exhibit far less resistance to many maladies.

Conquests are reported daily. Why? Because we are more watchful. Instead of visiting the doctor's office months after a lump has appeared in the breast, women go promptly. The removal of the initial lesion may end the whole matter. We wish to catch the culprit before the slightest spread has occurred to inaccessible parts of the body.

We can assert boldly that the reason we have relatively fewer tragedies today is because the lesion was identified speedily and the proper remedy applied. Campaigns among the laity have stressed this point and the effort has borne fruit in the saving of lives. Procrastination steals health.

One thing we must recall—namely, that irritation long continued may be a factor. For example, the rubbing of a jagged tooth against the delicate mucosa within the mouth cannot be permitted. Again, we may need to restrict to modest proportions the seasoning of edibles.

Among curative agents, in addition to skilled surgery, X-ray and radium possess great powers. The Roentgen ray, thanks to the fractional dose method suggested by Coutard, is not dangerous. The patient who submits to treatment is not even uncomfortable. Furthermore, the necessary equipment is readily available and a skilled operator can be found in all of our larger communities.

It is easy to extinguish a small fire. In like fashion, the eradication of malignancy is possible if we will destroy the advance scouts of the enemy.

GERM OR OBSTRUCTION.

W. C. writes: What is the difference between infectious and ordinary jaundice?

REPLY.

In the infectious type, also called "epidemic," the specific cause is a spirochete. The most common form is some obstruction to the outflow of bile.

It should not. The hearing machinery which lies within the skull is well protected.

IGNORING MacARTHUR.

Chicago, June 15.—Is there any significance in the fact that, despite a Presidential proclamation extending Flag day to a united nations and Gen. MacArthur day, two Chicago newspapers failed to mention the name of Gen. MacArthur in their stories of yesterday's stupendous celebrations?

Is it possible that the hero of the Philippines is already being played as a political football by certain people in high places? The two papers are supposed to reflect the views of the administration. Can it be that powerful interests are pulling against Gen. MacArthur, our commander in chief of the southwestern Pacific? If so, folks, you can bet your last dollar it's going to be a long war, what with punches being blocked and politics occupying the driver's seat!

SOBER SAILOR'S FOOTNOTE.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 15.—Let me apologize to the people of Chicago thru you. In my letter June 2 titled "A Sober Sailor," I expressed my disappointment in the way in which Chicago people welcomed young men who didn't "run with the crowd." I hadn't meant at all to come crying because I had never been any place or had received no invitations. I merely wanted to suggest that there might be some like me in principle who had not been able to make an adjustment.

Since you printed my letter, I have been transferred to duty at the naval training school here and have received more than 30 invitations by forwarded mail. I am trying to answer each one. It is such a pleasant feeling to know that total strangers are interested enough to take time out to write a letter to three initials. Kind of gives a fellow the feeling that down deep inside this old world isn't so bad after all. By the way, I'm not a seaman; I'm one of the men with a red cross on my arm—a member of the medical department.

COLOR MAKES NO DIFFERENCE.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 15.—What is there so startling about the government finding that two AFL unions in Chicago have prevented Negroes from working on defense projects? The unions have prevented white persons from working on defense and other projects for many years, and probably continue to do so, unless something is done to enable the workingman to regain his freedom.

THE 3 PER CENT.

Urbana, Ill., June 11.—It is a great record, 97 per cent of our Illinois citizens pledging the purchase of defense bonds and stamps, a tribute to the patriotism of our state. But what of the 3 per cent? Who are they? Our country is at war. What we need is 100 per cent coöperation. Even the lowest paid person could pledge a few cents a week or month for his country.

PROGRESS TOWARD DESPOTISM.

Chicago, June 13.—In a recent conference of teachers at the University of Chicago, the settlement of the 40 hour week controversy was cited as an example of how to arrive at the truth of a question. The "truth" involved in this instance was that, since maximum production was vital, this production could only be achieved by no change in the 40 hour week. But a more fundamental truth was implied, namely, that those with the responsibility of settling the controversy believed that labor could be influenced only by money.

On the last day of the constitutional convention Benjamin Franklin said in urging the signing of the constitution, "I believe that this form of government can only end in despotism when the people shall become so corrupted as to need a despotic government, being incapable of any other."

The greatest political corruption in a democracy is for its citizens to sell their liberty with the hope of financial gain. It makes no difference if they sell their votes for a dollar each, or sell their liberty to union organizers, or, if they are business men, if they vote for an administration which they expect to do them special favors. If the bulk of labor has voted for an ever increasing burocracy, is it not because it saw no other way out of its difficulties? And political leaders, anxious to set up new ideals of government, have exploited this confusion to put themselves in power by a huge system of bribery to labor, to the farmers, to the unemployed.

FARM WORK.

Downers Grove, Ill., June 13.—Not long ago Ward Walker and Martha Murphy had stories in The Tribune telling what the city boy and girl would have to do on a farm if they went out there to work. Neither one was on the average kind of farm. Youngsters will be disappointed if they go out to work on farms and have to get up at 4:30 or 5 o'clock and help milk 10 or 15 cows by hand, eat breakfast, and work in the field until noon; hurry out to the field and work until almost dark; then milk cows again and eat supper at half past 9. Farmers seldom go to picture shows; very few have even a bathtub. Farmers don't hire help for company; and work on a farm is no joke. I live on one and I know.

A SEPARATE TABLE.

Chicago, June 13.—Lionel Goulet wrote about race discrimination. He and the rest of the Wright Junior college students don't practice what they preach. He stated that the hotel manager was told a table was set aside for Negro students. Why set aside a table for Negro students? Why not put all students together regardless of race?

C. I. B.

THE ARMY PAY RAISE.

Camp Pendleton, Va., June 10.—The house and senate spent a month trying to decide on our pay. I am a draftee with 14 months in the army. I am a private first class with a fourth class rating, and with the $10 the army pays for a year or more of service, I get $61 a month. It took me almost a year to get a rating, but under the new pay raise and table of organization, I am to lose this rating and get $50 a month.

All the new draftees are going to get $50 a month right from the start. We got $21 for five months. Is that fair to almost a million men who have been in the army a year? Shouldn't the rates be made retroactive? A corporal in a year gets a $2 raise, yet a rookie with one month of service gets a $29 raise.

BONDS TO WIN THE WAR.

Chicago, June 12.—We all feel that there is no doubt about our winning this war, and we let it go at that. But the people must realize that we cannot, we must not lose. We must take all we can to buy war bonds and stamps that will win. We cannot think of any other future but that we must save this freedom, not only for ourselves, but for those who come after.

Mrs. Anne Chalmers.

NO HAPPY AGE MEDIUM.

Chicago, June 10.—You cannot get a job if you are 19 or 20 years old because you have no experience. You may have plenty of experience when you are 45, but then you are too old. I have come to the conclusion that we are born too young and we live too long.

VALIDITY OF MARRIAGE.

Chicago, June 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I married at the age of 17 and lived with my husband two months.

1. I remarried without obtaining a divorce. I was young and did not realize what I was doing.
2. Finally I obtained a divorce from my first husband.
3. Am I still married to my second husband?
4. If it went on the rocks would I have to get a divorce or an annulment of remarriage?

D. B.

1. The remarriage would be invalid on these facts.
2. This alone would not be enough to validate the second marriage.
3. No. Assuming that you did not live with him after the divorce.
4. This seems to imply that you have continued to live with him and the question whether there has been a common law marriage would depend on additional facts.

Street Cars Far Apart in Defense Area.

(This is the fourth article in a series telling experiences of a Tribune reporter making a survey of Chicago's street car service under the new 8 cent fare.)

BY DAVID ANDERSON.

Street cars run farther apart on Van Buren street and Racine avenue than at other corners where we have waited during three days of straphanging. From 2 to 4 p. m. on a week day we make two waiting tests. Two westbound Van Buren cars, more than half filled, pass in the first 15 minute period. During the second it's the same—two cars in 15 minutes. This corner, busy and noisy, is the center of an industrial area containing many small defense plants.

Finally we take a westbound Van Buren car, No. 1567, built in 1911-12, to Kedzie avenue, 2½ miles away. Riding time: 14 minutes.

Walking over to Harrison street we take an east bound car, No. 1827, a 1913-14 model. The car passes Racine avenue in 15 minutes, one minute slower than the Van Buren car.

Car Bounces and Sways.

It's 10 p. m. and we are waiting with a handful of steel workers for a Ewing-111th street car at 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue. Each wears his defense plant identification tag on his coat. We board car No. 5147, which was constructed in 1905-'06, according to the Illinois Commerce commission records, and bounce and sway to 92d street, where we transfer to an Avenue O car in 32 minutes.

The 92d street-Avenue O car is crowded with scores of 11 p. m. shift workers bound for the Carnegie-Illinois steel works. When the car draws near the gates we see the most beautiful sight of our three days of street car riding.

Shooting high into the night sky three long tongues of purple orange flame light up a network of high tension wires and jagged skeletons of cranes and bridges. Over all float lazy billows of silvery and black smoke. Half hidden by soot covered buildings is a haze of yellowish light from the beam mill. Now and then one sees cascades of snowy white sparks, seemingly set off by giant Fourth of July skyrockets. The purple torches burning from the stacks of the blast furnaces, we note, are an industrial candelabra for the future funeral of the axis.

A Trolley Rider's Diary.

From Cermak road to Montrose avenue on Cicero avenue; car No. 700, constructed in 1908-'09; from 4:10 p. m. to 4:50 p. m.; riding time 40 minutes for 7½ miles; condition, fairly crowded.

From Cicero avenue to Clark street on Montrose avenue; car No. 3290, built in 1924; from 4:57 p. m. to 5:18 p. m.; riding time, 21 minutes for 4¼ miles; condition, car more than half filled.

From Montrose to 7300 north on Clark street; car No. 460, built in 1908-'09; from 5:19 to 5:40; riding time, 21 minutes for about 4 miles; condition, standing room only until Berwyn avenue [5300 north].

HOTEL UNCOVERS 70,504 OLD RAZOR BLADES IN SLOTS

New York, June 17 [Special].—Charles E. Rochester, a local hotel manager, started thinking about used razor blades as he contemplated the shortage of critical materials today. Ordering a cleaning of the disposal slots in his 801 room hostelry, the Lexington, he found himself with 70,504 old blades weighing 300 pounds.

Pointing to the pile of metal, he did some rapid fire calculating. There are 1,614,892 sleeping rooms in the 15,850 hotels of the country, he said. On the basis of his experience, this should mean upward of 100 million pensioned-off blades behind the walls of hotel bathrooms.

"We can melt these down and give the enemy a good trimming," he said. "Old razor blades finally have a chance to make a killing."

They Saw a Show

Robert Hanson (left) and Edward Murphy as they appeared after being rescued from dust and dirt of ventilating system duct in movie theater.

$40,000 BOND SET IN ROBBERY CASE. Sampson Sargis, 17 years old, 3336 Sheffield avenue, yesterday was held for grand jury action on four charges of robbery by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Boys' court. His bond was fixed at $40,000. Sargis was arrested a week ago after he tried to rob a bakery at 1963 Montrose avenue.

BOYS FIND NOVEL VANTAGE POINT TO SEE A MOVIE

Out of Funds, So They Try New Approach.

When Robert Hanson and Edward Murphy met after school yesterday they wanted to see a movie. But there wasn't a dime between them. So the boys, who are 8 and 9 years old respectively, determined on other means.

Robert, who lives at 446 West 28th place, and Edward, 2700 Lowe avenue, crept cautiously up the fire escape of the Ramova theater, 3518 South Halsted street. On the roof, they proceeded to the skylight. Having overcome so many obstacles already, they just pried it up and dropped in.

So far so good, but they found themselves still within some sort of metal duct. Dark and all, and destination uncertain, they trudged on. The show was all important.

Fan Blades Halt Them.

They came smack up against the blades of a huge fan which, fortunately, was not in operation. Journey's end, at least for the nonce.

But thru the blades they could see the screen, so they watched the show, standing knee deep in dust and soot trapped at the base of the fan, which draws cold air into the theater for ventilation purposes.

Eventually Robert had enough. They couldn't get back thru the skylight, so they began to pound on the metal walls and howl. Ushers finally found the source of the commotion and one of them, by letting his feet thru an opening on top of the duct, got near enough to the boys so they could pull themselves out.

Get Lecture—and Collection.

Deering street police found the pair in durance in the manager's office and took them to the station for a lecture.

"Anyway, we saw part o' the pitcher," asserted Edward. "But when all that war stuff come on, phooey! I wanted out."

A PAT AND MIKE STORY THAT'S NO JOKE—TO MIKE!

This is the story of Pat and Mike Hollaran, 64 and 62 years old, respectively. The brothers live at 2006 Holly avenue and sleep in separate rooms.

Yesterday Mike haled Pat into the court of Judge Edward J. Luczak at Shakespeare avenue station and told the judge he hadn't been able to sleep a full night for six months because of Pat's snoring. He suggested probation.

"Do you think that would stop his snoring?" asked the judge.

GARMENT UNION OFFERS TO CUT WAR WORK PAY

Atlantic City, N. J., June 17 (AP).—The International Ladies Garment Workers' union [AFL] offered today to work on war contracts for lower wages than are now paid on private contracts, provided manufacturers of war goods passed the savings on to the government.

The union's general executive board, in voting the offer, suggested no specific percentage of wage reduction on government work, but appointed a five man committee to discuss the matter with representatives of the government and manufacturers.

The War Production board has promised to let the women's apparel industry make 20 per cent of the army and navy uniforms, but that will provide work for only 6,000 of about 160,000 I. L. G. W. U. members in the New York area.

Five hundred smaller dress manufacturers are planning to pool their machinery and resources in an effort to get contracts for such war goods as gas masks, parachutes, field jackets and sand bags. The union's offer to accept lower wages if necessary was made to further that plan.

BACK of every man who builds our ships and tanks and planes is a woman. A woman whose job it is to see that he keeps strong and well, to see that he gets good, nourishing food, to see that he has plenty to give to a task that demands his utmost effort.

Nutrition is the science that women are bringing to the winning of the war. And now the government is bringing to all women a simple, practical guide to nutrition that every home in the land can follow.

You see it reproduced here. It is the official chart of the strength-building foods issued by the Office of Defense Health and Welfare Services.

The government has urged every food dealer to display this chart, every local nutritional committee to distribute it, every homemaker to pin it to her kitchen wall. And even more, it urges that you serve your family these nutritional foods—some from every group in the chart, every day.

Archbishop Announces Plans to Expand Catholic Teaching

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch yesterday announced the establishment of the confraternity of Christian doctrine in the Chicago archdiocese, with the Rev. John R. Gleason, 3 East Chicago avenue, as director. The principal purpose of the venerable confraternity, it was said, is to offer more adequate religious instruction for children and youths not enrolled in Catholic schools.

The Rev. John R. Gleason.

An unusual feature of the confraternity is that much of the instruction is given by teachers recruited from the laity. While the obligation of teaching is the primary responsibility of the clergy in the Catholic church, yet it was explained that canon law as well as letters from Vatican City have recognized the task as too extensive for the pastors alone.

In order to train teachers for their classes in the various parishes, an institute has been set up at De Paul university, 64 East Lake street, and at the lake shore campus of Loyola university, from June 26 to July 16. Courses may be offered toward a degree if continued to Aug. 1, but certificates of catechetical instructor will be given at the end of the short course.

Archbishop Stritch also announced the opening of the Holy Name officers' training schools, beginning June 20, at Loyola university. Subsequent sessions on succeeding days will be held in various neighborhood and suburban parishes, and come to a close in Catholic High school, Joliet, Sunday afternoon, June 28.

Six hundred Methodist delegates from the Rock River [Northern Illinois] annual conference, will convene Wednesday night for the 103d session of the conference at the First Methodist church, Evanston. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago area of the church will open the conference with holy communion, assisted by the five district superintendents. The program lists Bishop Herbert Welch, chairman of the church's committee for overseas relief, as a principal conference speaker.

Rabbi Morton M. Berman of Temple Isaiah-Israel, president of the Chicago council of the Jewish National fund, announced yesterday that both Jewish and non-Jewish leaders have accepted honorary chairmanships of the 40th annual dinner of the fund to be held Sunday night at the Sherman hotel. Included in the list are Gov. Dwight Green, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Dean Charles W. Gilkey of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Franklyn B. Snyder, president of Northwestern university.

Dr. J. W. Behnken of Oak Park, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Missouri synod, will deliver the commencement address tonight before 76 graduates of the Luther institute, 120 North Wood street.

The Swedish Baptist General conference of America will open its annual sessions on Wednesday at the Emerald Avenue Baptist church, Emerald avenue and 59th street. This communion, composed of nearly 300 churches, was organized 90 years ago at Rock Island and has since spread to 16 states and regional units. The Rev. Swan Engwall of the Central Avenue Baptist church, Central avenue and Iowa street, is the moderator.

The 52d annual festival of the Bethany home and hospital of the Methodist church, Paulina street and Winnemac avenue, will be held tomorrow afternoon and night. Dr. C. G. Wallenius, chairman of the board of the institution, will open the programs.

Dame Fashion Opens Up New Bag of Tricks

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Wily Dame Fashion still has a few tricks up her sleeve.

At least it looked that way yesterday at the Art Institute, where a group of future American designers wrestled with the problem of dress making restrictions and came up winningly clad in sheeting, drapery, upholstery, and curtain materials. It was the annual fashion show of the institute's student designers.

Paying court to King Cotton and the War Production board, the students confined their talents to costumes that fit a slender pocketbook and the exigencies of wartime fashions. They achieved some unusual effects. Several successful costumes borrowed line and inspiration from frocks of the pre-war styles of 1912, a neo-classic year when materials were used sparingly. The adaptations were modeled alongside the original gowns.

One example was a charming calf-length dinner dress of black and white organdy designed by Helen Engstrom and modeled by Aline Wolke. The 1942 gown, a sister frock of a 1912 lingerie dress worn by Margaret Holley, was demure with a bodice of white inserted lace, high neck line, and wide lace cuffs on short sleeves. The skirt of black organdy was exactly like that of the original, with inverted lace paneling, but in the modern manner it billowed gracefully 12 inches from the floor.

Drapery material came out of doors in a "Mr. and Mrs." costume designed by Joseph Zeller, modeled by himself and Eva Janosi. Both were sports costumes. Mr. wore striped, cuffless trousers of green and yellow topped with a swagger-back jacket of pale yellow, while Mrs. duplicated the color scheme in a fitted jacket and slender skirt.

A bride, who could use her wedding gown later for the kitchen windows, was portrayed by Maggie Sheahan. Designed by Robert Carey and entitled "Here Comes the Bride," the costume was a froth of chenile curtain material. Horizontal tucks trimmed the demure yoke and outlined the waistline. A tiara of the same material stitched in pearls made the crown for a brief but billowy veil.

Appropriately enough, one evening gown was made of sheeting material. Designed by Edna Powell, it was transformed into a thing of loveliness by a free hand paint brush which had traced a floral design of grayed violets and blues from the front right hand corner of the hem, diagonally up the back to the left hip. A splash of flowers rested on the right shoulder.

With a few tricks like these, it's in the cards that the American girl will not begin to feel the tug of war.

Models Are People.

Backstage with the models: The rose-beige curtains are ready to part for a showing of summertime clothes. Patricia, in charge of accessories, watches carefully to see that gloves, jewelry, hats, and shoes are ready. ["I always get the shoes plenty big when the girls have several shows, one after another," she explains.] Patricia is pretty as a model herself—a competent young graduate of courses in marketing and retail store management.

All at once the bump of curiosity begins to swell: What sort of lives do these graceful, attractive girls lead?

Arlette drives to Barrington after the show, where she keeps house—cooks and washes and takes care of a year old baby . . . [in her spare moments she helps her husband with dancing classes which he runs]. . . . Jane went to Northwestern—she's a Gray Lady. . . . Joan graduated from Northwestern and has done commercial photography. . . . Kay took a course in ambulance driving—she's the tall one with the soft, slightly gray hair—a former Follies girl. At heart she's a farmerette and leaves shortly for her farm near Benton Harbor, where she will spend the summer weeding the flower beds and taking care of her 1½ acre victory garden. . . . Ruby was a stenographer and became a model via the stork route—she went into the work after her baby was born. . . . Margie is noted for her cookery; besides, she's the champion "sock darner" of the group. . . . Eve was once a $100,000 beauty queen; she's been in the movies and modeled for 25 years; somehow found time to manage a home and raise a fine son, now grown up and married. Nanno was a singer and won a contest . . . and Julia, with her dimples and gorgeous white hair, was a doctor's wife and formerly modeled for charity. She has a grown daughter and a son, a lieutenant in the marines.

What sort of lives do they lead? They cook and sew and scrub and garden and get married and raise families and play gin rummy . . . and eat their lunch, on sunny days, picnic style in Grant park!

Try This One.

R. Godfriaux, who turns out to be not a Mister but a Miss, forwards another mathematical puzzler which she says should be worked in 20 minutes.

"A man had a merry-go-round with a seating capacity for 100 persons. After selling 100 tickets he had collected $1. The tickets sold as follows: six children could ride for 1 cent; women, 3 cents each, and men, 10 cents each. How many men, women, and children took a ride?"

Camp Grant, Ill., June 17.—Most of the 35 Chicago women who took physical examinations today in hopes of becoming officers in the women's army auxiliary corps were in excellent condition, at least so far as appearance went.

But a combination of excitement at facing a final hurdle, plus the presence in camp of so many handsome young men in uniform, raised the pulse and heart beat of many to the point where they were forced to rest before these tests could be made.

The Chicagoans are among 360 women in the 6th corps area who survived preliminary mental alertness tests and physical interviews given 888 applicants. Some 40 to 60 will go to Fort Des Moines, Ia., when the officers 'training school opens July 15.

One of the chief topics of conversation among those waiting for their turn was the 16 pairs of stockings [8 cotton and 8 rayon] which each successful candidate will be given.

The tests began at 9 a. m. and included blood counts, chest X-rays, eye, ear and teeth examinations, and all the other tests usually given potential fighting men. Even if no physical defects were found [one young woman learned to her dismay that she is suffering from an enlarged tumor] all accepted applicants were required to be well proportioned, between 100 and 170 pounds in weight, and between 5 and 6 feet tall.

Maj. Herman Jacobson, in charge of the physical history interviews, said results of the examinations will not be given out until Friday or Saturday at least.

Fourteen Chicagoans, eight Evanstonians, two women from Wilmette, two from Waukegan, and one each from Highland Park and Winnetka, took physical examinations for the women's auxiliary corps at Fort Sheridan yesterday.

Meanwhile, those from the area who completed examinations Monday or Tuesday were given further forms to fill out at the new postoffice building.

Debut Season, Minus Frills, Keeps Gayety

BY JUDITH CASS.

THIS year's debut season seems unusually curtailed and bereft of all frills and furbelows, but the young people concerned in the brief whirl of parties are having just as gay and exciting a time—perhaps more so—than buds and beaux of seasons past. Added to the list of this season's buds is Miss Lydia Marquis Pope, daughter of the David M. Popes of Lake Forest, who is to have a simple garden tea at home on the afternoon of July 11.

This fall the debutante will enter Lake Forest college, at which her elder sister, Miss Mary Lew Pope, is a sophomore. There is a younger sister, too, Louise, and the girls have one brother, Arthur, who will leave his classes at the University of Illinois to attend the debut tea.

Edwin Welches to Entertain for Their Daughter Tonight.

The Edwin Welches are entertaining at the regular Thursday night buffet supper-dance of the Onwentsia club tonight for their daughter, Miss Isabelle Welch, who is of debutante age, but who is not having a more formal party than tonight's informal one, however. Miss Welch was graduated this month from Ferry Hall and will enter the Art institute. She is interested in art and hopes to go to Mexico next year to study.

The Arthur G. Cables' daughter, Susie, who is of debutante age, is enrolled at the University of Mexico, in Mexico City, whose holidays are directly opposite those of United States schools. Miss Cable will have two weeks free during the summer, and then will have a long vacation at Christmas time. No plans have been made for any debut party for her and it is doubtful whether she will make a formal bow at all. Mrs. Cable has gone to the Cables' home near Santa Fe, N. M., to spend the summer. Their Winnetka house has been sold.

Numerous Smaller Parties Are on Calendar for Buds.

Many smaller parties for the debutantes and their beaux are filling the short weeks that young men of college age are spending at home this summer. Miss Patricia McLaughlin and Miss Virginia Washburne, whose debut is to be a dinner-dance at the Onwentsia on July 3 given jointly by their parents, the George F. McLaughlins and the Hempstead Washburnes, have several smaller affairs on their calendars. The junior George A. Pooles and the Jay Whipples are giving a luncheon at the Shoreacres on Sunday for the two debutantes and for one other, Miss Nancy Cochran.

Mrs. Fuller Mitchell is giving a luncheon and swimming party for Miss McLaughlin and Miss Deborah Smith next Wednesday at the Barrington Hills Country club, and that night Mr. and Mrs. Burford Porter will give a barbecue supper for Miss McLaughlin and for their debutante niece, Miss Polly Porter. The Thomas Dennehys are giving a luncheon on Sunday, the 28th, for Miss McLaughlin, Miss Washburne, and Miss Mary Mabbatt. Miss McLaughlin's grandmother, Mrs. George D. McLaughlin, is postponing a tea she is planning for the bud until next fall or winter.

Chicagoans Commissioned in East Go to New Posts.

Now that another naval reserve training course has been completed at Quonsett, R. I., the latest Chicagoans to be commissioned at the eastern base are en route to new posts. Lieut. and Mrs. John D. Richardson II. are motoring by way of Virginia to Florida, where they will reside near his naval base. Mrs. Richardson's mother, Mrs. David Joyce, has just returned to Chicago after a 10 day visit with them in New York. Lieut. Gordon P. Kelley is expected in Chicago next week to start advanced training.

Among the instructors of the new group at Quonsett will be two Chicagoans, Lieut. Comm. Lester Armour and Lieut. Garfield King. For the time being the former will not have his family with him. Mrs. Armour is expected at home from Washington, D. C., tomorrow, and plans to spend

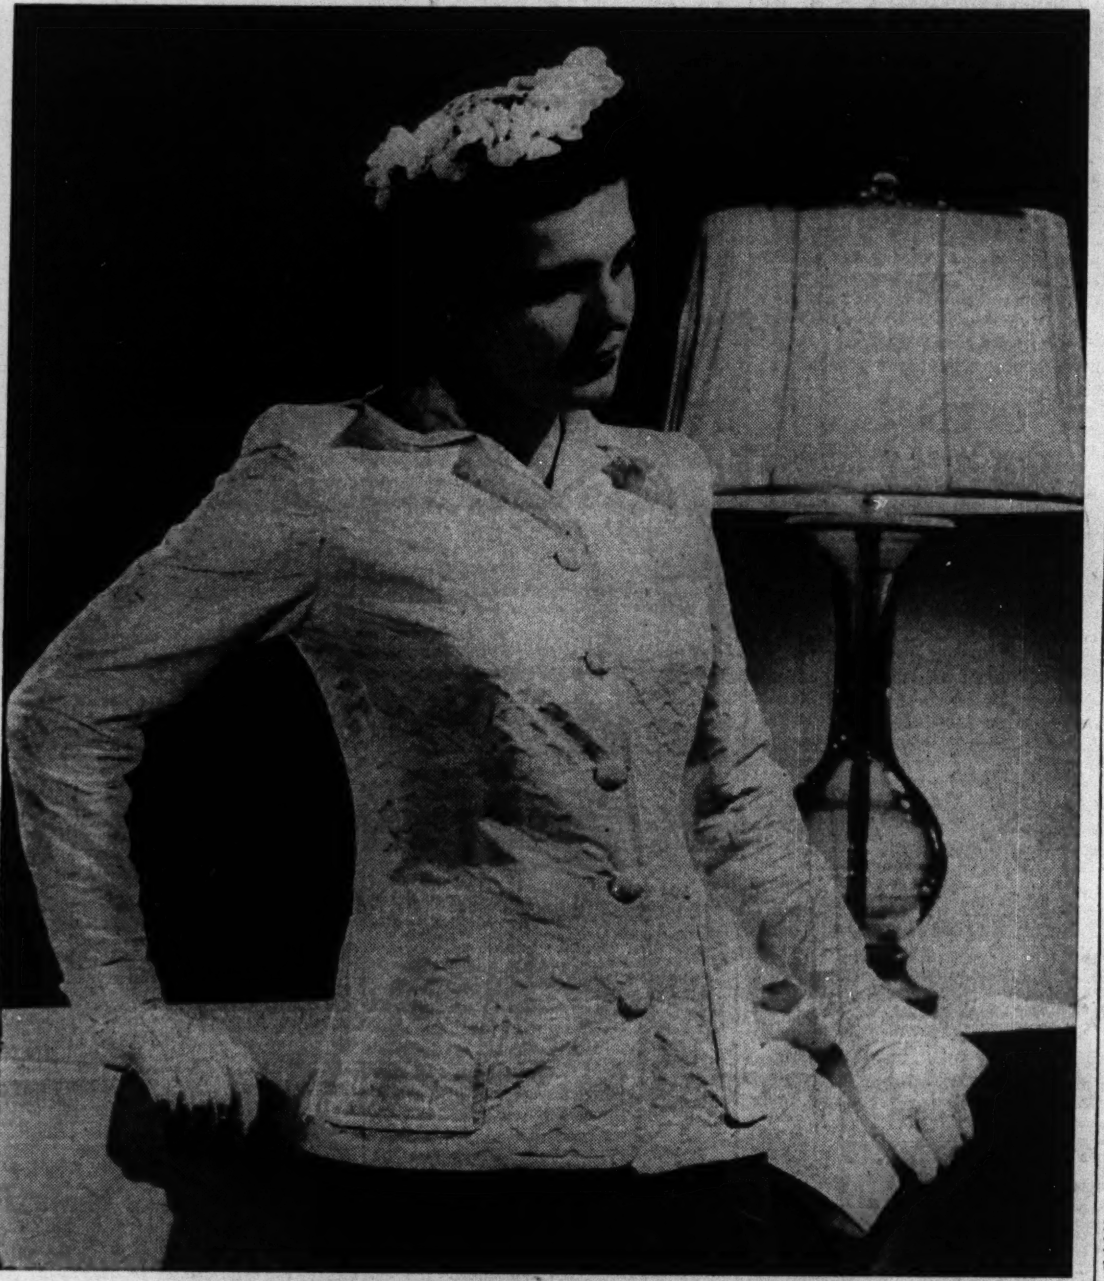
White Pique Jacket Is a Stunning Accent



This new daytime or evening jacket of snowy white pique dramatizes the most ordinary dress. It is made of a new patterned pique with a cloque effect and is tailored smoothly in the same precise manner as a jacket of wool or heavy silk. Atop the curls is the newest pancake of a snood, of white crocheted thread. The smart flat envelope bag is of matching pique and the slipon gloves are of fabric. The jacket and accessories—which may be worn with either a long dinner dress or a short daytime dress in dark sheer or silk—will be found in a Chicago store. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Smart Jacket Gives Tone to Any Wardrobe

BY REA SEEGER.

Jacket magic is still powerful, for with extra toppers of contrast, gay and giddy colors, or the swank of snowy white affairs, any summer wardrobe rates high marks for individuality. Whether you crave new and distinctive tops for daytime, dinner or evening and party dresses, any of the new ideas now around the town are the smart answer.

Printed faille jackets, with sleeves that end well below the elbow and bracelet length near the wrists, have collarless necklines, a streamline fit and provide vivid color contrast for light or dark shades of monotone dresses.

Spanking white piqué jackets feature new weaves or patterns . . . and altho there are many snappy waffle and ribbed piqués, see the knockout new cloque patterns if you demand something new and supersmart. These are the long-sleeved, form-fitting affairs tailored as precisely as anything in tweed or fine wool, with lapels, cuffs, collar and pockets with flaps. Such snowy white finds are ideal with dark sheers for daytime and street clothes, and obligingly double for night duty with slinky dark dinner dresses or as frosting for billowy, wide skirted dance dresses of lace, net, organdy, chiffon, and the many picture book models made of cool net.

Less dress parade, but just as sleek and distinctive are the plaid patterned linen jackets. Designed for summer duty for town and office clothes, they promise all kinds of snap with cottons, linens, silks or the many rayon materials. While the jackets are plenty exciting and easy to take because of the effective contrast and modest price marks, they are finds of the season because most of them can be and are matched with bags. These bags are in cool white piqué in the same effective cloque pattern, printed failles, and the plaid linens. They have stunning frames of honey colored wood in the linen, concealed frames for the pouch bags of printed faille and a tailored compact envelope covered with the piqué.

Navy Club to Meet.

Thru the Looking Glass

One of the nicest inspirations for a Father's day gift is a kit of three items for his enjoyment and better grooming—an after shave lotion, a cologne in a clean, zippy kind of fragrance, and a container of after shave talc in flesh tone.

We happen to know that these are extremely popular with discriminating men. They like the scent of them, particularly, and are especially partial to the after shave lotion and the cologne. The shave lotion, they say, is the kind that tops off a good shave; it's a little bracing, or stimulating, and makes the skin feel refreshed and extra clean. It comes in a handsome, dignified kind of bottle, with a special little indentation in the center that makes it easy to grip even with wet hands.

The cologne bottle is in the same design and the cologne comes quite close to being tops among those men prefer; maybe it is tops. Men buy it for themselves, we know, and that's a good test of any of the toiletries for men. Men buy the talc for themselves, too, quite steadily. They like the fine texture and the tint of it; because it's flesh toned it provides a soothing film that they like to know is just about invisible.

These three items are set up in a plain kit with snap button fastening, the wood-grain paper decorated with a polo player in action. It's handy for travel but equally acceptable to the stay-at-home, and while the toiletries are of excellent quality we wouldn't say that this gift is an expensive one. It's a perfect Father's day gift for the man of conservative taste in grooming aids.

"I wish I were 20 years younger," wished Miss Marguerite Deuel as she smoothed the skirt of her dark blue Norfolk army nurses' uniform yesterday at the Drake and looked about at the young girls arrayed in various uniforms of the present war. The women were dressing to take part in a showing of women's uniforms—then and now—presented by the Illinois Opera guild at a benefit bridge party in the grand ballroom of the hotel.

The uniforms of Miss Deuel, Miss Mary Dowd, Mrs. Charles Huston, Miss Theresa Finley, Mrs. Mona R. Inman, and the other women who served in the last war were of as much interest as the latest models, and some of them, with skirts shortened and shoulders broadened, could go abroad today in best of style. The suits generally were made of gaberdine in various blue or green shades, single breasted, with large patch pockets, some buttoned to carry money safely; straight line skirts, and wide belts at the waist.

Miss Dowd, one of the original Gray Ladies of the Red Cross, was wearing a Jugo-Slavian Red Cross medal, among other decorations. A medal for her work among the French wounded and one for her work for devastated France were pinned to a pocket of Mrs. Inman's American Red Cross ambulance driver's uniform of the first World war. She had two other uniforms at that time, British and French, and did canteen and nurses' aide work as well as driving.

The summer uniforms of the Red Cross Motor corps, as shown by Mrs. John Walter Miller and Mrs. Haven C. Kelly, are refined versions of the above uniforms. That Mrs. Miller had driven an ambulance in World War I. was hard to believe by all who observed her pretty, young face and her slim figure.

The acme in contrast in the uniform parade was afforded by Miss Marie Humbert's French army nurse's uniform with flowing navy blue cape over a long skirted white frock and a flowing veil, and the navy nurse's uniform of Miss Evelyn Brandt, who ranks as an ensign. The navy's insignia in gold was pinned to the lapels of her starched white dress, and a tiny cap of white with a navy line balanced atop her blonde curls. White stockings and shoes are other uniform requirements for nurses and some Red Cross workers.

A dashing uniform was worn by Miss Ethel May Wright, who was a yeoman, first class, in the navy. The suit of navy blue, handsomely plaited and tucked, and its matching cape that fastened with frogs, are of timeless fashion. The high crowned rough straw sailor that went with it, alas, was not.

One of the most daring jobs of the current war was illustrated in the person of Miss Mary Jane Johnstone of the civil air patrol, who was wearing "officers' pinks." Her full dress uniform, definitely not pink, consisted of a khaki shirt and a dark green gaberdine divided skirt. An alternate costume is khaki slacks, worn while flying.

"We're not allowed to fly closer to the ground than 100 feet while tracking," said Miss Johnstone casually. "Tracking" is stunting to accustom gunners to follow a plane.

Chicago D. A. R. Chapter Will Meet This Afternoon

The Chicago chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a post Flag day meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Stevens hotel, at which Ferre C. O'Neill, who was elected recently to succeed Miss Florence Deneen as regent of the chapter.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

The women's division of the USO war fund drive, headed by Mrs. Charles C. Wells, is going ahead at full speed, hoping to have many more contributors to report at the next meeting on Monday. Last Monday it was reported that 1,225 persons had subscribed $18,392 thru the women. The drive will continue until July 1.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. CHARLES C. WELLS.

Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, a committee head, announced gifts from members of the Chicago Women's club and the Woman's Athletic Club of Chicago. Mrs. Samuel E. Hirsch and Mrs. Arthur E. Oppenheimer are in charge of the group soliciting contributions from Jewish organizations. Miss Clara Lawrence's team is canvassing women's business and professional organizations.

Mrs. Samuel G. Taylor III. has a committee largely made up of members of the Travelers' Aid society board. They are asking gifts independently as well as thru the Navy Mothers and Service clubs. Mrs. Joseph F. Ross represents the Salvation Army on Mrs. Wells' committee. Mrs. Reid M. Bennett has a team of 10 women conducting a block campaign in Morgan Park and Beverly Hills and contacting federated women's clubs in southwest Chicago neighborhoods and suburbs. Mrs. Harold P. Dunton has organized committees in every federated woman's club in Du Page county. Mrs. Joseph W. Kehoe and Mrs. Frank J. Waindle are in charge of the campaign among the Catholic women's clubs.

About 25 women who would like to be weather officers in the new women's army auxiliary corps will be trained at the Institute of Meteorology at the University of Chicago, starting in September. Approximately 100 women will receive this training at five educational institutions. Upon completion of the training, the women will be commissioned as WAAC 2d lieutenants and will be in command of 2,000 women who will be inducted as weather map plotters to relieve men for more active duty.

The women will be trained with 200 naval aviation and army air force cadets, and the qualifications for entrance are the same for both men and women, but the men will be paid while in training whereas no provision has been made to pay the women. To enter the course one must have studied differential and integral calculus and have had at least one year of college physics. Students interested should write to Dr. Carl G. Rossby, director of the institute of Meteorology, University of Chicago.

The problems which confront colored women seeking work in war industry is the topic to be discussed today at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at Adelarde's restaurant, 185 North Wabash avenue. The woman's division of the Chicago Urban league is sponsoring the meeting, at which Prof. John I. Yellott, chairman of the committee on defense training for the Illinois Institute of Technology, will be the principal speaker. Miss Sara Southall, chairman of the league's industrial committee and in the personnel department of the International Harvester company, and Miss Ora Higgins of the league's industrial staff also will speak.

The chief projects which the division is sponsoring at present relate to the training and employment of Negro women in defense industries. According to investigators, scores of industries employing women workers not only refuse to employ Negroes but even to discuss the matter. Most of these employers place the blame for this situation on their white workers. We have not heard of any white soldiers who refused to have Negro soldiers fight with them, nor of any white women who objected to Negro men being in the armed forces that are fighting for us and our children, so we hope that if there are white women workers who object to having colored women in the same plants, they will change their attitudes soon and remember that the Declaration of Independence, which states that "all men are created equal," means also "that all women are created equal."

Prof. Yellott will be the speaker at a meeting of the Matrix club next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. What Mr. Yellott will have to say about the training of women for war industry will be of special interest to some of the members of this club, which is composed of women writers, for many of them are looking forward frankly to the curtailment of their present jobs in this all-out war.

War work of any kind is still so new that results are difficult to ascertain. However, the YWCA has figures for one springtime project. A note in this column reporting that the organization could use volunteers brought so many offers that YWCA leaders couldn't find jobs for all. Therefore, they made a job—the consumers' corner of the loop center at 59 East Monroe street. The place was established as a consumers' information center for the business woman who cannot, of course, attend the consumer information courses and lectures mornings and afternoons.

The corner functioned for two months, April and May. In April 350 girls attended the course of four lectures. There were 282 individual interviews. The corner was closed when the decorators came into the center early this month. But the April figures have settled the fact that the corner will open again in the fall.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Pan-American Tea Guest Will Speak on Guatemala

Dr. Juan Rosales will speak on Guatemala Saturday afternoon at a Spanish language tea of the Pan-American council. Dr. Rosales, a native of Guatemala, is at the University of Chicago doing research work in anthropology. The tea will be at 3:30 o'clock at the College club, 30 North Michigan avenue.

Sunday Is Day Father Will Get a New Necktie

It is the open season on neckties in stores thruout the city this week. Sunday is Father's day.

The 19th annual observance of an event which has had a checkered career, to say the least, and which has been overshadowed [like Dad] by its feminine counterpart, Mother's day, Father's day this year will have a particular significance.

In many homes thruout the nation, women and children will spend the day alone, their thoughts with husbands and fathers far away on the fighting fronts. Men, intent on preserving a way of life that makes such occasions as Father's day possible, will be marching in thick, army boots instead of relaxing in disreputable, but comfortable, slippers within the family circle. Others will be manning guns instead of lawn mowers, and swabbing decks instead of dishes.

On the home front, families are not forgetting that their men may soon be in the same boat. Sales of neckties, socks, handkerchiefs, and gadgets of all kinds had a boost this week unparalleled in pre-Father's day shopping, David Mayer Jr., chairman of the State Street council, announced.

"Sales of men's wearing apparel and gifts of all kinds for Father's day have had a great boost due to the war," he said. "War bonds are among popular gifts for Dad. Indications are that sales within the remainder of the week will increase more than in any Father's day week in the history of the council. Father is no longer the forgotten man."

Gov. Green last week urged residents of Illinois to observe the day with special attention and to be mindful of men serving in the armed forces.

Father's day has been shoved around in somewhat the same manner as its namesake. Not quite overlooked, but never prominent, the observance has been assigned many dates in its history. For years the first week in June was celebrated by special statute in the state of Delaware. Other states set up a day in May to couple both Mother's and Father's celebrations. Nineteen years ago by common but not formal consent it finally landed on the third Sunday of June. So far, nothing has disturbed it.

Since 1910 various symbols have been worn for fathers — first roses, then dandelions, and after the last World war the poppy had a vogue for awhile. In recent years there has been no quarrel over the symbol.

Any father will tell you. It's generally a new necktie.

Parents Should Help Children to Avoid Their Special Faults

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We do want to represent to them what is fine and worthy, but we're not supermen and women. We're only human after all. We've made mistakes. We don't measure up to our own standards for ourselves or for a superior parent. But we would like to feel that we're all around decent enough for them to learn wise and kind things from.

Still, if we're honest with ourselves we know we're many things we don't want them to be. Since their tendency is to be influenced by us, what shall we do about it? We may be trying conscientiously to change ourselves, but we may not have yet succeeded. So, for the children's good, what shall we do about it?

For example, suppose you're terrified by lightning. You don't want your small child to be so, too, but if he observes your terror he's likely to "catch" it. What shall you do? Hide it, of course. Quake inside if you must, but outwardly be casual or even admiring of the lightning and the cracks and booms of the thunder.

Suppose it makes you simply furious to be knocked against, or pushed aside, by some one in a crowd. Shall you dwell upon your feelings or show your anger before your child? Not unless you want him to learn futile and energy wasting anger.

Do you dread meeting some officer in your company, or choke when you have to make a speech, or fear this, or hate that, or get self-conscious when some one watches you at work? If you do, cover up such feelings. They may be contagious and, if you can't cure them, at least don't discuss them before your children. As my grandmother used to say, "Now, don't put 'notions' in the children's heads."

INSTALMENT XLVI.
DISCOVERED.

While she waited, a plain clothes man, ordered to the hotel on receipt of the flying squad's report, examined the register, quizzed the clerk, and phoned headquarters:

"She has registered as 'Mr. and Mrs. Frank,' sir, so she must be expecting Rawlings."

"Okay. But it may be a mislead," answered Segrove. "I shan't move till he turns up."

"What's the number, darling?"

"A hundred and sixty-seven," she told him. "Fourth floor—the eighth door as you come out of the lift and turn to the right."

"Good! Will you order some sandwiches and champagne? I'm hungry."

June put in the order. Then, to kill time, she went into the bedroom and fluffed out her hair.

To kill more time, with a hand that shook quite a little now, she applied makeup. Putting on too much, she took it off and started over again.

"The light in the bathroom is at a better angle," she murmured, peering into the bathroom. "I'll put it on in there."

When she laid her bag down on the diminutive dressing table she knocked a tumbler over and smashed it.

"Now I'm getting nervous, too!" she told herself. "And that's simply no good. I've got to be ordinary. And I must get my face right, since I've started with the makeup."

There was a knock on the door. A waiter with the champagne and sandwiches!

Scarcely had he gone when June heard another rap. Frank this time, surely!

She ran to the door and opened it.

"All correct!" said Rawlings and flung off the big hat which had concealed most of his face. And, looking around appreciatively:

"By jove, this seems to me the very height of luxury. Remember, I've been sleeping in doss houses. Let's walk around and admire everything. Where's the fire escape?"

"Thru the dressing room—that door. You step out of the window. That other door is the bathroom."

"And that's a bath, isn't it? I believe I had one just like it in my former existence. Lord, darling, these last two days have seemed like a lifetime!"

Back in the sitting room. A small tier of parcels: the clothes she had bought for him. On the sideboard there were a bottle of champagne and the selection of sandwiches.

"In a minute I'm going to eat all those sandwiches. Sandwiches for tea and sandwiches for supper. It's an excellent arrangement, provided you don't have any dinner. I'm a bit grimy. With you in half a minute."

He went into the bathroom, was about to wash at the hand basin when he noticed June's bag on the diminutive dressing table. It was open. He glanced at it idly and smiled.

"She's forgotten to put the cap on her lipstick—it'll make everything messy," ran his thoughts.

He picked it up, adjusted the cap, and was putting it back when his eye was caught by the lining of her bag.

A moment later he held in his hand the remaining five of the pink telegraph forms—and the identification card—Glenday had given June.

The card spoke for itself of course. Neither were the blanks a puzzle, for well Rawlings knew they were issued only for special government service. And instantly he grasped the full significance of the fact they were in June's handbag. Gazing at the forms, there broke from him a sound like a cough and his hand went instinctively to his revolver, but he cut it away.

No—not yet. Not quite yet! He would behave exactly as if he had not found those telegraph blanks and the identification card and slowly but surely he'd make June confess . . .

While he was washing his hands he looked in the glass and saw that there were beads of perspiration on his forehead.

"Steady!" he warned himself. He ran some cold water on to his wrists, and began to whistle a popular waltz. When he dried his hands he stood still for a moment, his face lined and hard. He softened it with a smile, then, like an actor taking his cue, he strolled into the sitting room.

Ah! Now I'm ready for the sandwiches. I shall begin with ham. Smoked salmon for you." He took up the champagne bottle. "Keep your eye on the cork. . . . That's a beautiful pop—look at the ceiling."

The champagne foamed into the glasses. He put a glass into her hand and took one himself.

"Here's luck to us!" They both drank. "We need it."

"You're not going to start talking about bad luck!" June said.

"Not in a morbid spirit, no. And now I'm drinking to your beautiful eyes. Do you remember when I first told you you were beautiful and said I wanted to take you into a cloud?"

"I was awfully dithery in your airplane."

"You know, I believe our bad luck started then. Those photographs!"

"That seems years ago now. But talking about photographs, did you see the one of us in the evening paper today?" June asked.

"I did, and it was Matarasso's dirty work. Even if he is in clink, he hired one of his outside connections to get the picture of me from the photographer who took it and then turned it over to the paper——"

"Matarasso," she cut in. "Well, that clears up a mystery. The picture of me was clipped from a group of the Tarlinghouse office staff. The day you sent me to Matarasso's I overheard him say to Jacob Ferrer, 'here's the money for the group photo.' And that was the photo, wasn't it?"

"Evidently. And now Matarasso and Jacob Ferrer have both wreaked vengeance on you, and Mat has hit back at me. He was always warning me you wouldn't do to trust. He often said, too, that you would be our undoing. Remember," pausing briefly, "how annoyed you were when you found out Merlett was acting for me—the time he tried to hold you up in a taxi. That was before I began to trust you. And Merlett was also unlucky. He's in jail."

What was Frank getting at, harking back to Merlett? To change the subject, June said:

"I don't like this smoked salmon."

"Don't interrupt me. I'm in a reminiscent mood. By the way, did I tell you the steamship Hildegonda reached Gibraltar three days ago? We were unlucky that night—all that bother for nothing. There must have been something wrong with the fuses."

He was in a strange mood, she thought. He seemed to be bubbling over with good spirits, yet he was dwelling on his misfortunes.

"I want you to see, my dear girl, that we've been dogged by a misfortune that no amount of intelligence on our part could have forestalled. That time you and I went 'up' and collected the stuff—that trip did in poor old Garstein—and we lost the stuff."

"All right, go on then," said June. "The next trip you made without me—and that finished Ripert and Legrange. So you can't say I bring all the bad luck. You managed to collect a bit on your own time."

"Yes, that was a mystery, too. All the same, you've beaten me hollow. Going back to Matarasso, look what happened when you went to see him! One of Glenday's girls turned up and that was the end of Mat. And Ferrer——"

"I'd call it good luck that those criminals were caught."

Mention of Glenday definitely shook June's nerve, and if Rawlings kept rambling she felt sure he "would see everything from a new angle and stumble on the truth." She thought that he might be intoxicated, but he had not yet emptied his first glass.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY KATE MASSEE

Complete Confusion.

"Gentlemen: Please look this up as I only received one cocktail or beveredge set and one cheese set. When I ordered the beveredge set you sent me the cheese set, so I wrote and said I received a cheese set instead of a beveredge set, but the invoice was for a beveredge set.

"So I wrote and asked you to send the invoice for the cheese set and also to send me the beveredge set. Then I mailed you the checks for one cheese set and one beveredge set which I received and not one cheese set and two beveredge sets as you charged me with. Please straighten this out so I will have no more statements coming and oblige."

Button, Button.

The foregoing recalls a series of incidents that befell a young Chicagoan who'd enlisted in the navy. He ordered uniforms that totaled $200, received a bill for $150, took the trouble to go to the cashier and give him a check for the $200, in spite of the fact that the store's books showed only $150 charged. Our young man had been at camp for a few weeks when he received a bill for an additional $50. Highly incensed, he wrote a sharp note, saying he had paid the $200 owed in full and didn't owe another $50. Within a few days he received a letter of apology and the store's check for $50!

Three Way Benefit.

A friend who prefers to remain anonymous tells us that as she drives in from Kenilworth these fine mornings she feels unpatriotic driving alone, so usually manages to pick up a customer or two along Sheridan road. She not only is meeting some interesting people, but she's also doing her bit toward stimulating war stamp sales by suggesting that her passengers use the bus dimes thus saved to buy stamps.

The Bounding Main.

Audrey Goossens opines that what with basements and yards flooded following the recent heavy rainfalls, north shore residents won't have to worry about the tire situation—they can just sail around in boats.

Finis.

Latest recruits to the Tom, Dick, and Harry club:

The sons of Mrs. Harry C. Stearns of Maywood and the late Mr. Stearns. Harry is a major in the army, Dick is designing airplanes, and his twin, Thomas, is a corporation lawyer.

Up comes Bernice Tierney with the information that Richard A., Thomas W., and Harry M. Walsh are members of a law firm in St. Paul, Minn.

Three nephews of Mrs. Richard J. Kulleck are in the armed forces—Tom a bos'n's mate in the coast guard, Dick an ensign in the navy air force, Harry a lieutenant in the army. Last name, Dolan.

H. T. Faber of Milwaukee has a brother, Tom, in the navy; Tom's twin, Dick, is somewhere in Australia, and an older brother, Harry, spent two years in the last war in France with the quartermaster corps.

Finally we are reminded by Edith Ruffin, Fred Stevens, Frank G. Cousins, and Bill Traska that probably the most famous trio of Toms, Dicks, and Harrys is found in the Byrd family of Virginia. Thomas is an apple grower, Harry is junior Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, and Dick is Adm. Richard E. Byrd of antarctic exploring fame.

All of us like a vegetable plate meal once in a while. If we've lunched on hamburger cakes, or scalloped ham and potatoes, we don't really need meat in the evening meal. It's dietary good sense to include meat or fish or poultry in at least one meal of the day, tho.

Here are a few attractive vegetable dinner plans. Notice that there is color, texture, and size—shape contrast of food in each menu. These are important factors in appetite appeal.

Vegetable Lunches or Dinners.

1. Baked acorn squash halves, buttered peas, sliced beets in lemon sauce, cheese-stuffed prune salad on romaine.
2. Baked half Italian squash stuffed with seasoned crumbs, spinach with hard cooked egg slices, whole buttered carrots, celery cabbage salad, pimiento garnish.
3. Broiled tomato halves, fresh or frozen broccoli with hollandaise sauce, sautéed mushrooms, cottage cheese, sliced radish and cucumber salad on watercress.
4. Crumb coated broiled eggplant slices, baby beets and greens with vinegar and crumbled bacon, buttered green onions and carrots, avocado salad on leaf lettuce.
5. Creamed eggs and asparagus on toast, sliced tomatoes, salad of mixed greens, raw carrot, and cauliflower.
6. Scalloped potatoes, corn on the cob, buttered kohlrabi, tomato salad.
7. Whipped potatoes, turnip greens, buttered corn, and lima beans with pimiento and green pepper, cheese stuffed celery.
8. Parsley potatoes, okra and tomatoes, or bean sprouts and tomatoes, corn on the cob, cabbage slaw.

With all of these meals there should be some kind of bread, preferably whole wheat or enriched white bread, a beverage, preferably milk, and a simple dessert, such as fresh or canned fruit.

A cheese, egg, or dried bean dish is a good center for meals in which you don't care to use a lot of vegetables yet wish to omit meat. Cheese fondue or soufflé, puffy omelet, cottage cheese, and baked beans are excellent foundations for meals of this type. There should be something crisp in each meal, preferably a raw salad.

Today's Prize Recipe

Honey Devil's Food Cup Cakes.

[Twelve cup cakes.]

1 egg yolk
¾ cup strained honey
½ cup heavy sour cream
¼ cup sour milk
¾ teaspoon soda
¼ cup boiling water
¼ cup cocoa
1¼ cups flour, sifted
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white, beaten stiff

Beat egg yolk and honey together until creamy, then add cream and milk. Dissolve the soda in the hot water and mix with the cocoa to form a smooth paste. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt twice and add half of it to liquid ingredients, and beat well. Add the cocoa mixture and beat again, then blend in remaining flour and vanilla until batter is smooth. Fold in beaten egg white and fill greased cup cake pans two-thirds full. Bake in a 375 degree oven about 30 minutes. Serve with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with either vanilla or peppermint.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., June 17.—Never give up! And that's just what Elena Miramova, Eugenie Leontovich, and Ludmilla Toretzkaya didn't do. They put their heads together for six months and turned out a play which is so good it goes into immediate production, under sponsorship of Jed Harris and Mrs. Ben Hecht, with the three girls in cast. We all know about Leontovich and her prowess as an actress. Miramova starred in "Grand Hotel" in London, was a pet over there. To keep the wolf from the door here, while writing the play, she's been lecturing at our women's clubs on the gentle art of lovemaking. The play opens in Santa Barbara, then goes to San Francisco, with New York the next stop. Here's hoping, girls!

Such Is Fame.

I hope it will annoy you as much as it did me, to come across a picture in a magazine of Eddie Robinson and Mischa Auer, with the caption underneath, "And other notables"—one of whom happened to be Dr. Robert Millikan, head of California Tech, and receiver of the Nobel prize, and so many other honors. . . . If bombs ever start bursting, believe me, I'm going to make tracks for Pickfair, 'cause Mary's got one of the finest bomb shelters in town, right in her own basement. It was built as a trunk room. It now has cots, blankets, and all the fixings, and will hold at least 20 persons. . . . Did you know that after Laird Cregar made his big success here, his mother and four brothers moved right in with him? But Uncle Sam has taken the four brothers off his hands. Robert, Barton, Allison, and Edward are now in the service. Mrs. Cregar is just as pretty as she can be, and the boys call her their "Big Killarney Rose." . . . Fred MacMurray says life is turble monotonous. He spends his days as a sandhog, digging a tunnel in "No Time for Love"—at night, digs in his victory garden, 'cause his gardener up and left.

Can He Pick 'Em!

Humphrey Bogart's favorite actress is Ingrid Bergman, with whom he is working in "Casablanca." He declares she's the most beautiful woman and the smoothest actress he's ever worked with. Now, girls, don't crowd Bogy—He can be taught, too. . . . Paul Henreid, who ate his first hot-dog for a scene in "Now, Voyager," tells me that in Europe they're considered as definitely a piece of Americana as Lincoln's Gettysburg address. . . Wonder why Warners played down Jimmy Cagney's name on "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and then spent plenty of dough having billboards altered so he could be built up. . . . Grant Mitchell, who's playing Roz Russell's father in "My Sister Eileen," was a classmate of her own father at Yale. . . . Don Porter, young Universal leading man, grabs every heavy he can get. "If you can't be a star, be a villain," says Don. "Audiences hiss you, but they don't forget you."

He Gets Around.

I met Byron McCormick at Mrs. Frank Case's the other day. He was brought out for "China Girl." He starred in the fine documentary film of Pare Lorentz's, "The Fight for Life." En route here, he stopped in Chicago to lunch with two of the doctors who appeared in that picture, and who put up such a magnificent fight for so many lives around Chicago. McCormick's better known on the radio than in pictures, but, says he, "I may become better known thru my wife, Martha." She's the daughter of William Hodge, and her first theater production, "The Cat Screams," opened on Broadway Tuesday, Byron said he was amazed at the way she lined up backers, and she flew in the face of every one's advice that summer was the worst time for a thriller-diller mystery. Now I'll be hanged if Gilbert Miller and Max Gordon haven't followed her lead. Gilbert has a play in production, and Max will do one with Groucho Marx. But it took a smart girl to figure out that with gas rationing on, easterners will find entertainment indoors, 'cause they can't go back to nature.

Music in the Air.

Kitty Carlisle comes up with a swell idea for giving the soldiers some fun on their days off. She's rounding up people who have pianos, and getting them to let the boys come over and tickle the ivories, do a little close harmony, and generally hang around and enjoy themselves. There's lots of talent in our army, and nothing gives them a greater kick than being loose on a piano. Kitty has Harry Revel and Bonita Granville helping her. Can it be that we're softening up? Jimmy McHugh, whose "Mademoiselle from Armentieres" wowed the doughboys in the last war, now has a new number out titled, "Please, Won't You Let My Girl Alone?"

Tut, Tut, Betty.

Forty-seven American flying cadets with the RAF wrote an omnibus letter to Betty Grable, telling her she was their choice to "crash with," and asking for a life size colored poster of her to adorn their squad room. They ain't seen the horse nor the buggy since. Now a bunch of them have transferred down here to the Santa Ana air base, and they're plenty sore at Betty. Say they've begun to wobble, and think maybe they prefer Joan Fontaine. Better get busy, Betty—you're slipping. . . . Gracie Allen is just so dumb that the United States Treasury's appointed her head of their bond drive here for the duration. . . . Ranches are a dime a dozen out here, but Director Richard Thorpe's flax ranch is a rarity. He's having a flax dress woven for Hedy Lamarr.

Good Morning!

[Reading time, 90 seconds.]

Robert Hyde, who wrote this story; Lew Landers, who directed it, and Rian James, who put the screen play together, really understand kids—and folks! [Mamma, are kids folks?]

My only regret is that they thought it advisable to ring in a racketeer angle. . . . Minus that the picture would have been a little all-family gem.

The tale is about a district attorney and his small son, who are deserted by the wife and mother. . . .

Robert Bruce goes to pieces and the boy, left to the loving but not too intelligent ministrations of the Negro housekeeper, slumps in his school work. . . . He is acutely lonely and miserable and doesn't know what to do about it. . . .

One day while weeping in what he thinks is a very private wailing place he encounters a knight of the road who has paused to lave his feet in the cool stream that runs thru this particular stretch of meadow. The genial tramp is an old hand at life and it doesn't take him long to get at the heart of the little fellow's misery. . . . He casually spills consolation and advice. . . . The way to cure dad, he thinks, would be with "a hair of the dog that bit him"—namely: another woman. . . .

"Come and see us!" he whispers to the pretty girl at the soda fountain. . . . "Dad'll be home about 7," he promises the eager encyclopedia saleswoman. . . . He adds, "And I wouldn't wear that hat if I were you." . . .

There's a blonde gold digger living next door, too. And then—there's Miss Hunter, Bill's school teacher—whom he hadn't planned on. . . .

Douglas Croft is a child actor who measures up to the standard set by Roddy McDowell. . . . Every mother of us in the theater adored him! . . . Paul Kelly does a grand job as the father. . . . Fay Wray is likeable, but I thought at times a bit affected as Miss Hunter. . . . Other rôles are beautifully handled.

The action is amusing and touching by turns. . . . Dialog is simply swell!

Brushing aside the gangster angle—which really doesn't take up much footage—"Not a Ladies' Man" is a movie I wouldn't care to have missed.

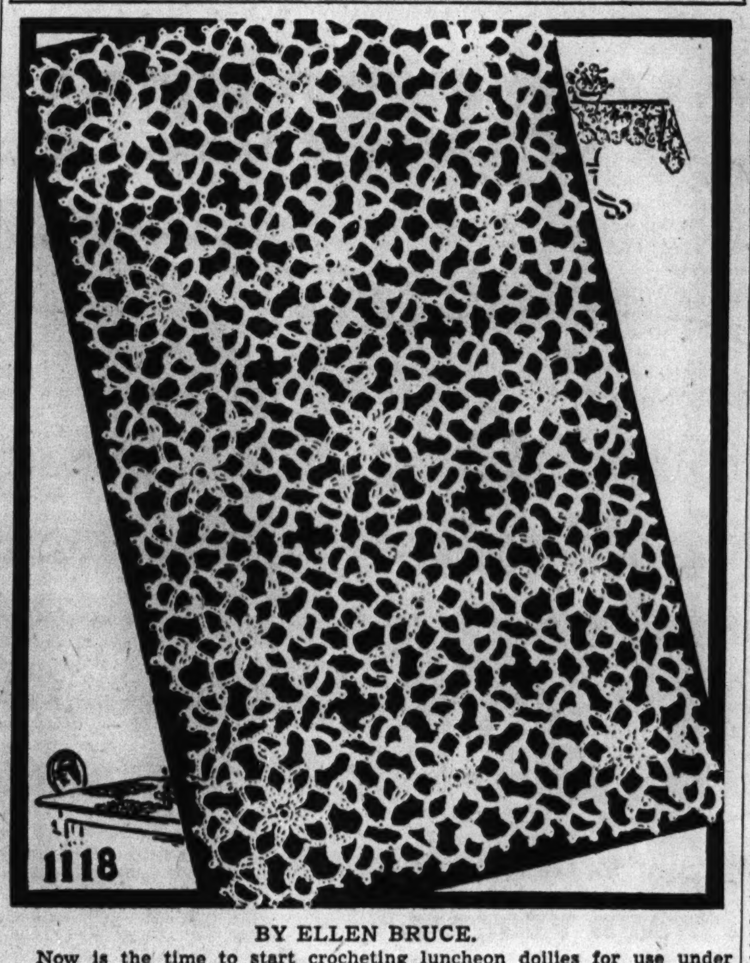
Stage Notes

Effective today, the daily matinée schedule of "Headliners of '42," the variety show at the Grand Opera house, will be pared down. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday matinées will be eliminated, as will the Saturday midnight show and the extra 5:30 performance on Sunday. The revised schedule provides for nightly performances, with matinées on Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday. Frances Faye, the singer, left the cast yesterday. Several changes and additions are brewing, including the possibility of a circus act and a dramatic sketch with a big name star. With frequent changes of cast and material [Bert Lahr is preparing some new sketches], the management hopes to keep the show in town thru the summer.

On about July 20 a new musical comedy, "Cocktails—Five to Seven," will come to the Erlanger theater under the producing banner of the Messrs. Shubert. New Orleans is the locale. The book is by Rowland Leigh and the score by Jean Schwartz.

Salad Plate Doilies



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Now is the time to start crocheting luncheon doilies for use under summer salad plates. This two square medallion is simple to create and 24 are required for one doily. It may be crocheted from mercerized cotton in colors or any of the delightful shades of carpet warp. This same design is attractive made up as a tablecloth or antimacassar set.

For instructions in crocheting the two-square luncheon doily, No. 1118, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is bad enough when the enemy "puts you on the spot" and forces you to guess the right play, but when it is your own partner who does this dastardly deed, it is infinitely worse. West had a strong dislike for East after the following hand.

West, dealer.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
3 hearts	4 diamonds	4 hearts	4 spades
Pass	Pass	5 clubs	6 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding, as may be seen, was truly remarkable. South apparently changed his mind about his own hand after he made his sound four spade bid. Exactly why he first bid only a game, and later thought he could make a slam, is difficult to explain. According to the result, however, his second thought was the better.

West opened the heart king and East played the deuce. And right there the defense collapsed.

The superficial reader will ponder my last statement and conclude that I am having hallucinations. "Why, all West had to do was shift to a club. East had bid clubs at the five level, hadn't he?" He had, indeed, but nevertheless and notwithstanding, West now was in a terrible dilemma. He did not shift to a club because he was a good player. He now made the correct play, under the circumstances, and thereby gave the declarer his slam contract.

Let me explain this paradoxical statement:

From West's point of view, if East had the club ace [instead of a long suit headed by K-Q-J] there could be no earthly reason for his failure to overtake the heart king and lay down the club ace. Indeed, that defense would be superobvious. Therefore, East must not hold the club ace, nor was there any substantial chance that declarer had two hearts, witness East's heart raise and his play of the deuce on the first trick. Well, if East lacked the club ace, and another heart trick was out of the question, where could the setting trick come from? Obviously, only from East's ruffing a diamond. [Of course, if East had a sure trump trick, it always would make.] East's only possible reason for discouraging further heart leads and, at the same time, letting West retain the lead with the heart king, was that he [East] was void of diamonds.

the summer in Lake Forest with her youngest son and daughter. Stanton Armour will be at Yale.

Mrs. Harry M. McLeod is taking over the chairmanship of the Lake Forest Book shop for the Chicago Junior league. Mrs. Hardwick Moseley, who has been in charge of the shop for several years, has resigned.

Colleen Moore Doll House to Be Put on Exhibit Again.

The famed doll house that was created by Colleen Moore, now Mrs. Homer Hargrave, and which has been exhibited across the country for the benefit of children's organizations, will go on view again beginning Friday, June 26, at Lord's department store in Evanston. The junior auxiliary of the Evanston Cradle society is sponsoring a preview on that night, with part of the proceeds going to the USO and the rest to the Cradle. The doll house will remain on view to the public from Saturday, the 28th, thru July 11.

Mrs. Hargrave devoted several years to assembling the house, which is worth nearly half a million dollars. She will be present at the preview. Mrs. Milton P. Rasmussen is chairman of the benefit preview, with Mrs. Kenneth McKeown, Miss Marjorie Hair, Mrs. William B. Walrath Jr., Mrs. Albert Potts, and Mrs. Carl Weidman, head of the auxiliary, among those on the committee.

Next Monday has been designated as "Aid to Russia" day in observance of the first anniversary of the Nazi attack on the soviet republic. There will be a Russian War relief benefit at 8:15 o'clock that night in the Civic Opera house. Mrs. Laird Bell and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr. are heading the sale of boxes for the event.

The open house for members of the Key club held last Tuesday netted $500 for the Decorators' Camp Furnishing fund. The money will go to the recreation lounge in Bartlett gymnasium at the University of Chicago for the use of the men in the naval radio school, and will be similar to the one the Decorators just opened in Sunny gymnasium for the naval signal corps.

The Housewife

If you are looking for an inexpensive but attractive summer rug for your porch there are good looking new ones of sea grass that solve the problem nicely. In beige with deep borders of green, their only decoration is strips of red and green at irregular intervals. The 9 by 12 foot size is less than $9. Other sizes are 3x5 feet and 3x6 feet, each under $2.

Chicago Musical College Observes 75th Anniversary

The Chicago Musical college, which was founded in 1867 and is thus the custodian of a tradition reaching back to pre-fire days, celebrated its 75th anniversary in Orchestra hall last night with an elaborate program which included the awarding of honorary degrees to three Chicago musicians and a commencement concert by artist students of the school.

Rudolph Cana, president of the college, bestowed the honorary degree of doctor of music on Arthur Charles Becker, dean of the school of music of De Paul university; Hans Lange, associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and Roy Shield, musical director for NBC's central division.

Soloists on the concert program were Charlotte Golub, Sybil Goldar, Jeanette Levin, and Robert McDowell, pianists; Miriam Wood and Aaron Rosen, violinists, and Dorothy Jean Staiger, Robert Keith McFerrin, and Virginia Parker, vocalists. The Chicago Musical college orchestra assisted. The conductor was Leon Sametini.

The address was delivered by Aaron John Brumbaugh, dean of the college of the University of Chicago.

WILSON'S WEEKLY World Famous RECIPES By George Rector
Food Consultant to Wilson & Co.

FIRESIDE, FRIENDS, AND FOOD

Some say it's bad form to enjoy one's self in times like these. I don't hold to that. I say, now more than ever, fireside, friends, and food count! Count for health, for happiness, for courage! Here are some ideas to help you, compiled from among the best of my collection that have made people glad through the years.

The Nutritional Thrift Meal of the Week

The Menu
MY BEST POT ROAST
(WILSON'S BEEF)
WHOLE POTATOES, ONIONS AND CARROTS
CHEF'S SALAD WITH WILSON'S MAYONNAISE
APRICOT CREAM TARTS

MY BEST POT ROAST
(A Million Times Tried)
Buy a 4-pound blade cut from Wilson's Beef pot roast. Wipe with damp cloth. Season with salt and pepper. Dredge in flour. Brown in hot suet in heavy kettle.
Add:
1 cup hot water
1 cup canned tomatoes
2 outer stalks celery
10 peppercorns
1 bay leaf

Other Thrift Meals
You don't have to spend large sums to enjoy good food (thank goodness!). My chefs liked these thrift meal ideas:
THRIFT MEAL IDEA ONE. Boiled Wilson's Beef with horse-radish sauce. (Add horse-radish to taste to gravy.)
THRIFT MEAL IDEA TWO. Wilson's Short Ribs of Beef, Jardiniere. (The tongue-twister only means "with vegetables.")
THRIFT MEAL IDEA THREE. Hungarian Goulash, Wilson's Stew Beef with a paprika hue.
THRIFT MEAL IDEA FOUR. Braised, stuffed Gela Seald veal birds in sour cream gravy.

SINCE A RECIPE is only as good as the ingredients that go into it, I'm going to stop right here and advise you to ask for WILSON'S BEEF for those thrift meals. HERE is wisdom with thrift, isn't it?

APRICOT CREAM TARTS
Make pastry of BAKE-RITE (recipe attached to can). Fill with cooked honey-sweetened dried apricots. Top with whipped cream. Sprinkle with mace. Saves sugar and money! Hope you invite me!

ANOTHER WAY TO SAVE
Price ceilings are making housewives more conscious of quality than ever before. In the years past, in today's present, in the months to follow, Wilson is the standard of good eating. When you select your meat for the week-end, insist on Wilson's Beef. You can be sure that with the Wilson name on it, it's quality all the way through. That's why I use it. That's why I recommend it to you.

I sincerely hope this week's offering brings you help, indeed. I'll be back next week with more. Till then, George Rector.

HALE AMERICA GOLF TOURNEY OPENS TODAY

ALL-STAR GAME CHARITY DRIVE PASSES $10,000 MARK

ONE DAY'S MAIL BRINGS $3,600 IN DONATIONS

Stuyvesant Peabody Contributes $2,000.

BY ARCH WARD.

Stuyvesant Peabody.

Setting a goal of $100,000 for army emergency relief thru the medium of the All-Star football game, they have covered more than one-tenth of the route in the first four days of the campaign.

Yesterday's mail brought $3,600, which, added to the previous contributions of $7,000, makes the total $10,600.

If the present pace is maintained, the goal will be attained long before the College All-Americans, to be chosen in a coast to coast ballot by the nation's fans, step onto Soldiers' field gridiron the night of Aug. 28 to meet the mighty Chicago Bears, heralded as the greatest team football has known, in Chicago's ninth annual charity game.

$150,000 Goal for Relief.

Normal profits of the enterprise, the net proceeds from the sale of tickets at standard prices—$4.40, $3.30, $2.20, and $1.10—are expected to approach $50,000. This revenue will be divided equally between Navy Relief and Army Emergency Relief. If donations to the special drive for soldiers' charities reach $100,000, the total contribution of $150,000 will be the biggest amount turned over to the relief funds of men in our armed forces since the attack on Pearl Harbor. That's the goal of the game's sponsor, Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Donations to the Army Emergency Relief fund campaign are deductible in the computation of the donor's income tax. For every $100 contributed to the fund Chicago Tribune Charities will give the benefactor a 50 yard line seat. Checks should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities.

Lettuce Merchant Contributes $600.

The biggest check in yesterday's mail was from Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Peabody Coal company. It was for $2,000.

The second largest donation was $600 from Lou Kaufman, South Water Market lettuce merchant. Mr. Kaufman and his party of Ellis Spiegl, George Mahoney, William Hill, and Stanley Grelecke will see football's most celebrated contest from 50 yard line seats.

The other contributions, all for $200 each, were from M. G. Fessenden of the Ace Carton corporation, and past president of the Chicago District Golf association; Harold O. McLain, president of The Executives' club of Chicago; Herman Hueglin, president of the Airmaster corporation; Dick Snideman, president of the American Coating Mills of Elkhart, Ind., and Milton J. Spitz, prominent Chicago sportsman.

Parties.

When folks give a "party" nowadays
It isn't exactly the same
As the neighborhood gathering of other days
Which we used to call by that name;
One feature of such an evening
Which always drew friendly raves,
Was Kitty McDonnell's obliging
With the classical "Silvery Waves."

And always for an encore
There would rise on the summer air
Kitty's touching rendition
Of the good old "Maiden's Prayer."
And then her brother Bart would sing
In a voice so mellow and low,
A song we never grew tired of,
"If the Waters Could Speak as They Flow."

My contribution to the "revel"
Was a lengthy recitation,
I knew but the one, but regardless of that,
I "obliged," and with no hesitation;
And looking back now I can realize
What true friends they were and fair,
That I and my recitation
Were not summarily given the air.

And then, of course, for "refreshments,"
Ice cream and cocoanut cake,
None of your "side care" or "clover leafs"
Our summer thirst to slake;
In a world as complex as ours today,
With everything ultra and arty,
I often wonder what moderns would think
Of what WE fondly called a "party!"

It's strawberry picking time in Warren county and they grow big and juicy. And they're so sweet that Leon Henderson's sugar rationing doesn't apply to them. THREE GAME SOX STRING ENDED BY ATHLETICS, 4 TO 3

Wright Knocks In All of Losers' Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Phil Marchildon, the young Canadian who pitches for the Philadelphia Athletics, yesterday found he had come to the right place—Comiskey park—to end his five game losing streak. He held the Sox to five hits as he led his team to a 4 to 3 victory and back into sixth place in the American league standings, the Sox sagging back to seventh.

Marchildon's success, examined by an unprejudiced eye, probably would be classified under the head of retributive justice. On May 16 Phil appeared at Comiskey park in possession of a five game winning streak, and lost to the Sox in the ninth, 4 to 3. The Sox had won three straight.

Johnny Humphries was the starting and losing pitcher. He was spotted to a 2 to 1 lead in the first inning and protected it until the A's took the lead with a pair of runs in the fourth, which they fattened with their final and winning marker in the fifth.

Wright Drives in Three Runs.

A single by Elmer Valo, a sacrifice by Bill Knickerbocker and a single by Dee Miles gave the A's a run in the first inning. In their half the Sox grabbed the lead on a triple by Wally Moses, a walk to Luke Appling, a confused fielder's choice play and a single by Taft Wright which scored the two runs. Wright also drove in the other Chicago run.

While Marchildon was holding Jim Dykes' boys hitless from the first to the seventh inning, the A's did enough business to establish victory. Bob Johnson walked at the start of the fourth, stole second and scored the tying run on Dick Siebert's single. Buddy Blair was thrown out, but Jack Eschen walked. Bob Swift then lined a single to center which sent Siebert home. Marchildon grounded into a double play.

Sox Miss Tying Chance.

Two were out in the fifth when the winning run began to bloom. Miles then doubled and scored on Johnson's single.

The Sox had a chance to tie the score in the eighth but blew it. Moses walked and was forced by Appling. Blair made a spectacular stop of Don Kolloway's shot along the left foul line, holding to a single what appeared a certain double. This break was balanced, tho, when Appling and Kolloway moved up on a wild pitch. Wright, perhaps still fretting because he had forgotten the number of outs in the first inning, which had resulted in his being doubled off first, bounced to Knickerbocker, Appling scoring and Kolloway reaching third with the potential tying run. Then Joe Kuhel flied to Miles.

LEE SUFFERS 3D BOUNCING IN ROW BY DODGERS, 5-1

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 17.—Bill Lee today made his third attempt of the season to raid the stronghold of the Dodgers, and for the third time the National league pace setters sent the big Cub ace reeling, partly because of the fielding infirmities of his own mates. The Dodgers used only seven hits to pile up a 5 to 1 margin which brought Lee his fifth defeat against eight victories for the season. It was the Chicagoans' ninth whipping in eleven battles with the champions.

Lou Hits Triple, Single.

Kirby Higbe, one of the numerous Cub alumni members enrolled with the Dodgers, needed only 1 hour and 43 minutes to convince Jim Wilson's lads they were a bit hasty in declaring they finally had started to hit. Higbe rifled them down with a four hit performance, one of the hits being Rip Russell's second inning homer, his fourth of the year. It was Higbe's sixth success of 1942 and his fourth in a row.

Lou Novikoff spent another pleasant afternoon with his bat, which produced a triple and single, but in another way the ponderous Russian wasn't exactly a finished workman. He gave the salute to a third inning blow by Arky Vaughan, back in service after nine days on the injured list. This gave the Dodgers an extra run. Later Lou Stringer messed up a play, which forced Lee to surrender a third run. In the eighth Dolph Camilli, also a Cub alumnus, made victory more decisive by hammering a two run homer, his 10th.

Herman Scores for Dodgers.

There was nothing spurious about Russell's second inning homer, but he drew the chance to hit it only because a tall foul had escaped Mickey Owen. Higbe's next pitch came in nice and high and the ball was last seen going into the pocket of a soldier in the left field pavilion. Bill Nicholson and Jim Foxx promptly furnished easy outs, but Novikoff slammed his triple into the right-

NEWHOUSER AND TEBBETTS MAY BE ARMY BATTERY

Detroit, Mich., June 17 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers learned today that a battery combination—Pitcher Hal Newhouser and Catcher George [Birdie] Tebbetts—probably will be in the army within a month.

Newhouser, 21 years old and recently married, passed his physical examination today at draft headquarters and indicated that he would enlist soon. Tebbetts said he would enlist in some branch of the service if not called by July 9, when the Tigers start their next eastern road trip. He is 27 years old and unmarried, but has been classified in 3-A because of dependents.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Hale America National Open Golf tournament, the show on which three national organizations have been directing their practice swings for months, finally goes on the tee this morning at the well groomed and readily accessible Ridgemoor Country club.

A field of approximately 100 players will go forth on the first 18 holes of the 72 hole battle which constitutes golf's biggest organized contribution to the war effort. Eighteen hole rounds also will be played tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday, with all starters going thru to the finish.

The Hale America National Open replaces the Annual Open tournament conducted by the United States Golf association, which canceled all of its events for the duration of the war. The USGA is co-sponsor of the Hale America with the Chicago District Golf association and the Professional Golfers' Association of America. The CDGA announced at the origination of this event that the winner of the Hale America also will be recognized as the 1942 Chicago Open champion.

Prize Total Is $6,000.

The Hale America at Ridgemoor is a timely departure in golf competitions. It offers one of the brightest fields ever seen, playing on a course that can be reached easily. The professionals in the tournament will be playing for a total of $6,000 in prizes, a portion of that being distributed in war bonds.

But paramount in the minds of players and officials is the real objective of the tournament—a successful event that will allow all to contribute a substantial sum to the Navy Relief society and the United Service Organizations, which will share equally in the net proceeds of the tourney. The advance ticket sale of approximately $15,000 was reported to be one of the largest pretournament collections in major golf competition.

The gents in charge of the proceedings have done naught to trick up the course. They will rely on continued coöperation by the weather man and a layout of 6,519 yards climaxed by three good finishing holes. The lads who have been working out here opine that, given proper atmospher condition, scoring to the greens should be easy, with 276 being the popular choice as a winning figure among the bolder clairvoyants. The course record is 65, set some years ago by Johnny Gibson, present Westmoreland professional. This figure was tied yesterday when Herman Barron, Western Open champion, posted the day's low practice round score.

Johnny Lehman, who joined the Edgewater Golf club this year, carded a 32—34—66, four under par, to win the 33d annual Hy-Jinx tournament on the north side course yesterday, pacing a field of 150 members and guests. It was the lowest score ever recorded in a Hy-Jinx meet.

Hale America Golf Tourney to Open Today

The foursome played 13 holes, swinging at Nos. 10, 11, 17, and 18 after going over the front nine. The crowd of 1,500 who pursued them was regaled by Hope's badinage, and by the finishing hole, where Jones dropped an 18 foot putt for a deuce, while Hope, who spilled his tee shot into the front bunker, flipped his recovery to within less than a yard. The match finished even.

A number of the final practice rounds yesterday augured a batch of low competitive scores. Rod Munday of Toledo, O., and Henry Picard of Oklahoma City came home with 66s, six under par. Munday, the golfing switch hitter, who carries two putters, using a left handed stick if his putts are four feet or under and a right handed one for those above that distance, reported a 34—32—66 in which he dropped four putts from the port side. Picard, former Masters and National PGA champion, drove in with a final nine of 31 for his 66. Frank Moore of Belleville, Ill., had a 67.

Dawson's Total Is 279.

Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Frank Commisso of Rochester, N. Y., did up their practice chores with 68s. Johnny Dawson, who has been playing the greatest sustained golf of the year in California competition, wound up his drills with a 69, giving him a 72 hole practice record of 279, nine under par. He had preceded yesterday's efforts with eighteens of 70, 72, and 68. Johnny's 69 was matched by Harry Cooper of Minneapolis, who clipped three shots off par for the second day in a row, and by Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis.

Admission for a single day will be $1.65.

Congressional Proposal Comes as Shock.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago racing officials, horsemen, and fans yesterday expressed apprehension that the proposed 5 per cent federal tax on mutuel betting pools might cause a drastic decline in the popularity of the sport. The operators and horsemen reaffirmed their stand that the racing industry in all its phases is eager to do whatever the government considers best during the war, but they warned against the danger of killing it by imposing prohibitively high levies on the betting public.

The proposed 5 per cent federal tax which yesterday received the tentative approval of the house ways and means committee would raise the takeout from 10 to 15 per cent in Illinois. In some states, such as Florida, the figure already is 15 per cent. The opinion was unanimous that no bettors—even the big moneyed playboys who keep the Florida tracks booming—would stand up long with a 20 per cent takeout.

Will the Fans Hold Out?

It is understood that the house committee hopes to raise 25 million dollars by this measure. This would presuppose a betting handle of 500 million dollars at the nation's race tracks. The question arose as to whether the fans would stick at it long enough against 15 and 20 per cent takeouts to pile up that volume of betting.

"I think that every one connected with racing wants to do whatever the government thinks ought to be done during the war," said Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association, which controls Churchill Downs and Lincoln Fields. "But there is danger of killing the goose that lays the golden egg. I'm afraid that a 5 per cent federal tax would raise the takeout to a point that would drive the people away from the tracks into the handbooks.

Favors Profits Tax.

"Personally I think it would be better if the excess profits tax were put thru instead of the tax on betting. If we made the money we'd be glad to give it to the government to help out during the emergency and we'd be keeping racing alive thru the war. I want to keep the game going. If the betting pools are taxed by the federal government it may raise the takeout to prohibitive heights."

Winn, as head of Churchill Downs and Lincoln Fields, already has made an outright cash contribution of $100,000 to the war effort in addition to the purchase of $100,000 in defense bonds. Arlington Park has announced that it will turn over all its profits for the Fourth of July—the biggest day of its meeting—to war funds. Sportsman's Park came thru with approximately $42,000 during its spring meeting and Washington Park and Hawthorne officials have signified their intentions of making substantial contributions during their meetings.

Fears Widespread Effect.

Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Arlington Park and Washington Park, expressed apprehension that the proposed tax would have a damaging effect on the quality of racing and would produce its repercussions in the far reaching network of industries, such as breeding, which depend on the sport.

"Arlington Park and Washington Park will leave nothing undone in their efforts to support wholeheartedly every phase of the war effort of the nation," he said. "These efforts will be directed toward raising a substantial cash sum for Army and Navy relief and the sale of war bonds and stamps.

Would Eliminate Big Races.

"We believe that the sport of racing, which helps to support the millions of dollars that are invested in the breeding industry and in many other businesses, does and should pay all the taxes that it can. I am of the firm belief that an additional 5 per cent tax on the mutual handle will tend to destroy high class racing by substantially reducing its patronage. It would result in the elimination of many of racing's famed feature events, which would naturally result in a further lessening of public interest. Without its present strong public appeal, racing of high caliber would be unable to maintain its contributions in all forms of taxes and it could no longer keep its important place in the life of a community."

Bidwill Is Pessimistic.

Charles Bidwill, chairman of the Hawthorne board of directors and vice president of Sportsman's Park, expressed doubt that the racing fans could last long against a 15 per cent takeout.

"It would be like going up against a buzz-saw," Bidwill said. "The percentage would be too much against the bettor. Six races with a 15 per cent takeout would eat up a two dollar bet. Against 20 per cent a fellow would be thru in five races. They've been operating on 15 per cent in Florida, but that can't be compared with any other state."

Some race track fans came back from Florida with the report that the bookmakers adjusted the wagers and payoffs on more liberal terms than track odds so as to draw customers on the theory that 10 or 12 per cent was all that a bettor could attempt to cope with. On this basis, the high takeout tended to drive the fans away from the tracks and into the handbooks.

SMIDL TO MEET TALBERT TODAY IN CLAY TENNIS

Twice Delayed, Tourney Opens on Asphalt.

St. Louis, Mo., June 17 [Special].—Bob Smidl and Jib Evert, two Chicago youngsters who won the national junior tennis title last summer, are ready to make life miserable for Billy Talbert of Cincinnati, O., the favorite in the clay court tournament which finally got under way today on an asphalt surface after being delayed two days by weather.

Talbert will meet Smidl tomorrow morning in a third round match. If Billy wins, he probably will run into Evert, seeded No. 7, in a quarter-final match Friday. And if Billy beats Everet, he should clash with Seymour Greenberg, another Chicagoan who is seeded No. 3, in the semi-finals Saturday—at least, that's the way the tournament looks on the scoreboard.

Gardner Larned, the fourth Chicago entrant, is seeded No. 8. There is the possibility that Larned, a tremendous hitter, might score a few upsets and reach the finals, perhaps against Talbert. Thus, Talbert may win the meet by beating successively four players from the same town, a feat without precedent in a national tournament.

Talbert, the four Chicagoans, and the other seeded players, Billy Reedy, Charles Mattman, and George Richards reached the third round today without serious opposition. Summaries:

SHANK SIGNS FOR THREE BOUTS, ONE WITH ARMSTRONG

Ruben Will Fight Henry in Denver July 3.

Ruben Shank, Denver, Colo., welterweight, who a few weeks ago gained recognition by scoring a surprise victory over Fritzie Zivic, yesterday accepted three bouts in Denver against Tito Taylor, June 26, and Henry Armstrong, July 3, and in Newark against Vinnie Vines, July 13. The July 3 match will be Armstrong's second in a comeback campaign which the former 147 pound champion started on June 1 when he registered a fourth round technical knockout over Johnny Taylor in Oakland, Cal.

Before the contest against Shank, Tito will meet Frankie Petroff of Peoria in a six round event in the Madison [Wis.] ball park tomorrow. The card is topped by a 10 rounder involving Armand Sicilia, Springfield, Ill., lightweight, and Matt Daugherty of Milwaukee.

Krejci, Witzleb Reach Finals in Western Junior

Billy Wetzleb, Illinois college conference champion from Dixon, and Jack Krejci of La Grange will meet today and tomorrow at Ridgemoor for the Western Golf association's junior championship.

Originally scheduled for 36 holes today, in connection with the Hale America Open, the final will be run off at 18 holes each day, starting at 9 a. m.

Levenhagen upset the 1941 runner-up, Mark Weidman of Baraboo, Wis., 1 up, in the morning quarter-finals. Witzleb went 20 holes to edge out Otto Kohl of River Grove, 1 up. Culp defeated Jack Phelan of Peoria, 2 and 1, and Krecji eliminated Jack Atten of Chicago, 1 up.

Dodgers Whip Lee for Third Straight Time

Bill Herman walked to open the third, thus becoming the first Dodger to survive, and it wasn't long before he also became the carrier of his team's first run. Phil Cavarretta had to gallop fast to snare a low liner off Owen's bat, and Higbe was out bunting. A pass to Peewee Reese completed arrangements for Vaughan's blow. He sent a liner over short for what should have been a single, but Novikoff was so leisurely about heading off the ball that it bounced past him for a triple, Herman and Reese scoring. The inning closed on Pete Reiser's fly to Cavarretta.

Cubs Miss Big Chance.

Higbe issued invitations to a scoring spree in the Cubs' third, but they didn't respond. Lee walked and was forced by Stringer. After Len Merullo had been thrown out, Cavarretta also walked and with Stringer executed a double steal, but Russell fanned. From this point to the finish Higbe didn't fool around with his foes.

Dixie Walker opened the seventh with a single, went to second on Herman's out and to third on a single by Owen. Higbe bounced to Stringer, who tagged Owen for what should have been the start of a double play, but he dropped the ball, recovering in time, however, to throw out Higbe, Walker scoring.

HARTNETT'S TEAM ENDS STREAK OF GREAT LAKES NINE

Indianapolis of the American association snapped the Great Lakes Naval station baseball team's winning streak yesterday by winning, 7 to 1, at Great Lakes. It was the Bluejackets' first defeat in 25 games and their first since their loss to the Cubs on May 4.

The sailors were held to four hits. George Gill pitched four innings for the Indians and yielded three hits. He was relieved by Johnny McCarthy, former New York Giants first baseman, who yielded one hit.

Great Lakes will meet Chanute Field this afternoon at Great Lakes. Chanute has been strengthened by addition of Jim Walkup, pitcher once with the Browns. Milt Goemer probably will start for the Planesmen. It is the first time sports teams from Chanute Field and Great Lakes have met. Yesterday's score:

Indianapolis ....001 100 050—7 15 2

Olsen, Fleming Go Tomorrow Against Giants

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 17.—The Cubs will absorb a little more rest tomorrow but they'll pay for it with a double header Friday, a single game Saturday and two more on Sunday, all at the Polo Grounds, home of the Giants. For the Friday show Manager Jim Wilson is going to trot out Vern [Lefty] Olsen, and Les [One-Hitter] Fleming.

When Joe Medwick doubled thru Rip Russell's hands in the fourth today, it marked the twentieth consecutive game in which he has hit safely. The statistical experts claim it is the National league high for the season.

SOX'S ARMY-NAVY NIGHT GAME FUND REACHES $4,884

Sales spurted yesterday for the Army-Navy night game July 2 in Comiskey park, which is the relief game sponsored by the White Sox. Purchases of $1,400 in tickets the last 24 hours sent the total to $4,884, the White Sox announced. This represents actual cash in the box and does not include the blocks of tickets which have been sent to Chicago firms.

The Sox also reported that THE TRIBUNE's Army-Navy relief fund blank, printed daily in the sports section, has brought good results from fans purchasing tickets for service men. In addition to purchasing a block of tickets, the Frigid Fluid company sent along $50 to be used in buying refreshments for soldiers and sailors at the game.

The program will start at 6 o'clock with a game between Great Lakes and Chanute field. At 9 p. m., the Sox and Indians will meet in a regularly scheduled American league contest.

ROSS, WHITE SOX FACE JACK KNOTT AND A'S TODAY

There being a night game scheduled for Comiskey park tomorrow, there will be a special ladies' day this afternoon, final of the Athletics-Sox series. Buck Ross of the Sox and Jack Knott will pitch.

The Boston Red Sox will be guests of the White Sox under the Comiskey park lights tomorrow night.

When men carried jugs to State and Monroe Sts.

The Civil War had just ended when Gardner Chapin and Jim Gore started a whiskey business at State and Monroe Streets. The trade was wholesale only—which in those days meant a jug trade.

* * * *

EVEN IN 1865, a jug of mellow old "C&G" bourbon was prized as just about the finest whiskey that money could buy. Its distinctive flavor appealed to Chicagoans of that era fully as much as it does today.

Take home a bottle of C&G bourbon tonight. Or ask for it at your favorite tavern. Straight, or in mixed drinks, you won't find a more delightful whiskey anywhere.

FIRST PRIZE WINS FOR 3D VICTORY IN FOUR STARTS

Beats Sis Baker by Two Lengths in Stretch.

First Prize, the horse which was racing with Derby candidates earlier in the season, has settled down into a good medium class performer. He scored his third victory out of his last four starts yesterday at Lincoln Fields, getting home two lengths in advance of Sis Baker after the fans had sent him to the post as the 9 to 5 favorite in the main event of the afternoon. Radio Crusade, a 22 to 1 shot, was third in this six furlong dash.

Under Les Balaski's alert handling, First Prize got away well to run head and head with Sis Baker and Lum's Pride in the early stages. Lum's Pride gave up approaching the stretch, but Sis Baker clung to half a length lead as they charged thru the straightaway. At midstretch this filly began to weaken. Don MacAndrew tried to keep her going under the whip, but it wouldn't work. First Prize moved past her in full stride and continued under a hand ride to win easily. His mutuel payoff was $5.80, $3.60, and $2.60 across the board.

Valnor and Donnagina combined their efforts in the second and third races to produce one of the better daily doubles of the meeting—$323.40. Valnor was making the first start of his career among a band of maiden 2 year olds.

APPOINT CHICAGO RENT CZAR, ASKS LINDELL GROUP

Report Owners Haven't Cut Levels as Ordered.

Chicago landlords have laid themselves open to federal rent regulation because they have refused, with some exceptions, to lower rents to March 1 levels as suggested April 28 by the Office of Price Administration, the prices and rents committee of the Chicago Commission on National Defense reported yesterday.

Leonard Downie.

The committee report was signed by its chairman, Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], and sent to Mayor Kelly, the city council, registered real estate brokers and the Office of Price administration at Washington, D. C.

Paves Way for Rent Rule.

The 60 day period during which landlords are permitted to reduce rents voluntarily and avoid federal control expires June 28. The report asserted that local coöperation has failed and as a result the way has been paved for the imposition of mandatory rent rules after June 28.

Mayor Kelly said he had received no information from the OPA that a rent director would be appointed for Chicago, but that he had discussed possible candidates for the important position with OPA rent officials. He emphasized, however, that he had made no recommendation but had been asked to name a half dozen or more prominent citizens who might have the required qualifications.

Lindell charged that average rent increases ranged from 9 per cent on dwellings renting for $50 a month and more to 11 per cent on those renting for $40 to $50 a month and 15 per cent on those renting for $40 a month and less. He added that often the rent increases were accompanied by curtailment in services.

Ignored OPA Order.

He accused real estate owners of resisting efforts at local self-regulation of rents and of ignoring the OPA's recommendation. He said the voluntary 60 day period of grace has expired because rent boosts already have been collected generally for May and June. He indicated the OPA can impose its rule on June 28.

Leonard Downie, business manager of the Chicago Real Estate board, objected to the Lindell report, contending that federal rent control is unwarranted because landlords are willing to rescind May increases except for a 4½ per cent recapture of last year's jump in operating costs. He added that the housing shortage is no longer a factor because dwelling occupancy is 98.6 per cent, the lowest in six months, and indicating 10,000 vacant units.

4,500 VACCINATED AFTER SMALLPOX APPEARS IN ARGO

More than 4,500 men, women, and children in Argo and Summit, southwest of Chicago, have been vaccinated against smallpox since Monday. Seven cases have been isolated. The victims are Negroes. It is believed that the disease was carried by a small colored boy, recently arrived from Missouri.

Twelve nurses have been making a house to house canvass instructing all people who have not been vaccinated within the last five years to be vaccinated by their own physicians or to be vaccinated free by the health officers. Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, Cook county health officer; his assistant, Dr. John B. Hall, and Dr. Sidney L. Mann, health officer of Argo-Summit, are making the inoculations.

A FATHER-TO-BE ASKS LENIENCY; WINS PROBATION

Harry P. Verdeaux, 29 years old, of 2547 Washington boulevard, offered an excuse yesterday when he was arraigned in the Shakespeare avenue court on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The complainant, Mrs. Karen Haubold, of 1816 North Karlov avenue, asserted that Verdeaux had taken $40 from her and had falsely promised to get her son a job as a state policeman. Verdeaux admitted taking the money, and then made his plea.

"My wife is about to have a baby," he said, "and I'd like to have the court take that into consideration."

Lucien Boyer, Paris Singer, Dead; Wrote 1,200 Songs

VICHY, France, June 17 (AP).—Lucien Boyer, famous Paris music hall singer and composer of more than 1,200 songs, died last night in Paris. He was 66 years old. Boyer, who was immensely popular with the soldiers at the front in the first World war, was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor. He wrote more than 80 revues and at one time directed the Moulin de la Chanson in Paris.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Rep. Albert J. Engel [R., Mich.], ranking Republican member of the powerful house appropriations committee, today promised to ask a congressional investigation of the multiple jobs held by Sveinbjorn Johnson, legal counsel of the University of Illinois and Illinois director of the Office of Government Reports, the national Democratic propaganda machine, if the administration attempts to whitewash Johnson.

Engel, whose one man investigation of wasteful spending at army camps aroused the nation a year ago, said he will follow with interest the investigation of Johnson asked by Attorney General George F. Barrett of Illinois.

Barrett, thru an assistant sent to Washington, asked Attorney General Francis Biddle for a thoro inquiry by the federal bureau of investigation into the 1940 political activities of Johnson.

Changes Hatch Act Violation.

The Illinois attorney general submitted evidence that Johnson has been holding his job illegally and is subject to prosecution for violation of the Hatch act, which forbids political activity on the part of government employés. Johnson draws $9,000 a year as counsel for the university and $6,500 as Illinois director of the Office of Government Reports.

"The Johnson case clearly involves a violation of federal law," said Rep. Engel. "The civil service code specifically forbids this sort of double employment. The principle behind this law is a sound one; namely, to require value from all federal employés.

Laws to Prevent Spoils.

"Pay roll racketeering long ago was recognized by congress as the easiest method of political spoils, and the civil service laws were enacted to eliminate it.

"As a member of the appropriations committee who has fought, in season and out, for economy in nonwar expenditures, I shall watch with interest the progress of the investigation launched by Attorney General Biddle and the FBI. If corrective action is not forthcoming in due time, I shall present the matter in detail on the floor of the house.

"It does not make sense to say that a legal adviser to the University of Illinois, or any other state institution, is the best qualified person in that state to head the federal propaganda machine there."

ASSERTS TRAFFIC DEATHS DROP AS FINES INCREASE

The certainty of fines for violation of traffic laws has helped cut down Chicago's automobile deaths in recent years, Judge John Gutknecht said in Traffic court last night. He has specialized in the automobile courts since 1934.

In 1933, only $68,000 in fines was collected in all city courts dealing with motor violators, the judge said. In that year fatalities in Chicago proper totaled 1,042. In 1941 combined traffic fines amounted to $645,000, but fatalities totaled only 642, he said.

"In 1934 I and other judges took the fix out of traffic tickets, and violators knew they'd be punished, in some way," he said. "They became more careful. Thru the years the number of deaths decreased as fines went up even tho each year more automobiles were licensed in Chicago. I am convinced there is a definite relationship between the certainty of punishment and the decrease in fatal accidents."

SUES FOR RIGHT TO TAKE STATE MEDICAL EXAM

Dr. John F. Oliven, 28 years old, a member of the faculty of the University of Illinois college of medicine, filed a petition in the Circuit court yesterday to compel the state department of registration and education to permit him to take the next examination for a medical license so that he may enter the armed services.

Dr. Oliven was educated at the University of Basel, Switzerland, and the University of Genoa and the University of Rome, in Italy. He was graduated in Rome in 1938. He served a year's internship in St. Francis hospital, Jersey City, N. J., and now is specializing in psychiatric research.

Under a recent ruling of the department of registration and education, European medical college students who graduated after July 1, 1936, will not be permitted to take the Illinois examination.

EARLY CAUTION FADES, STOCKS GAIN AT CLOSE

Call for Less Drastic Tax Brings Confidence.

New York, June 17 (AP).—The stock market today took on a semblance of its best form of the last month or so by registering gains from fractions to 2 or more points.

It was a slow rise with a few flourishes near the close as certain blue chips advanced strongly. Brokers reported a fair part of the demand came from investment accounts.

Early caution, reflecting a desire on the part of market followers to wait out the results of the heavy engagements in Libya and on the Russian fronts, seemed to disappear as selling tapered to a trickle.

Urges Less Drastic Tax.

Some confidence was infused late by Washington reports that Donald Nelson had urged Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee to consider an excess profits tax for corporations less drastic than the 94 per cent levy proposed by the committee.

Appearing on the tape for the first time just before the finish Dow Chemical jumped 3⅜ and Douglas Aircraft 2½. Other leaders higher 1 to around 3 were Eastman Kodak, United Aircraft, Allied Chemical, du Pont, Bethlehem, and Chrysler.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite advanced .4 of a point to 36.1. Transfers totaled 388,480 shares compared with 278,590 yesterday.

EDISON STOCK LOWER.

Commonwealth Edison, volume leader, declined ⅝ to 20⅝ on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, reflecting an announcement by the company of a reduced dividend rate. This stock accounted for 1,400 of the 15,000 shares traded in a session marked by a mildly upward trend in prices. Of 70 issues traded, 32 advanced, 22 declined, and 16 closed unchanged.

Among other more active stocks, Anaconda declined ½, Radio corporation was unchanged, and both General Motors and United States Steel advanced ¼. Commonwealth Edison declined ⅛ and Swift & Co. advanced ¼ in the half hour following the New York close.

SOY BEANS CLIMB 2¾ CENTS; ADD TO WEEK'S ADVANCE

Wheat at New High Since May 25; All Grains Up.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Soy beans, which started climbing a week ago in futures trading on the Chicago Board of Trade, gained 2¾ cents a bushel yesterday to extend the advance to 12 cents a bushel. The July delivery, the strongest gainer, closed at $1.79¼, highest since the last week in May.

Short covering lifted wheat futures to $1.21⅛, a new top since May 25, as the market advanced ⅞ to 1 cent a bushel. Corn was up ⅜ to ½ cent; oats, ⅜ to ½ cent; rye, ½ cent, and soy beans, 1½ to 2¾ cents at the close. Most grains closed at the top.

Bean Futures Given Strength.

Better processor support of cash market prices and reaffirmation of federal plans to maintain farm prices gave strength to soy bean futures. Altho processors had told government officials that the mentioned support levels for soy bean meal and oil markets at the 11⅝ cents ceiling levels would not justify a $1.60 cash market or $1.65 loan rate for soy beans, government representatives informed them the department of agriculture would support the market at these levels.

Processors came away from the conference with the government men believing soy beans possibly would have a single market price next fall—the government price. The government would buy the bulk of the beans at its price and then parcel them out to processors for crushing.

Purchase New Crop Oats.

Cash grain dealers were active buyers of new crop oats again, paying about 3 cents under the September futures price. Market observers estimated that close to 75,000 bushels were purchased.

Announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard of 1943 wheat acreage allotments had little or no influence on the market, dealers said.

Cash barley prices broke 2 to 10 cents a bushel as more grain became available from the southwest. Most of the decline occurred in the feeding grades of barley. The top price on malting grades was dropped from $1.07 a bushel, a five year peak, to $1.05.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

By BOB BECKER

Speed on the Farm.

June 17, 1942.

THE 1942 symbol of hurry and efficiency is a high speed war industry plant with thousands of vital workers building tanks and planes and other war necessities. But did you ever see farmers harvesting a hay crop?

Every year on the Du Page county farm we watch the hustle and hurry of men working 12 or more hours a day in the alfalfa and clover fields and around the silos. When the weather is right and the hay is ready to be racked and stored, not a minute is lost for fear that the crop might be caught in a rain which would halt the harvest and possibly ruin the green crop which has been cut.

Job for Everyone.

When we were on the farm the other day alfalfa was being chopped and blown into a silo and every man on the place was either running a tractor, shuttling loaded hay racks from the field to the silo, pitching fragrant alfalfa from the racks to the ensilage cutter, or standing kneedeep in the chopped hay to distribute it inside the silo.

While one load of the fresh green stuff was being blown into the silo we climbed up to watch the boys who were doing the inside work. There were three workers inside the silo, their job being to distribute the silage as it came down from the blower and also to keep a special craft paper in place along the walls of the silo so that the alfalfa would not come in contact with the concrete walls.

Lucky It's Cool.

Their pitchforks were constantly on the move as the hay poured down from the opening in the top of the silo. One of the men remarked that they were lucky that the weather was cool.

When the temperature goes into the 90s and the sun beats down on the tin roof of the silo these inside workers get a real workout. The thermometer was in the 60s the day we were there.

Alfalfa is one of the stable hay crops on every midwestern farm, but in one way alfalfa never can take the place of red clover because clover in full bloom has a fragrance which alfalfa can't rival.

We left the ensilage cutter and went to the nearest clover field. From every point of the compass the bumble and honey bees were coming to collect the nectar from the red blossoms.

HARDSHIPS JUST BEGUN, RETAIL GROUP WARNED

OPA Counsel Says All Will Suffer.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Retailers, already hard pressed by economic disruptions incident to war, face further hardships thru falling sales, shrinking profits and mounting business casualties, 900 members of the National Retail Dry Goods association were told last night at their convention in the Palmer House.

David Ginsburg.

The warning, together with forecasts of further drastic government action to accomplish the purposes of price control and avoidance of runaway inflation, was delivered by David Ginsburg, general counsel to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

Ginsburg assured the merchants the government will do its utmost to minimize their hardships but admonished them that "the country cannot afford to support them all in the style to which they became accustomed in 1940-'41."

Sees 62 Billion Savings.

Asking national support of the inflation control program for the duration, he declared "the OPA has already saved taxpayers about 6 billion dollars on their war expenditures, and if we can hold the price front for the rest of this year, the country will have saved 62 billions on current appropriations."

Forecasting a shrinkage to depression levels in sales of consumers' goods, Ginsburg said the cut in civilian consumption between the peak of August, 1941, and last April was 10 per cent, and termed this "the first phase in the terrible cut in the standard of living that will be necessary to feed, clothe, equip, and transport our armed forces."

"Six months from now," he said, "the production of consumers' goods and services will be down 25 per cent from the peak, bringing us back to where we were in 1935. By the end of next year we shall be down to the levels of 1932."

Outlines Gloomy Future.

"The pressure on retailers this year is only a foretaste of what 1943 holds in store. Profits will drop and retailers will face the loss of trained personnel, reduced transportation service, and the inventory problems involved in the extension of rationing."

The OPA official warned that governmental allocation will be instituted to assure an equitable distribution of merchandise unless some distributors discontinue what he termed favoritism toward retail outlets with higher profit margins and discrimination against large volume retailers with low margins.

Touching on a problem faced in Canada where price control was begun earlier, he declared there is already a trend toward curtailment of low priced items offered for sale in this country. Forcing the consumer to pay more, even tho he receives a better quality item, defeats the purpose of cost of living control, he said.

May Freeze Price Lines.

To correct this condition, Ginsburg asked the merchants to maintain a proper balance between the cost levels of goods offered for sale and warned that the government has the power to freeze existing price lines or prohibit new models, brands, or styles.

Ginsburg expressed satisfaction with the way retailers in general had complied with OPA price limits, but said he was "bitterly disappointed" with the failure of many to post their ceilings prominently so that customers may know the March price levels.

Earlier Ginsburg addressed a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce, where he warned that should illegal "black" markets develop in this country as a result of price control efforts, as they have in England and other European countries, both buyers and sellers will feel the full force of law.

Warns of Black Market.

"The consumer who buys in a black market is equally culpable with the seller," he declared, "and we will do our best to put both behind the bars."

Maj. Benjamin H. Namm, Brooklyn merchant who is directing the retailers' drive for the sale of war bonds and stamps, also addressed the retailers' evening meeting at which Elmer T. Stevens, president of Charles A. Stevens & Co., presided.

Chicagoans who addressed various group meetings during the day included J. D. Kemper, credit manager of Mandel Brothers, Earle Harrison, assistant credit manager of Marshall Field & Co.; Martha B. Douglas, training director for Carson Pirie Scott & Co., and S. J. Fosdick, personnel director of Wieboldt Stores, Inc. E. M. Brock of Lord's, Evanston, was elected a director of the dry goods group.

OPA Wool Order Paves Way for Male Attire Price Revision

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—By issuing a price ceiling on worsted and woolen fabrics, with prices lowered as much as 25 cents a yard in some cases, the Office of Price administration today paved the way for a special ceiling order, expected shortly, on men's suits and overcoats.

The new order also included an inducement to mills to mix at least 25 per cent of rayon or cotton in their fabrics. This was in the form of a price premium for such blended goods.

Now Under Universal Order.

The lowered manufacturers' and jobbers' prices on fabrics probably would be reflected in the special men's clothing order which, it was understood, would control prices at the retail and wholesale as well as the manufacturers' level. Men's clothing prices now come under the universal price ceiling.

The new order on worsteds and woolens sets individual ceilings for each mill by going back to the mill's price in its last selling season and adding specified percentages of markup to cover increased costs from that time up to March, 1942.

Study Compulsory Blending.

Whether or not blending should be forced upon the industry by a mandatory order was under discussion in a closed conference today between industry representatives and War Production board officials. WPB has been studying a compulsory blending program, to conserve the nation's wool supply, but the plan has been opposed by the mills.

Those attending the session made no announcement at its conclusion, but it was understood the industry men had presented to WPB plans for a voluntary blending program.

LAUD COSMETICS TRADE FOR USE OF SUBSTITUTES

New York, June 17 [Special].—The cosmetics industry was urged today to continue the "good job" it has been doing in conservation and use of substitute materials by C. A. Willard, chief of the WPB toiletries and cosmetics branch. He spoke at the convention of the Toilet Goods association.

Willard said he was unable to indicate what would be in the contemplated WPB production-limitation order on cosmetics, its base period or effective date. He said the industry would be in a much better position if it continued to anticipate the conservation and limitation program, as any move by the WPB would go no further than was necessary.

The government, he declared, has no intention of putting any concern out of business without good reasons and is not writing any limitation order just to stop production.

DIP IN GASOLINE STOCK CONTINUES THRU 13TH WEEK

New York, June 17 (AP).—Gasoline stocks in the United States dropped another 1,311,000 barrels in the week ended June 13, the 13th weekly decline, the American Petroleum institute announced today.

The total at the end of the period was 91,994,000 barrels, compared with 93,305,000 a week earlier and 91,431,000 barrels a year ago. Gasoline production, however, was 10,389,000 barrels, against 10,310,000 last week, an increase of 79,000 barrels.

Oil Stocks Down.

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—The bureau of mines reported today a 13,352,000 barrel decrease during April in total stocks of all oils. Supplies amounted to 532,756,000 barrels compared with 546,108,000 on March 31. April 30 stocks were 22,530,000 barrels under last year.

TREASURY PUTS 1½ BILLION LOAN ON BLOCK TODAY

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau announced tonight that 1½ billion dollars of ⅝ per cent certificates of indebtedness would be offered for sale tomorrow. They will bear interest from June 25, 1942, to Feb. 1, 1943.

Subscriptions will be received tomorrow and Friday, instead of the usual one day procedure, and subscriptions up to $25,000 will be accepted in full. Larger subscriptions will be accepted only on a pro rata basis depending on the proportion of total subscriptions to the amount of the offering.

This is the second time the treasury has issued this type of security in recent years.

Other U.S. Orders

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Orders issued today by war agencies, of concern to the civilian population, included:

EGGS AND POULTRY—The Office of Price Administration interpreted the egg and poultry provisions of its general maximum price regulation, explaining which products are under the ceiling and which products are exempt from this control. Exempt are shell eggs, dried eggs, dried yolk and albumen, frozen eggs, and tanner yolk; live poultry, dressed poultry, frozen and smoked poultry, and cooked whole chicken. Not exempt are canned eggs or poultry and poultry products such as soups, broth, chicken and noodles, and chicken à la king.

Must Turn in Metals.

AUTOMOBILES—To buy a new exhaust valve for the family automobile after July 1, the owner will have to turn in an old valve, just as he turns in an old shaving cream or tooth paste tube. The old valve will contain salvageable chromium and nickle alloy. The new valve, under the WPB order, will have chromium and nickel on the head only. And consumers are prohibited from installing a truck valve, which is made of better material, in a passenger car motor.

GASOLINE—The OPA announced that migratory farm workers will be given motor fuel to travel with the harvests in the 17 eastern states which have had gasoline rationing since May 16. It was said that similar regulations will be included in any nation-wide rationing plan.

Encourage Tin Production.

TIN—OPA fixed the price for pig tin made by the new and experimental electrolytic process at the same level as the top grade of tin. The purpose of the order is to encourage production to relieve a shortage that progressively is changing grocers' stocks of canned goods.

SHINGLES AND LUMBER—Dollars and cents maximum prices were fixed for red cedar shingles, which constitute 95 per cent of all wood shingles produced in the United States. For No. 1 grade, the new prices are approximately the same as under the general maximum price regulation. The new ceiling for the other grades is slightly lower. Dollars and cents maximums, substantially below current levels, were extended to additional lumber items produced from Douglas fir, west coast hemlock, and all species of true fir. Included in these products are ship decking, pontoon lumber, and aircraft lumber.

TRANSPORTATION—Effective date of the universal price ceiling as it applies to transportation, stevedoring, warehousing, storage, and similar services, was postponed to July 1.

298th Vessel to Engage in Ore Traffic Next Week

Cleveland, O., June 17 (AP).—By next week-end all 298 of the American Great Lakes ore vessels will be engaged exclusively in the iron ore trade. The 298th vessel to go into operation is a converted automobile carrier, the Crescent City. A year ago the total was 292.

URGE DIVERSION OF WHEAT LAND

1943 Planting Allotment 55 Million Acres.

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—The agriculture department announced today its 1943 wheat production program under which, because of present large supplies, farmers will be asked to divert wheat land to crops more urgently needed in the war effort.

The department set the national planting allotment at 55 million acres, the same as in 1942 and the minimum under the crop control law.

Other Crops Suggested.

Farmers whose land and equipment are suitable for growing other crops will be urged, the department said, to hold all or a part of their allotment for such crops rather than seed all of it to wheat this fall.

The department did not name the substitute crops. It explained, however, that production goals and allotments for other farm crops would be announced later. In areas where wheat produces more feed grain to the acre than other crops, farmers will be encouraged to plant their full allotment.

Eligible for Loans.

Farmers coöperating with the department's program will be eligible for government wheat loans, crop insurance, and maximum benefit payments.

The department said the country would go into the 1943 crop year with a two year supply of wheat, and that 40 million acres next year could produce all the wheat needed for domestic food requirements.

MEXICAN C. OF C. TO HEAR SPEECH BY AMBASSADOR

Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to the United States, will speak July 1 in the Palmer House before the inaugural banquet of the new Mexican Chamber of Commerce of Chicago, officials announced yesterday. Gov. Green and Mayor Kelly also will speak briefly.

Pancho Scanlan, public relations assistant for the National Railways of Mexico, said invitations have been mailed to more than 1,000 Chicagoans with business connections in Mexico.

The organization has headquarters at 201 North Wells street.

NELSON OPPOSES 94 PCT. TAX ON EXCESS PROFITS

Shift in House Units' Views Is Seen.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Members of the house ways and means committee tonight appeared to favor a reversal of their tentative indorsement of a tax of 94 per cent on corporation excess profits.

They took this position after the receipt of a letter from Donald M. Nelson, War Production board chairman, which vigorously disapproved the proposed tax. To Committee Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] Nelson wrote:

"I want to emphasize that I share with your committee the conviction that the war emergency should not yield windfall profits to any member of the community. I am, therefore, in full sympathy with heavy taxation of all incomes in accordance with the principle of ability to pay.

Sees Peril to Economy.

"I question, however, the advisability of a flat tax at the rate of 94 per cent on all corporate profits above the exemption limit. In a situation in which an enterprise is left with only $6 out of $100 of additional profits, the pressure to keep costs down will diminish dangerously.

"Such a tax is likely to result in a reduction of efficiency in the conduct of business and may even endanger the full success of our war production program.

"The opportunity to retain a portion of the savings resulting from greater efficiency has been a most important factor in securing more economical utilization of our scarce materials, facilities, and man power for war production. It is essential that we do not destroy this opportunity.

Hints at 80 Per Cent Top.

"I shall not venture to suggest appropriate rates for an excess profits tax. I am inclined to believe, however, that in order not to endanger efficiency in the production of armaments and essential civilian commodities, the tax should not take more than 80 per cent of additional profits."

Nelson wrote that if a higher rate than 80 per cent is adopted, any amount which exceeds the 80 per cent level should be treated as a postwar credit, preferably in the form of a government obligation with definite maturities. He stated:

"Such a procedure would both preserve the necessary incentive and provide assistance in the postwar reconversion. Insofar as the latter factor is the controling consideration, the credit might be made dependent on the tax payer's showing that corresponding expenditures had been made or were needed to reëstablish peacetime operations.

Urges Exemptions.

"Should the committee retain an excess profits tax considerably in excess of 80 per cent without postwar credit I strongly urge a thoro exploration of possible exemptions designed to encourage, thru preferential tax treatment, increased efficiency in war production and savings in the use of scarce resources.

"If the committee feels that the total amount to be raised by taxation of corporate profits should be maintained at or increased above the level now contemplated, I would urge consideration of ways other than a stepping up of the excess profits tax to 94 per cent. Possibly the least objectionable of these is an increase of the basic rate of tax beyond the level of 40 per cent now contemplated."

Also made public were similar letters of protest against the 94 per cent tax, without a postwar credit, from Matthew Woll, chairman of the American Federation of Labor's committee on taxation, and Francis M. Sullivan, acting director of the national legislative committee of the American Legion.

Cite Britain's Policy.

Both letters referred to the fact that the British government has agreed to refund to corporations, after the war, 20 per cent of the income of these corporations that is now subject to excess profits tax. Woll wrote:

"When this war ends there will be millions of laborers in this country who will need to change from war to peacetime employment and the AFL would like to see something to the British plan included in the tax bill which you are now preparing."

The committee added taxes totaling $408,000,000 to the tax bill's estimated yield. It approved a 5 per cent tax on freight and express transportation by common carrier to bring 300 additional millions. It also approved a 5 per cent ta xon race track parimutuel bets to yield 25 millions.

Members also voted to increase the rate on second class postage to cover the cost of handling periodicals and books with the exception of county-free delivery. This tax will produce $78,000,000, it was stated.

A $10 a year tax on juke boxes, bringing in $5,000,000 a year, will be continued, the committee decided.

Radio-Keith-Orpheum Directors Are Re-elected

Dover, Del., June 17 (AP).—Directors of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, with the exception of President George J. Schaeffer, were reëlected for 1942 at the annual stockholders meeting today after an amendment was adopted reducing the number from 13 to 11. Officials explained the reduction was a formality because there had been two vacancies. Schaeffer announced recently he wanted to retire from the board. The board will meet at a date to be fixed later for reorganization.

New York Utility Asks Relief from New Federal Taxation

New York, June 17 [Special].—The Consolidated Edison Company of New York, the largest operating utility in the country, today joined the list of corporations seeking relief from what they consider the growing "drastic provisions" of pending tax legislation. In a special statement filed with the house ways and means committee in Washington, Consolidated Edison declared that "we are frankly disturbed by what we see for the future of this and similar great and important utility properties."

Tax legislation for corporations covering 1942 is still in the formative stage and numerous hearings have been held by the ways and means committee in an effort to evolve an acceptable and workable tax program for industry as a whole.

Urges Modification.

Consolidated Edison's statement, signed by its chairman, Floyd L. Carlisle, urged a modification of the committee's corporate tax proposals, particularly as applied to the public utility industry. The utility asked the committee to consider the following two principles:

1. That the utility industry should be exempt from further increases in the corporate income taxes.

2. That the utility industry should be exempt from excess profits taxes because of the strict regulation of the rates they may charge, which fact of itself assures that they do not have true excess profits.

The Consolidated Edison system, Carlisle declared, is one of the most heavily taxed in the utility industry. It is the largest tax producer in New York City.

In 1941, taxes paid by the system totaled $62,965,964, or 24 cents out of every dollar of gross revenue. Between 1930 and 1941, the statement declared, the tax burden increased more than 115 per cent, while gross revenues rose less than 10 per cent.

"Higher federal taxes," it was stated, "already have borne heavily on the Consolidated Edison companies.

Dividend Rate Reduced.

"During 1941, the annual dividend rate on the company's common stock, established in 1936 at $2 a share, was cut to $1.60, resulting in a decrease in annual dividend payments of $4,590,611 which very nearly corresponds to the increase in federal taxes of $4,851,836 for 1941 over 1940."

Declaring that utilities are subject to many special taxes not paid by industrial and other unregulated corporations, the statement said that the cut in Edison's dividend had the effect of taxing the individual stockholder at the rate of 20 per cent on dividend income, in addition to his regular tax rate.

North Western to Back Notes by U. S. Bonds

New York, June 17 [Special].—Another solution to the situation caused by the War Production board's seizures or limitations on new rolling stock was proposed to insurance companies and banks here today by Guy A. Thomson, trustee in bankruptcy of the Chicago & North Western railway.

Like several other railroads, the North Western is in the position of having sold equipment trust certificates to finance the purchase of rolling stock and then being informed by the WPB it may receive only a portion of the cars ordered.

Various Plans Proposed.

Some other companies in the same dilemna have altered the indentures of certificates to provide that the proceeds of their sale may be used to buy United States government bonds or else that equipment other than that originally specified may be substituted as collateral behind certificates.

The North Western certificates under negotiation comprise $3,750,000 of 2½s sold last February to defray part of the cost of 500 box cars, 1,000 gondola cars and 250 flat cars to cost 5 million dollars. They were to be repaid in 10 equal instalments beginning next March 15. Much of the specified equipment will not be received as a result of the WPB decree.

Pledge Federal Bonds.

Thomson told the fiduciary institutions today that the La Salle National Bank of Chicago, trustee for the certificates, had agreed that the railroad might deposit with it 5 million dollars of government securities to secure the certificates outstanding on the condition that the securities be sold to provide cash to pay for cars when they were delivered. The $3,750,000 cash derived from the sale of the certificates already on deposit with the trustee would be used to buy a like amount of government securities under this proposal, the balance of $1,250,000 being provided by the railroad.

The La Salle National bank also has agreed that gondola, hopper, flat or box cars of standard make may be substituted for the equipment stipulated in the original indenture if necessary.

Thomson proposed that whenever the railroad pays annual instalments of principal due on the bonds, the trustee shall transfer to the railroad a like amount of the pledged government securities.

Steel Industry Rated 3d Safest in U. S. Last Year

New York, June 17 (AP).—The steel industry, with 7.02 accidents for each million man hours worked last year, was the third safest in the country, the American Iron and Steel institute said today. The industry has advanced to its present rating, exceeded only by tobacco and cement, from 12th place in 1934.

News of Financing

Halsey, Stuart & Co. yesterday was awarded $680,000 of Pere Marquette Railway company 2 per cent equipment trust certificates on its bid of 99.625. It announced the first five maturities had been sold, and that the last five were being reoffered at prices to yield 2 to 2.30 per cent.

Moore McCormack Lines, Inc., announced withdrawal of a registration statement filed with the Securities and Exchange commission March 29, 1941, covering 30,000 shares of 5 per cent, $100 par cumulative preferred stock and 235,000 shares of $1 par common.

SET PUBLIC HEARING ON LITTLE STEEL PAY DISPUTE FOR JUNE 29

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—The War Labor board today fixed June 29 for a public hearing in the dispute between the four "little steel" companies and the CIO United Steelworkers. It set June 25 as the last date for the fact finding panel to submit its report to the board.

The dispute, involving union demands for $1 a day wage increase and union maintenance, was certified to the board in the second week of February. The public hearing is the final step before a decision. About 182,000 employés are affected. The companies are Bethlehem, Republic, and Inland Steel and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

ARMY THREATENS TO VOID ORDERS OF STRUCK PLANT

Maj. H. J. Hocker, in charge of engineering procurement for the Chicago district of the United States army, last night announced that unless the two day strike of 1,000 workers at the Michigan City plant of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company is settled by Monday the army will begin moving necessary parts and tools out Tuesday morning preparatory to having the car contracts completed elsewhere.

Maj. Hocker said the production loss is 27 cars daily for each day the strike continues, and that the loss of the potential tonnage involved "might easily affect the outcome of some important engagement." He said negotiations already are under way to have the work done elsewhere.

A. A. Logmann, plant superintendent, yesterday rejected a union proposal that the plant be reopened and negotiations for higher wages be resumed.

ECCLES ASKS FOR NEW POWER OVER BANK RESERVES

Washington, D. C., June 17 (AP).—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, proposed today that congress give the board authority to change reserve requirements of member banks in central reserve cities [New York and Chicago] without making corresponding revisions for such banks in the 10 other reserve cities.

He told the house banking committee that congress should approve that discretion because prospective heavy withdrawals for tax payments and for financing the war deprived the largest banks of the degree of flexibility that the current war situation demanded.

He also proposed elimination of the prohibition against member banks making loans while their reserves were deficient.

UPHOLD STATES' RIGHT TO KEEP FIDELITY FUNDS

Court Rejects Plea to Reorganize.

Asheville, N. C., June 17 (AP).—The Court of Appeals for the fourth circuit yesterday reversed the United States court for the eastern district of West Virginia and remanded for further proceedings the case of Edgar D. Sims, auditor of the state of West Virginia, and others against the Fidelity Assurance Association of West Virginia.

In effect, court officials said, the decision means that $20,056,680 in securities deposited by Fidelity with 15 states are to be used to pay off liabilities of $23,475,688 incurred by the company in those states. The company engaged, principally, in the sale of annuity contracts.

Reorganization Denied.

Circuit Justices John J. Parker, Morris A. Soper, and Armistead M. Dobie dismissed the company's petition for reorganization under the national bankruptcy act on the ground that the corporation is an insurance corporation and the petition was not filed in good faith.

States in which the company had deposits of securities, their present market value and the company's liabilities in those states included:

Illinois, $3,759,894 in securities and $4,225,790 in liabilities; Indiana, $162,863 and $386,173; Iowa, $45,082 and $34,478; Kansas, $83,337 and $108,784; Kentucky, $86,712 and $92,695; Maryland, $470,806 and $492,552; Missouri, $861,100 and $786,988; Ohio, $509,573 and $2,360,418; Pennsylvania, $232,591 and $4,668,582; Wisconsin, $2,619,399 and $2,342,978.

Local Laws to Rule.

In addition, the company was said to have undeposited securities of $556,467 and approximately $500,000 in cash.

Rights of the contract holders in the 15 states must be determined in each instance by the local statutes, the circuit court ruled.

In addition to Sims, those bringing the suit were: Rose B. Thomas and H. Isaiah Smith, West Virginia state court receivers; the banking commission of Wisconsin; Charles R. Fisher, commissioner of insurance and permanent receiver for the debtor corporation in and for the state of Iowa; John B. Gontrum, insurance commissioner of the state of Maryland; Dewey S. Godfrey, Missouri state court receiver, and L. H. Brooks, trustee, Frederick Leake and A. L. Goldberg Jr., trustee.

Organized in 1911.

The Fidelity Assurance association was incorporated in 1911 with a capital of $100,000 and in 1931 was capitalized at $13,000,000. On Dec. 30, 1940, it had 87,999 contracts outstanding with a face amount of $181,948,026 and cash liability of $23,475,668. Contract holders reside in each of the 48 states, the District of Columbia, and in several foreign countries.

The appeal was from an order of the District court of Jan. 5, 1942, whereby the court approved the petition of Fidelity for reorganization under chapter X of the national bankruptcy act and overruled certain motions to modify or rescind prior orders of the court with respect to the custody, or control of securities deposited by the corporation with officials in the 15 states.

ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT CLIMBS THRUOUT NATION

The nation's electric power production in the week ended June 13 was 3,463,528,000 kilowatt hours, 2.7 per cent above that of the preceding week and 11.7 per cent higher than in the corresponding 1941 period, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. The week to week rise was considered more than seasonal.

The southern states area showed the largest percentage gain over a year ago with 18.8 per cent. The central industrial region was 8.2 per cent higher.

Output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies in the Chicago area during the week was 154,639,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 153,633,000 the preceding week and 145,355,000 last year.

REMINGTON RAND PROFIT LARGER; GETS WAR WORK

Fiscal Year Sales Exceed 77 Million Dollars.

Remington Rand, Inc., yesterday reported consolidated net income of $6,195,414 for the fiscal year ended March 31, equal to $3.08 a share of common stock. This compared with net income of $4,263,249 for the preceding fiscal year, equal to $1.97 a share.

James H. Rand Jr.

In a letter to stockholders, President James H. Rand Jr. said the company had undertaken major contracts for war materials.

"The company's technical and engineering staffs have for some time been almost completely divorced from their normal activities in order to prepare for the conversion to war production," Rand said.

Sales and Taxes Climb.

Sales for the latest fiscal year soared to $77,282,538 from $19,173,260 the year before, but taxes amounted to $9,917,771, compared with $2,744,248 in the preceding year.

A slight decline in profits and a substantial gain in sales volume for the 12 weeks ended June 6 was disclosed by the Masonite corporation, building products manufacturer with offices in Chicago and Laurel, Miss. Profit was $510,215, equal to 88 cents a share, compared with $534,591, or 95 cents a share, in the corresponding 1941 weeks. Sales totaled $3,856,928, against $2,812,650.

In the 40 weeks ended June 6 Masonite earned $1,297,182, equal to $2.18 a share, compared with $1,180,085, or $2.05 a share, a year before.

Westinghouse Net Falls.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Pittsburgh, Pa., reported its earnings in May and the first five months of the year were sharply lower than in the corresponding 1941 periods.

The net income for May was $753,805, compared with $2,093,344 a year before, and for the five months ended May 31 was $5,852,678, equal to $1.82 on combined common and participating preferred shares, compared with $9,998,347, or $3.74 a combined share, in the corresponding 1941 period.

Most of the several utility companies reporting for recent periods announced lower profits than a year ago. Included were Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Detroit Edison company, Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, Louisville Gas and Electric company, Commonwealth and Southern corporation, and Electric Power and Light corporation.

35 CENT EDISON DIVIDEND VOTED, LOWERING RATE

Freeman Cites Rising Tax Burdens.

Directors of the Commonwealth Edison company reduced the dividend on its capital stock yesterday with the declaration of a 35 cent distribution. A quarterly rate of 45 cents had been maintained since Nov. 1, 1939. Two such payments were made this year.

The reduction was expected since at the time of the previous dividend declaration in April, stockholders were told that future dividends would be "reasonably related to the year's earnings." Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of the board, said following the meeting yesterday that the best interests of the company required the reduction "after careful consideration of the effect on the company of the war emergency and particularly the effect of pending futher material increases in federal taxes which undoubtedly will be retroactive to the first of this year."

Earnings Estimated Lower.

Commonwealth Edison's 1942 earnings are estimated at $1.60 a share, compared with the $2.10 earned last year. Like other large utilities, the company has been vulnerable to rising taxes. Several have cut payments as the result of this tax pressure.

The 35 cent declaration was not designated as a quarterly payment, altho it is understood that it is to be considered a regular rate. The former dividend likewise was not termed a quarterly distribution but was paid regularly in each quarter. Yesterday's dividend is payable Aug. 1 to shareholders of record July 3.

The Merchandise National Bank of Chicago voted a $3 quarterly dividend on its capital stock. The Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt corporation authorized a distribution of 10 cents on its capital shares, compared with 15 cents paid in previous quarters.

PRIORITY LAXITY BLAMED IN LOSS OF MANY HOMES

The failure to build more than 700 of Chicago's quota of 3,963 homes for war workers allotted from Sept. 1, 1941, to last March 21 resulted partly from a lack of strict requirements for obtaining building priorities, inquiry among builders disclosed yesterday.

Priorities for materials were granted to builders for the entire housing quota, but the rights on more than 700 units expired without being used, according to a survey by the Federal Housing administration. Builders' applications for priorities are made to the FHA, which makes recommendations for allotments to the War Production board. The WPB makes the final decision on issuing priorities.

Reissuance Being Sought.

Under present rulings the expired rights cannot be reissued to other builders who are anxious to build, altho efforts are being made to obtain such authority from the WPB in Washington, D. C. Chicago builders and realtors have protested that Chicago's full quota, even if completely used, would leave the city far short of its war housing needs.

An illustration of priorities rights that were not exercised is the case of the Midland Development company, 176 West Adams street. The company last fall was allotted priorities for 218 units on ten different projects, but failed to build 144 of them before its rights expired, according to FHA records. [Builders are allowed 120 days to start construction after priorities are granted.]

Sol C. Spiegel, a partner of the concern, said one reason the homes could not be built was that after obtaining priorities for housing materials, it was found that utility services could not be extended to the homes, because of WPB restrictions on utilities extensions.

Financing of Some Denied.

Other homes could not be constructed, Spiegel said, because the FHA found after priorities had been granted that the projects were not eligible for FHA mortgage insurance, and the work could not be financed.

Another builder, who obtained rights to build 20 homes and failed to construct them, said that the priorities expired before the land site could be cleared of taxes and special assessments, so construction was delayed until too late.

J. L. Laycock of the Beverly Realty and Construction corporation, which had priorities for 18 units, said construction was stymied because the FHA did not approve the mortgage insurance for financing the project until two days after the priorities had expired.

Priorities Rules Tightened.

Gael Sullivan, state director of the FHA said that requirements for obtaining housing priorities have been tightened since Jan. 1. All applications are now checked to determine the character and capacity of the builder, whether he has a clear right to build on the land, whether utilities can be built to the proposed homes under WPB rulings and other factors.

Edmund H. Eitel, priorities head of the WPB in Chicago, conceded that some few builders may have received too many permits in the early stages of the program.
